Has your teenage son or daughter experimented with marijuana?
Are you sure?

Three of ten junior and senior high school students are smoking pot, taking pills, codeine and glue these days and those in Ulster County are no exception.

The marijuana menace has managed to infiltrate the J. Watson Bailey School population. Students at Saugerties have been arrested for sale and possession of drugs as have youngsters in New Paltz, Ellenville and many other areas of the county.

Dr. Theodore Grenda, superintendent of Rondout Valley Schools estimates 10 to 15 boys and girls in his area are using marijuana.

Weekend Parties

Weekend pot parties are carried on in Hurley, High Falls, Woodstock and Kingston, according to law enforcement agencies.

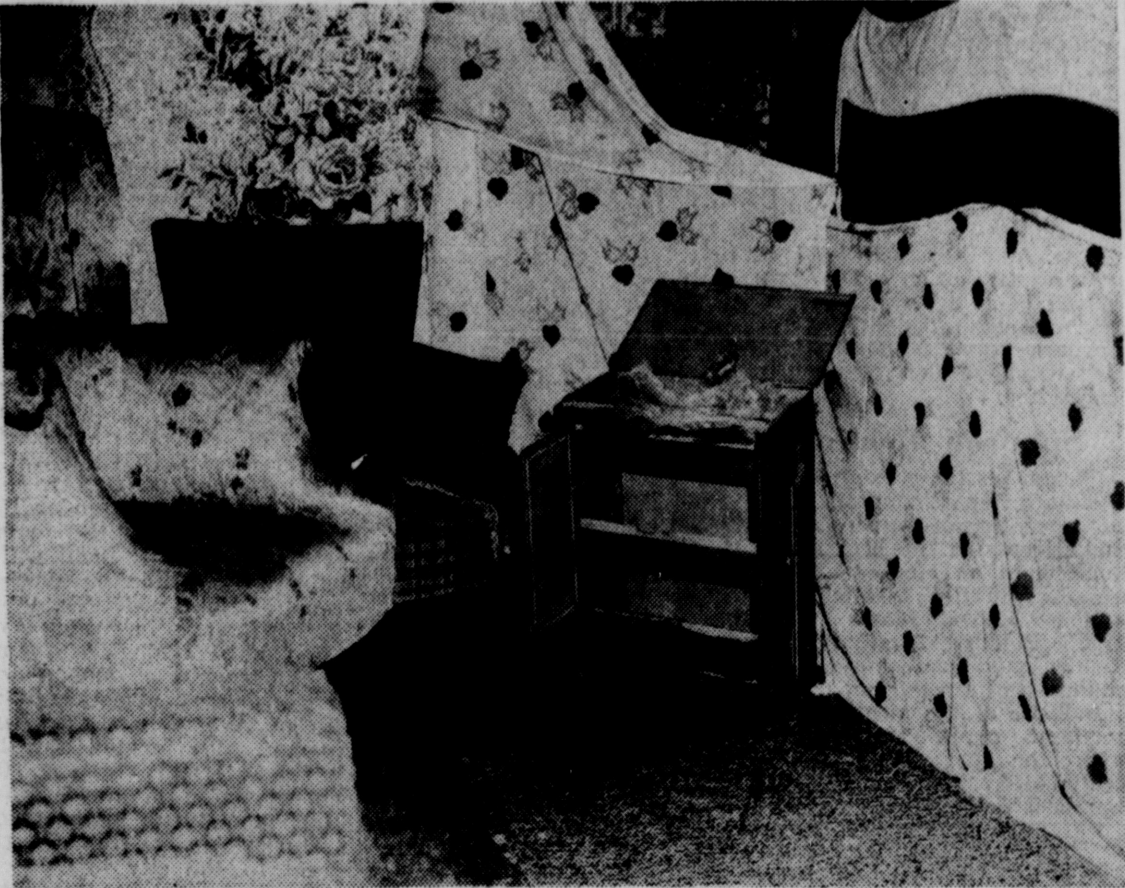

The police know it, the educators know it, the kids know it. The question is, do the parents fully realize it? Police agencies point out that youngsters can't have pot parties unless they have houses or barns to hold them. They can't carry marijuana, pills or other drugs around with them without occasionally carrying them home. They can't make a "buy" without money.

Today, teenage usage, which scans all socio-economic classes as well as all racial, religious and ethnic groups, is best indicated locally by a look at the police blotter.

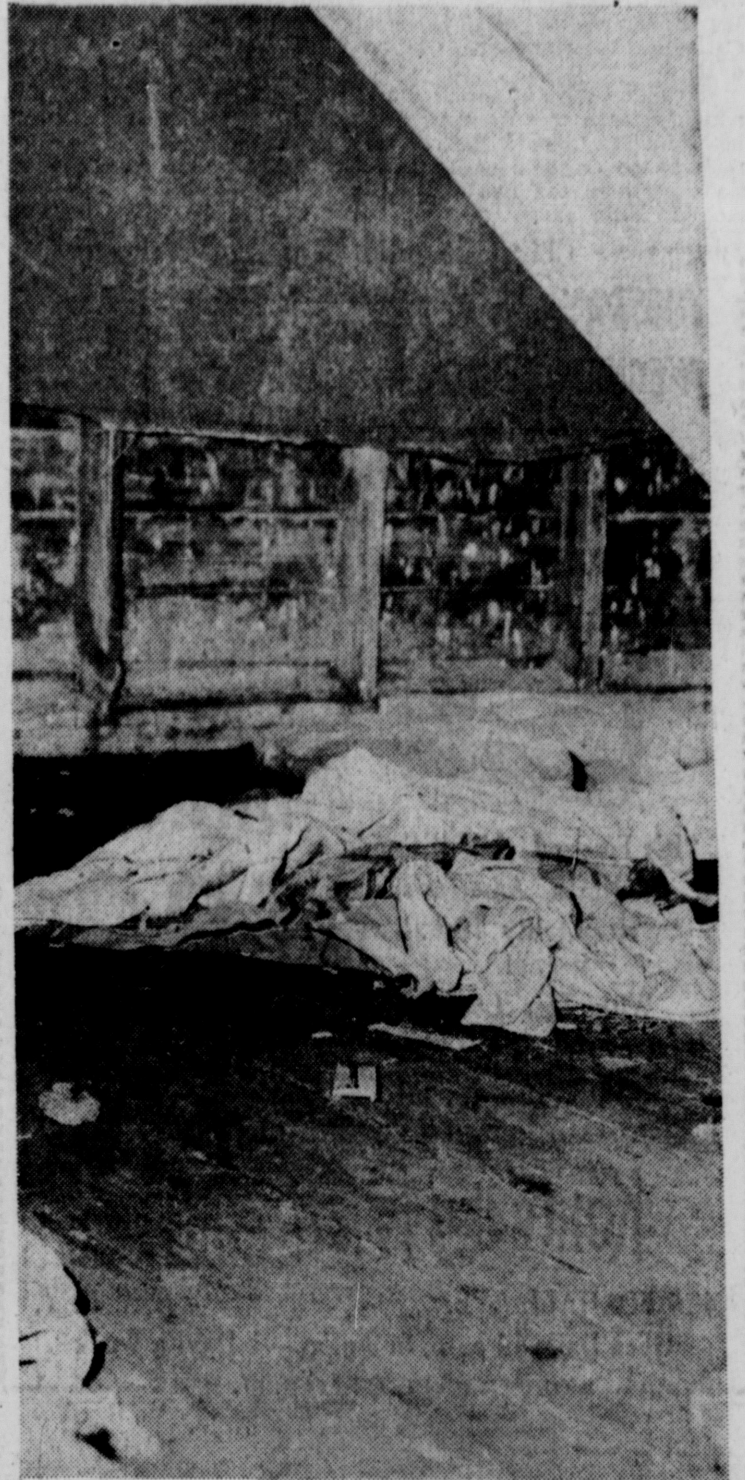

All Ages

Youngsters involved here range from 12 years up although one six-year-old was found seriously occupied with glue-sniffing. In nearby Newburgh, marijuana usage has dipped into the nine-year-old range.

U.S. Ammunition Dump Wrecked by Red Guns

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese infantrymen reported killing 102 enemy troops in a northern frontier battle Sunday but enemy gunners blew up tons of ammunition at a U.S. Navy base just below the eastern end of the demilitarized zone.

A spokesman said South Vietnamese casualties were light in the eight-hour fight with an estimated 600 Communist soldiers, the eighth major encounter since Feb. 29 for government troops below the DMZ. He said the South Vietnamese captured seven suspects and 25 weapons and that their casualties were only three killed and 37 wounded.

Supply Base Blasted
As the men of the 2nd South

Vietnamese Infantry Regiment battled five miles north of Dong Ha, North Vietnamese gunners blasted the American naval supply and repair base at the mouth of the Cua Viet River, 15 miles south of the DMZ.

U.S. spokesmen said casualties at the naval complex were light, but they reported numerous fires and secondary explosions in stockpiles of ammunition and other war materiel.

More artillery rounds, about 200 of them, landed on a South Vietnamese outpost 11 miles below the DMZ, and nearly 40 shells hit a nearby base camp of the U.S. 3rd Marine Division. No casualties or serious damage was reported at the Marine camp, and one soldier was killed at the government outpost.

For the third straight day, the Marines at besieged Khe Sanh received more than 250 rounds of rocket, artillery and mortar fire Sunday. U.S. headquarters said American casualties were light.

The Americans countered with fighter-bomber raids against North Vietnamese gun positions inside the DMZ, and B52 saturation bombing attacks on suspected positions of enemy troops menacing Khe Sanh and Hue. The B52s also struck at enemy positions 12 miles northwest of Dak To, near the Cambodian border, and 25 miles northeast of Saigon.

U.S. spokesmen for the first time reported a Communist truck convoy in the vicinity of Hue. They said American gunship helicopters sighted eight camouflaged trucks 15 miles southwest of Hue last Friday and destroyed all eight with rocket and machine-gun fire. Seven of the trucks were two and a half tonners and one was three quarters of a ton, the spokesmen said.

50,000 Reds

Gen. William C. Westmoreland activated the new military command for South Vietnam's northernmost provinces where the Communist forces along the frontier had grown to five divisions, or about 50,000 troops.

"Their forces are formidable," Westmoreland said. "We intend to confront them."

The Communist leadership considers Thua Thien and Quang Tri provinces part of North Vietnam. I anticipate more very heavy fighting."

Hue Target

Until the February offensive, Khe Sanh had been considered the likeliest target for a big Red drive, but recently one of the top U.S. officers in Vietnam said he now thought Hue would be the next objective.

This idea was echoed today by Lt. Gen. Robert E. Cushman, commander of the U.S. Marines in Vietnam, and Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky.

Cushman who is in over-all command of the five northernmost provinces, said the Communist troops around Khe Sanh "have not felt capable of winning there so they have not attacked. But they have the alternative that they are not going to attack."

Cushman added the enemy also was capable of attacking Hue, but "we can prevent this."

Ky told newsmen in Saigon he expects the next Communist thrusts to be against Hue and Saigon and because of the capital's political significance, "Saigon will be the decisive battle."

"Khe Sanh is not all that important," he said. "Some of the foreign press make it a big thing, but really it is nothing."

Upper Hudson Water Lack

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Snow and water accumulations in New York State this winter are generally normal, except in the upper Hudson and Susquehanna river basins, a federal survey shows.

Survey Coordinator Joseph W. Lalley reported Sunday that a lack of snow had caused an equivalent water deficiency of 120 billion gallons in the upper Hudson Valley and 110 billion gallons in the Susquehanna Valley.

Dean in Lion's Den

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk publicly confronts some of the administration's most vociferous Vietnam policy critics at a Senate Foreign Relations Committee session expected to focus on U. S. troop levels.

Today's hearing comes amid reports President Johnson is considering boosting U. S. military manpower by up to 200,000 more men above the 525,000 already authorized.

Try to Hold Gold Line

LONDON (AP)—The gold rush subsided on the London market today following the announcement by the seven-nation gold pool that it would keep the price at $35 an ounce. But on the Zurich market the initial demand appeared to be only slightly below that of Friday.

One Zurich banker said the gold pools announcement "does not seem to have had the desired effect, as far as we can judge at this time."

Rhodesian Executions

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Rhodesia's white minority government today hanged two more black Africans convicted of murder but reprieved nine blacks who had been sentenced to die before Prime Minister Ian Smith declared independence in late 1965.

Four other blacks had been scheduled to be hanged today, but the government said clemency for them was still under consideration. The execution last week of three blacks convicted of murder set off a worldwide storm of protests.

Fires at Katrine and Varifab

A multiple apartment house on Leggs Mills Road, Lake Katrine, was destroyed by fire and a 10-office building at Varifab, Inc., in High Falls, was ravaged by flames as the result of weekend fires that kept several area volunteer companies active for hours.

Two men narrowly escaped with their lives as they fled from the burning two-story house owned by Mrs. Eula Lachman shortly after 5:30 a. m. today. A dog and pet parakeet perished in the flames that completely burned the house.

Teacher Injured

A Tillson school teacher, volunteer fireman, was injured while assisting at the Varifab blaze which was reported shortly before 8 p. m. Saturday. He was treated at the scene and later at Benedictine Hospital for an eye injury.

Chief William Williams of Ulster Hose company was in command of firefighters who battled the apartment house fire for more than two hours before the blaze was brought under control. When firemen arrived from all Ulster units, the entire front of the frame house was engulfed in flames which were fed by two propane gas tanks attached to the building.

Before the first firemen arrived, two occupants of the house, Robert Ryno and Atma Baweja, had made their way to safety, both apparently suffering from smoke and shock, officials said. The owner of the house was at work, according to firemen.

Three pumpers forced water from hydrants through three 2½-inch hoses and several hoses of smaller size. The flames spread rapidly through the front of the residence and the fire loss at the Varifab, Inc. was estimated between $35,000 and $40,000. Loss records and office equipment were destroyed in the flames, although it was reported some records were salvaged.

Fire Chief Robert Anderson of High Falls, assisted by Deputy Chief Carl Speakman, directed about 100 volunteers from Stone Ridge, Rosendale, Bloomington, Binnewater, Cortekill, Tillson, Kripplibush and Accord. Anderson said the fire evidently had been smoldering for some time before erupting into flames that spread rapidly through the two-story building. Company officials said temporary offices were set up in the main building of the plant which manufactures light electronic equipment. Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. men went to the scene to cut wires and shut off the power to eliminate any danger to the firefighters.

The origin of the blaze was not immediately determined.

Ulster Park Youth Loses Life In Two-Car Headon Collision

By WALTER S. CLARK JR.

A 20-year-old Ulster Park youth was killed and two men were severely injured at 3:15 a. m. Sunday in a grinding two-car headon collision which occurred on Route 9W in Port Ewen.

Stephen F. Premo Jr., was Ulster County's sixth highway fatality of 1968. The sixth traffic death in 1967 was recorded on Feb. 21 after a 53-year-old Saugerties restaurant owner was fatally injured in a car-bus collision on Route 212 in the Town of Woodstock.

Ulster County Coroner Henry S. Hartley reported Premo died of a skull fracture and crushed chest.

Premo was traveling south on Route 9W when his car was in collision with a northbound 1964 Chevrolet W. Murtagh, 25, of 61 East Chester Street, Kingston. Troopers said heavy fog blanketed the area causing poor visibility at the time of the crash.

Benson Vell, 28, of 3 Ridge Street, a passenger in the Premo car was seriously injured. He sustained fractures of both hips, a broken nose and multiple lacerations of the chest. His condition was listed as serious.

Murtagh suffered a fractured nose and other injuries. His condition was satisfactory.

The three men were rushed to Kingston Hospital by Doctor's Ambulance. It was reported that Premo died about an hour after he arrived at the hospital.

Ambulance attendants Richard Mertine and James Sills, with Troopers R. G. Bergin and Town of Shawangunk.

The Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Church, administered the last rites of the Catholic church to Premo.

The fatality was the second to occur in Ulster County this month. The other victim of a traffic fatality was a 28-year-old Brooklyn man who was killed March 3 when his car skidded and hit a utility pole in the Town of Shawangunk.

Scholars to Meet
The Board of Directors of The Saugerties chapter of the Citizens' Scholarship Foundation of America, popularly known as "Dollars For Scholars," met recently at the Town Building, and made plans for the forthcoming campaign.
The Dollars for Scholars program is designed to promote local scholarships for the aid of area High School graduates. The chapter was officially inaugurated at a public hearing held in the Saugerties High School on February 15th, at which time the Board of Directors was selected to serve for varying terms.
The acting chairman of the board of directors is Mrs. Jeffrey Burkle, and those serving on the committee include Robert Levintan, Duane Duvall, Harry Hoffman, Roy Holmquist, John Carnright, William Brinnier, Lloyd Mellander, Mrs. Michael Catalinotto, Mrs. George Pardonner, Joseph Crost and Mat Aaron.
The next meeting of the Association has been scheduled for Thursday evening, March 7th, in the Town Building. The public is invited to participate.

Low Bidder For Water Main Improvements

P.B.S. Construction Company of Saugerties was low bidder for water main improvements in the City on Washington Avenue, Hurley Avenue and Quarry Street.
The Saugerties firm bid $79,010.25 for the work which will begin April 15 and is expected to be completed July 15.
Bids were opened Thursday in the offices of the Kingston Board of Water Commissioners. Other bidders included James Berrill Co. of Kingston ($82,228.50), A. Constanzi Corp., Kingston ($96,760) and Halmer Construction Co. of Mt. Vernon ($109,274).
Work to be done under this contract comprises the installation of new 12-inch water mains in Washington Avenue from North Front Street to Hurley Avenue, in Hurley Avenue from Washington Avenue to Quarry Street, and a section of Quarry Street, between Hurley Avenue and Howland Avenue. Also included in this contract is the cleaning and cement lining of the existing 8-inch and 6-inch water mains in Hurley Avenue from Quarry Street to the city line.
These improvements were given priority by the Pitometer Associates in their 1967 engineering report on the City Water System because of the need for major improvement of fire flows in the vicinity of the new J. Watson Bailey Junior High School on Quarry Street. The rehabilitation of the existing Hurley Avenue mains to the city line will also provide more adequate fire protection and better quality water in the entire street. Provisions have been made in this improvement to provide for future water main changes in this vicinity which will be required by the Uptown Urban Renewal project.

What do you mean when you say "luxury"? Or "performance"? How about "handling" and "ride"?
Here's how Cadillac owners define terms when they talk about the '68.
Ask a Cadillac owner about his car, and you'll usually get an enthusiastic reply.
We've been introducing new Cadillac models for over half a century, but never before has there been such an outpouring of commentary. Here, expressed in their own words, are a few candid comments from '68 owners. For some, it is their first Cadillac—others have had as many as twelve.
Performance. "The thing I've noticed the most is the performance—the spirit with which it picks up and goes." "I think this new power plant has done a remarkable job."
That owner is referring to the totally new 472 V-8 in all Cadillacs this year. It's the largest production V-8 engine in any passenger car.
"We've driven Cadillacs for quite a few years, and I'm impressed with the new motor. It's a lot more powerful and it's got better pickup." "The big engine that they have in this car... if you want to get out and move, you can get out and move!"
Luxury and comfort. "Well, they sure came up with some nice leather this year... some beautiful leather inside. I love this antique saddle leather." "The seat is thicker than my couches at home." "The interior finish is a quality finish. The upholstery and the instrument panel give you the general surroundings of luxury."
"There's no comparison as far as comfort is concerned... you can get into this six-way seat and put it into any position you want to... you just relax." "...the sense of security in driving this machine in such comfort lends to its being a luxury car."

Handling. "You seem to have a better command of the road. I thought I would have greater difficulty, but there's no problem at all. I feel more sure driving this car than a smaller car." (You guessed right—that one's from a woman.) "Excellent on long trips—no wind effect, side to side."
Ride. "It's a very quiet automobile. When you're driving in it, regardless of speed, it's very comfortable to ride in, and on long trips the absence of noise makes the trip a lot more pleasant." "It's just like silk." "I think it's wonderful. It's comfort—solid comfort. It's just like you're sitting in an easy chair. You can drive it all day, and not give out. You're not fighting it!"
Value. "The performance... the mechanical part of it. I don't know much about the mechanics of things. They either work, or they don't work. I find that with a Cadillac I have fewer problems to think about. It just goes, and performs the way I would expect it to."

Reasons for buying. "The name, for one thing, because it is a Cadillac. To me, it is the car." "Once you've driven it, you're spoiled."
Do you speak as enthusiastically about the car you drive? If not, you owe it to yourself to find out why the 1968 Cadillac has won acclaim from so many people. Your authorized Cadillac dealer will be happy to assist you in this pleasant discovery.
One man, commenting on his first Cadillac, summed it up this way: "I should have had one a long time ago."
Maybe that will be your reaction, too.

Youth Concert Slated For Sunday, March 24

Featuring the Hudson Valley Philharmonic under the baton of Claude Monteaux, Concertaid, Inc., will present another Youth Concert Sunday, March 24 at 2 p.m. in the Saugerties High School auditorium.

The one-hour program for the Youth Concert will consist of The William Tell Overture by Rossini and Pictures at an Exhibition by Modeste Mussorgsky, orchestrated by Maurice Ravel.

Concertaid, Inc., an organization of citizens interested in presenting cultural programs in the Saugerties area, has previously sponsored performances of Hansel and Gretel and Fun and Wit in Music by the Hudson Valley Philharmonic.

Proceeds from such performances are used to underwrite the cost of feature educational music programs in the Saugerties elementary schools. In recent years Saugerties youngsters have enjoyed performances by the Lark Woodwind Quintet, the American Brass Quintet, and the Empire Percussion Quartet.

Concertaid hopes to further expand its activities this year by awarding a $50 scholarship to an outstanding member of the music program at Saugerties High School.

A Concertaid spokesman, Beatrice Bright, indicated that ticket prices for the Youth Concert have been kept low by an excellent advance subscription of patron tickets, and Concertaid is hoping that many parents will take advantage of the continued low admission cost for the excellent program.

Dimes Contributions

The Mothers March of Dimes conducted by Lamouree Hackett Unit 72, American Legion Auxiliary of Saugerties, realized $1,271.51, according to Catherine Van Gasbeck, publicity chairman, who expressed the unit's appreciation to the public and canvassers for their support.

The Auxiliary will hold its monthly meeting Thursday, March 14 at 8 p.m. at the Legion Home on John Street. Barbara Grace and Charlotte Bell comprise the refreshment committee.

Sponsor Meeting

Saugerties Junior High School Guidance Department will sponsor a meeting of eighth graders and parents in the high school auditorium on Monday, March 18, at 7:30 p.m. Participating will be Robert Moser, junior high principal, and Richard Redder, guidance counselor and chairman of the session.

Purpose of the meeting is to acquaint pupils and parents with the program offerings available in high school, with emphasis on the ninth grade.

Instruction Set Monday For Rebekahs

Judith Martin, district deputy president of Ulster District, assisted by Anna Minkler, deputy marshal, installed Marie Gundersen as Right Supporter of the Chaplain, at the recent meeting of Queen Ulster Rebekah Lodge 34 held in Odd Fellows Temple.

Hannah Lewis was elected delegate and Anna Minkler, proxy, for the Rebekah Assembly Session in Syracuse May 20 to May 23.

All Rebekahs are invited to attend a school of instruction in Odd Fellows Temple, Saugerties, on March 16 at 2 p.m. Lucy B. Munger, past president of the Rebekah Assembly of the State of New York, will conduct the school as state instructor.

Annual meeting of Ulster District will be held Saturday, April 6 at 2:30 p.m. in the Temple.

The Past Noble Grand of the lodge will be honored and Secret Pals revealed at a meeting of Queen Ulster March 19, when the birthday anniversary of Schuyler Colfax, founder of the Rebekah degree, will be observed.

Fire Auxiliary Elects Officers

Officers of the Centerville Fire Co. Auxiliary recently elected were: Helen Walbruehl, president; Mary Lou Wroland, first vice president; Barbara Brennan, second vice president; Evelyn Sherwood, secretary; Margaret Marburger, treasurer. Trustees are: Patricia Ricks, three years; Madeline Snyder, two years; Hilda Houtman, one year.

Plans have been finalized for the annual banquet Tuesday night, March 26 at the Flamingo. Reservations should be made with Mrs. Snyder or Mrs. Gladys Myer.

The Auxiliary will serve at the annual dinner of the Saugerties Dartball League at Centerville Fire Hall in April. Mrs. Dorothy Imhoff and Mrs. Mary Wittenbecker are new members of the Auxiliary.

Scholars to Meet

The Board of Directors of The Saugerties chapter of the Citizens' Scholarship Foundation of America, popularly known as "Dollars For Scholars," met recently at the Town Building, and made plans for the forthcoming campaign.

The Dollars for Scholars program is designed to promote local scholarships for the aid of area High School graduates. The chapter was officially inaugurated at a public hearing held in the Saugerties High School on February 15th, at which time the Board of Directors was selected to serve for varying terms.

The acting chairman of the board of directors is Mrs. Jeffrey Buhle, and those serving on the committee include Robert Levintan, Dwayne Duvall, Harry Hoffman, Roy Holmquist, John Carnright, William Brinnier, Lloyd Mellander, Mrs. Michael Catalinotto, Mrs. George Pardonner, Joseph Crost and Mat Aaron.

The next meeting of the Association has been scheduled for Thursday evening, March 7th, in the Town Building. The public is invited to participate.

Low Bidder For Water Main Improvements

P.B.S. Construction Company of Saugerties was low bidder for water main improvements in the City on Washington Avenue, Hurley Avenue and Quarry Street.

The Saugerties firm bid $79,010.25 for the work which will begin April 15 and is expected to be completed July 15.

Bids were opened Thursday in the offices of the Kingston Board of Water Commissioners. Other bidders included James Berardi Co. of Kingston ($82,228.50), A. Constanzi Corp. of Kingston ($86,760) and Halmer Construction Co. of Mt. Vernon ($109,274).

Work to be done under this contract comprises the installation of new 12-inch water mains in Washington Avenue from North Front Street to Hurley Avenue, in Hurley Avenue from Washington Avenue to Quarry Street and a section of Quarry Street, between Hurley Avenue and Howland Avenue. Also included in this contract is the cleaning and cement lining of the existing 8-inch and 6-inch water mains in Hurley Avenue from Quarry Street to the city line.

These improvements were given priority by the Potomac Associates in their 1967 engineering report on the City Water System because of the need for major improvement of fire flows in the vicinity of the new J. Watson Bailey Junior High School on Quarry Street. The rehabilitation of the existing Hurley Avenue mains to the city line will also provide more adequate fire protection and better quality water in the entire street. Provisions have been made in this improvement to provide for future water main changes in this vicinity which will be required by the Uptown Urban Renewal project.

St. Joseph's

In celebration of Washington's Birthday, Troop 3, sponsored by St. Joseph's Church held a combination court of honor and parents' night. The American Eagle Patrol used the theme of Washington for the opening and closing ceremonies.

At the court of honor, Scouts Michael Diacove, Chris Hogan and Joseph Gardiner were invested into the troop and received their Tenderfoot Scout Badges. Second class awards were made to Robert Cooke, Michael Tucker and William Weishaupt.

With the increase in membership in Troop 3 over the past few weeks, it was necessary to start a third patrol and James Cranston and William Weishaupt were named patrol leader and assistant, respectively.

During the meeting, the annual roll call and inspection by the Rip Van Winkle Council was held under the direction of Robert Beckman, District Scout Executive.

Future plans for Troop 3 include a four day trip to Washington, D. C. during the Easter vacation, participation in the Scout Spectacular on March 30.

Boys 11 years of age or older, interested in becoming a member of Troop 3 may attend the regular troop meetings on Thursday nights in the new building of St. Joseph's School at 7 p.m.

Medicaid Slashing Headed for Approval

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—The Republican plan for a deep, $302-million slash in Medicaid benefits was headed for Assembly approval today — unless GOP leaders themselves stepped in.

The only Democrat who might be able to block the move said he would not lift a finger to prevent the Republicans from taking action more drastic than he believed they ever intended.

"If the Republicans want to destroy Medicaid, let them take the blame," Speaker Anthony J. Travia told The Associated Press.

Travia said the Senate-approved Medicaid bill obviously had been drafted and passed to establish a bargaining position — that the GOP had assumed it would have to compromise downward.

Now, he continued, after demanding a floor vote on the two measures, the Republicans find that if they do so the bills probably will be passed.

"They don't know what to do," he said. "I know Governor Rockefeller's angry about it. He doesn't want those bills sent to him—he might have to sign them."

Travia said he assumed that Rockefeller would intervene and ask Republican legislative leaders to scale down the cut-back or that the leaders would do it on their own. In any event, he said he would not do it for them.

"If I start tinkering with the bills, they'll become my bills—and I want no part of them," he asserted.

The Medicaid problem occupied the Capitol spotlight as the legislature assembled to begin another work week.

There was no other major legislation on either the Senate or Assembly calendars.

Off the floor, however, legislative leaders began serious discussions with their staffs on possible economy cuts in Rockefeller's proposed $5.5-billion Budget. They would like to reach decisions in time to pass a budget by the April 1 start of the new fiscal year.

The Medicaid bills were drawn by the Senate's GOP majority in response to complaints from numerous upstate communities that the program is draining local tax resources.

Upstate Democrats, sensitive to the same complaints in this election year, told Travia last week that they would have to vote with the Republicans if the issue came to a head.

Travia, who had been trying to preserve the program, responded by reluctantly ordering the bills to the Assembly floor for a showdown vote.

An informal nose count indicates Duryea will have 78 votes — 68 Republicans and 10 Democrats. This would be two more than the 76 required for passage.

The bills would eliminate an estimated 1.5 million potential beneficiaries from the program by scaling down the income-eligibility standard and by denying virtually all benefits to persons aged 21 through 64.

The effect would be to cut the state-local government share of the cost just about in half during the coming fiscal year. The federal government also pays a third.

Rockefeller, who had espoused the program only two years before, had recommended a more modest reduction of $208 million. He was said to be irritated by the turn of events.

Passage of Rights Bill Seems Certain in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Leaders, apparently assured they face no last-ditch Southern filibuster, are pushing for a quick, final vote on landmark civil rights legislation.

An overwhelming 61-19 vote Friday on the bill with its controversial open-housing provision cleared the way for final action today.

Indicating he has been promised that Southern opponents plan no further filibuster, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield scheduled prompt action on long-delayed money and Senate ethics proposals.

Senate action on a pressing supplemental appropriation that includes welfare funds for states was scheduled later today.

Mansfield said he expected consideration of ethics recommendations to big Tuesday.

Senate approval would return the civil rights bill to the House, which passed it last August as a limited measure dealing only with protection of minority groups' constitutional rights.

The Senate has added amendments that would eventually bar discrimination in 80 per cent of the nation's housing and extend Bill of Rights protection to American Indians.

It also wrote in an antiriot provision similar to a separate bill passed by the House last year.

House leaders said they hoped to bring the Senate version directly to the floor rather than send it to a House-Senate conference committee where it could become embroiled in a further stalemate.

The House could vote only to accept or reject the entire package if it were brought directly to the floor and leaders reportedly hope support of other provisions will outweigh opposition to the open-housing feature.

The House passed the limited housing measure in 1966 but many of its supporters were defeated in the election that year.

The way for Senate enactment of the measure was cleared last Monday after seven weeks of debate and maneuvering when a 65-32 vote succeeded in shutting off debate on the fourth try.

The 19 opponents Friday included 15 Southern Democrats, two Southern Republicans and Sens. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., and John J. Williams, R-Del.

The bill's major provisions would:

— Gradually prohibit discrimination in the sale or rental of housing. By Jan. 1, 1970, it would affect all multi-unit dwellings except owner-occupied buildings with four or fewer units—and all single-family houses sold through brokers.

— Establish federal criminal penalties for interfering by force or threats with the right to vote, serve on juries, use public accommodations, attend public schools or engage in other specifically protected activities.

— Make it a federal crime to cross a state line with intent to incite a riot or to obstruct firemen or policemen engaged in suppressing a riot—or to make, transport in interstate commerce or teach how to make and use firearms, explosives and incendiary devices in riots.

— Extend to American Indians the protections of the Bill of Rights. Passed unanimously by the Senate last year, this portion has been stalled in the House Judiciary Committee.

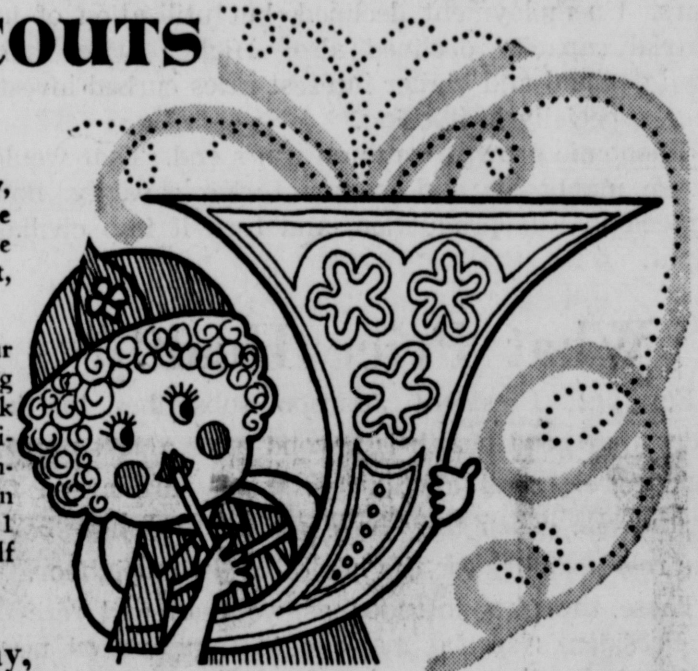

Phoenicia became a frontier province of Egypt in the 1400's B. C. and remained so for about 100 years.

Passage of Rights Bill Seems Certain in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Leaders, apparently assured they face no last-ditch Southern filibuster, are pushing for a quick, final vote on landmark civil rights legislation.

An overwhelming 61-19 vote Friday on the bill with its controversial open-housing provision cleared the way for final action today.

Indicating he has been promised that Southern opponents plan no further filibuster, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield scheduled prompt action on long-delayed money and Senate ethics proposals.

Senate action on a pressing supplemental appropriation that includes welfare funds for states was scheduled later today. Mansfield said he expected consideration of ethics recommendations to big Tuesday.

Senate approval would return the civil rights bill to the House, which passed it last August as a limited measure dealing only with protection of minority groups' constitutional rights.

The Senate has added amendments that would eventually ban discrimination in 80 per cent of the nation's housing and extend Bill of Rights protection to American Indians.

It also wrote in an antiriot provision similar to a separate bill passed by the House last year.

House leaders said they hoped to bring the Senate version directly to the floor rather than send it to a House-Senate conference committee where it could become embroiled in a further stalemate.

The House could vote only to accept or reject the entire package if it were brought directly to the floor and leaders reportedly hope support of other provisions will outweigh opposition to the open-housing feature.

The House passed a more limited housing measure in 1966 but many of its supporters were defeated in the election that year.

The 19 opponents Friday included 15 Southern Democrats, two Southern Republicans and Sens. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., and John J. Williams, R-Del.

The bill's major provisions would:

— Gradually prohibit discrimination in the sale or rental of housing. By Jan. 1, 1970, it would affect all multi-unit dwellings except owner-occupied buildings with four or fewer units—and all single-family houses sold through brokers.

— Establish federal criminal penalties for interfering by force or threats with the right to vote, serve on juries, use public accommodations, attend public schools or engage in other specifically protected activities.

— Make it a federal crime to cross a state line with intent to incite a riot or to obstruct firemen or policemen engaged in suppressing a riot—or to make, transport or use firearms, explosives and incendiary devices in riots.

— Extend to American Indians the protections of the Bill of Rights. Passed unanimously by the Senate last year, this portion has been stalled in the House Judiciary Committee.

Phoenicia became a frontier province of Egypt in the 1400's B. C. and remained so for about 100 years.

Get the Country Moving

Economic growth has slowed. It averaged less than three per cent a year in the 1952-1960 Eisenhower years. From 1962 through 1966 it averaged almost six per cent. Last year, it fell to 2.6 per cent.

The drop in the economic growth last year has already created a paradox. It is moving Republicans to adopt the slogan on which John F. Kennedy ran successfully, "Let's get the country moving again."

President Johnson boasted in his recent economic report that the economic growth of the first five Kennedy-Johnson years added $340 billion to the national output that otherwise would not have been produced. He said that the average remained at the Eisenhower level, output today would be $120 billion lower, about $1,600 a year per person.

However, people's memories are short. They are more apt to remember the fall in growth last year than the low level of growth eight years ago. Especially as last year's gain was recorded largely in the service industries, wholesale and retail trade and government wages on all levels.

The war economy is affecting growth. Industrial production rose only 1.7 per cent last year compared to an average of seven per cent over the previous five years. Unemployment declined, but utilization of industrial capacity declined also. Higher prices held down demand and higher interest rates curbed investment, especially in housing.

Economic growth waits on war's end. That would release manpower and manufacturing capacity, now engaged in war production, and turn it into civilian output.

What Price Health?

For one, President Johnson subscribes to the theory that good health is beyond price. Most people would agree, until as taxpayers they are asked to pay the bill. Then they have second thoughts about their responsibility for the health of their neighbor.

These thoughts intruded as we read and reread the President's special message to Congress on new health goals. An open-minded reading cannot help but agree that the goals are admirable. The question is, can we attain them any other way? Are they necessary in wartime? Can the cost be justified when so much cries to be done to bring the fighting men back home?

The message recalled the increase in federal spending for health in Johnson's elective term—from $6 billion in fiscal 1965 to nearly $14 billion in the current fiscal year ending June 30 next. And it asked for spending to increase to nearly $16 billion for fiscal 1969 beginning July 1.

The message pointed out that the nation spends a total of $50 billion a year for health—by private as well as Federal, state and local agencies—and that unless the cost spiral for medical care is stopped, the nation's health bill could reach a staggering $100 billion by 1975. The cost of providing medical care to a family then could double.

Well, the federal cost has more than doubled in four years. Shouldn't the federal government set an example in cutting these costs? After all, it sets the pace. It should make the economies, not expand the cost.

Juvenile Jury Trial

Thirty years ago, the U.S. Juvenile Delinquency Act provided that a minor who faces Federal criminal charges automatically waives his right to a jury trial. Were he to demand a jury trial, he would be tried as an adult. The charge would become a felony, not a misdemeanor.

Congress sought by this act to rehabilitate youths. A youth could not be committed upon conviction to a term exceeding that given to an adult in a similar case and could not be held beyond his minority. Best of all, he would not be considered a criminal and he would not lose his civil rights as he would if convicted as a felon.

When a 16-year-old boy was charged with violating the Federal marijuana laws in New York, his attorney Theodore Krieger, demanded a trial by jury, but requested a three-judge panel to pass on the constitutionality of the Act.

U.S. Judge Harold R. Tyler Jr. found the part of the act that says requesting a jury subjects the juvenile to trial as an adult unconstitutional because it deprives him of his rights under the Sixth Amendment. Tyler held that it penalizes the defendant and makes very nearly prohibitive a choice of a jury trial.

If this judgment is upheld, juveniles will be able to get jury trials without being treated as felons. They will still get a second chance to escape a life of crime.

David Lawrence Says

U.S., Soviet, Red China Must Agree to Terms

WASHINGTON — Can the Vietnam war be ended this year? The answer doesn't depend on how many more troops are sent or on what the outcome of the American election may be. It is directly related to Soviet government policy toward Vietnam, as well as the readiness of the United States government to enter into a diplomatic negotiation with Moscow about the issues.

If the President of the United States arranged to meet with the Soviet Premier somewhere in Europe—possibly in Switzerland—and the foreign secretaries of each government and a staff of advisers were to attend a conference called for the purpose of settling the Vietnam war, a movement toward a joint presentation of peace terms to the North and South Vietnamese governments could get under way in a few weeks. A settlement could be reached not long afterwards.

The key to the success of such a project does not rest altogether with the Hanoi government. An agreement is dependent primarily on the kind of plan America can present for the rehabilitation and development not only of Vietnam but other Asian countries.

If the United States were to save at least 20 billion dollars a year by a cessation of the fighting in Vietnam, the use of even a portion of that sum for economic and sociological purposes in Southeast Asia would be much less of a burden than the continuance of a war budget of present proportions.

What would Russia get out of such a settlement? This is the most delicate phase of all. But it is no secret that the Kremlin is anxious to improve its relations with the United States. Also the six billion dollars a year now being spent by the Soviet Union to help North Vietnam could be used for the economic improvement of its own people.

A peace conference that opened the way for a better relationship between the East and West would mean a great deal to the Soviet Union. The Soviet people are anxious to have all threats of war removed and to see their government get started on a constructive program to raise living standards.

One factor that has to be considered is the way to bring Red China into conference on Vietnam issue. Certainly the Peking regime is spending money and sending each year large shipments of war supplies to North Vietnam. This is expensive, and the people of Red China have no assurance that the expenditures will in the long run result in any lasting benefit to them.

Diplomacy has ways of taking up delicate matters of international friction and bringing them to the peace table. Certainly the Vietnam War gives every indication of being prolonged for many years unless some agreement can be reached by the Soviets, the Americans and the Red Chinese.

Diplomacy has ways of taking up delicate matters of international friction and bringing them to the peace table. Certainly the Vietnam War gives every indication of being prolonged for many years unless some agreement can be reached by the Soviets, the Americans and the Red Chinese.

One thing has been made plain but is essential to the initiation of a peace conference. It is that the United States is committed to an indefinite stay in Vietnam notwithstanding the voices of dissent at home which have raised false hopes of an American withdrawal either under the Johnson administration or a new president. If the Soviets became convinced that no such retreat is likely, they would probably be glad to find a method of extracting themselves from the Vietnam dilemma and building a new bridge between the United States and the Soviet Union.

The Kremlin has repeatedly proclaimed its desire to advance the cause of world peace. The Soviet government would find it difficult to turn down a bid for a joint conference dealing not just with the Vietnam problem but also with the future relations of the Soviet Union and the United States.

Peace has again been preserved through the channels of international diplomacy. This cannot, however, be accomplished by public statements that intensify hostile feelings. The issues must be presented privately before hand through knowledgeable and tactful diplomats in unpublicized meetings. If this does not succeed, the United States can reveal the nature of its efforts and hope for world opinion to be mobilized behind future steps to achieve the objectives of the peace plan.

Drew Pearson Says LBJ Seems Strangely Cool To Board's Racial Report

WASHINGTON—It's ironic that the President, who has done more for race relations than any President since Abraham Lincoln, is not enthusiastic over the penetrating report of his own commission on race relations.

Having picked a blue ribbon panel of ten dedicated men and one woman, who spent seven months studying last summer's race riots, President Johnson let a whole week go by before giving a guarded comment on his report. Meanwhile, his Vice President had differed with it, his Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, Robert Weaver, a Negro, who should have been delighted with it, said its housing goal was "highly improbable," and newsmen who take their cues from the White House were blasting it as likely to increase race riots.

Reason for this dousing of lukewarm water over the most courageous government report in the last decade was the war in Vietnam plus Congress. Money cannot go to the Vietnam war and the race war at the same time.

Chairman Wilbur Mills, the Arkansas tax czar who reigns supreme over the Ways and Means Committee, has given the President an ultimatum—in which the Dixiecrat-Republican coalition has joined like a Roman phalanx—that there will be no tax increase until domestic spending is drastically cut.

Completely ignoring this, the President was a little startled when his own carefully selected commission on racial disorders came out with a dire warning that we will have to spend about as much at home as we are in Vietnam or else experience guerrilla fighting here as well as in Saigon, and end up another South Africa, divided, separate and unequal.

Sen. Brooke—Absentee Furthermore, the makeup of the commission, ranging from the Democratic governor of Illinois, Otto Kerner, to the liberal Republican mayor of New York, John Lindsay, to a Southern police chief, Herbert Jenkins of Atlanta, makes the warning impossible to ignore.

The report was unanimous. However, the three above mentioned members were among the strongest forthright no-holds-barred warning to the nation. Police Chief Jenkins of Atlanta was just as vigorous as the mayor of the nation's biggest city. So was Sen. Fred Harris, a moderate Democrat for Oklahoma, a Southwest state with a big Negro population.

Significantly, the commission member who paid least attention to the deliberations, and had an inexcusable attendance record, was the first Negro to be elected to the Senate in 100 years—Edward Brooke, the Massachusetts Republican. He concurred with the findings, but was not around much to draft them.

Another who had a spotty attendance record was I. W. Abel, president of the United Steel Workers, but he was also a delegate to the United Nations in New York, and had a hard time attending both. He was somewhat conservative about the report, due no doubt to his Slav and Italian steelworkers in Pittsburgh, Youngstown and Gary, who are anti-Negro. However, he went along with the report.

The only real holdout—though he also signed—was Charles B. Thornton, an old Texas friend of LBJ's. It was significant that the first cold water poured on the report came from another Texan, the President's good friend, Rep. George Mahon, of Lubbock, Tex., who also is worried about cutting domestic spending in order to meet Wilbur Mills's ultimatum and get a tax increase.

Thornton, as head of the far-flung Litton Industries, had a somewhat embarrassing conflict between money for war and money for big cities. He is chairman of an industrial complex which includes Aero Service, Airtron, Inc., Clifton Precision, Ingalls Shipbuilding, Kester Solder Co., Kimball Systems, Litton Precision Products, Monroe Calculating Machine, and Profrax.

He even has a contract with the military dictatorship of Greece to bring industry to Greece on a 10 per cent commission basis.

Litton's Industrial complex drew down $180,100,000 for the taxpayers in defense contracts during fiscal 1967, plus another $18,396,000 in research grants.

Although voicing objections during the commission sessions, Thornton finally went along with its vigorous warning to the nation. Since publication, however, he's been talking to friends privately, including his friend LBJ.

The position of the President is that you can't push Congress too hard and too suddenly. He's having enough trouble with his present program.

"If you're going to drink whiskey," he says, "drink a little at a time and you can drink all night. If you drink the whole bottle right away you'll throw it up."

It's the same way with Congress, says the President, who served there a quarter of a century. "You've got to feed them legislation in easy doses."

Merry-Go-Round

It's been a case of David and Goliath in Capitol Hill's tackling of the giant drug industry. The research and digging which have gone into the Chloromycin exposure has been done by only two members of the Senate Small Business Committee—Ben Gordon and Susan Human. They have taken on the powerful Parke, Davis Drug Company, which is still selling millions of Chloromycin pills despite deaths from mal-prescriptions.

Earl Warren Jr., a municipal court judge in Sacramento, is chairman of the National Mental Health Association. When he couldn't attend the big gala mental health dinner in Washington, his father, the Chief Justice of the United States, took his place.

Backers in South Dakota Beating Drums for Rocky

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—A group of responsible pro-Rockefeller South Dakota Republicans, including some state legislators, plans to enter a full slate of 14 Rockefeller delegates in the June 4 South Dakota primary against a blue-ribbon Nixon slate.

If the move is carried out, and South Dakota sources today say the prospect is very strong, it could be of major significance for the 1968 GOP presidential nomination struggle.

One week earlier, on May 28, pro-Rockefeller forces in Oregon presumably have pitted the New York governor (on a write-in basis) against Richard Nixon and California Gov. Ronald Reagan in that state's important primary.

Though the indications are necessarily fuzzy at this stage, it is at least conceivable Rockefeller could win in Oregon even though he does not plan to allow his name on the ballot. And he is very far from a long shot in South Dakota.

The Oregon and South Dakota primaries represent two of the six Nixon has entered in his effort to shed his "loser" image. If he breezes through New Hampshire, Wisconsin, Indiana and Nebraska and yet falters in Oregon and South Dakota at the very end, the effect could be devastating.

In June and July, 16 GOP state conventions will meet to elect 310 of the 1,333 delegates going to Miami Beach for the 1968 Republican convention. In all but one instance (Mississippi on June 1), these gatherings will occur after the June 4 South Dakota primary.

On June 11, the 58 Illinois delegates will be chosen in a primary which is purely advisory at the presidential preference level. Seventeen days later, the chosen 58 and others will meet to consider 1968 prospects.

Under 1967 revisions, delegates running pledged to a candidate in South Dakota's primary do not need the candidate's consent. So Rockefeller cannot bar this effort if his supporters there are determined to go ahead. Gov. Nils Boe is among those who believe they will file their slate as required by April 20.

Nixon's slate, not surprisingly, will have much of the cream of the South Dakota Republican crop—including Sen. Karl Mundt and former Gov. Archie Gubbrud. Their natural advantages in any real test would seem to be immense.

But the matter may not be that simple for the Nixon forces.

In 1964, an all-out Barry Goldwater slate lost 2 to 1 to an unpledged slate favored by the party leaders (who in the end voted for Goldwater anyway). In 1952, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower lost to the late Sen. Robert A. Taft by less than 1,000 votes in a bitterly fought South Dakota primary featuring a nasty whispering campaign against the general (he was portrayed to German-Americans as the despoiler of Germany in World War II).

On Feb. 21 of this year, The Sioux Falls Argus-Leader in a statewide poll showed Rockefeller beating Lyndon Johnson 56 to 25 while Nixon edges him 51 to 34. A December poll had Rocky over LBJ 58 to 32 and Nixon leading the President 52 to 36.

These tests obviously include Democratic voters who could not take part in South Dakota's Republican primary. But Nixon's hawkish views on Vietnam, if matched against possibly more flexible Rockefeller positions, might handicap Nixon among Republican voters.

As partial evidence, Sen. George McGovern, a Democratic "dove" often presumed to be "in trouble" on Vietnam, is shown in the Argus-Leader poll to be beating Boe 70 to 24 and Gubbrud 70 to 27 in trial heats for the 1968 U.S. Senate race. McGovern obviously is getting Republicans in droves.

Urban Renewal

Editor, The Freeman
I should like to commend you for your recent editorial of March 5, in which you set forth the facts regarding what Urban Renewal has done thus far to destroy the City of Kingston.

The Urban Renewal activity in the Broadway East is a good example of what can and will happen when you get "Destruction Without Construction" and it should be made clear that Urban Renewal cannot claim any credit for the Kingston Housing Project which is not Urban Renewal money or now Urban Renewal Project. Now it is apparent that the Agency is so appalled with the enormity of the failure and destruction they have wrought on the Downtown Area that they want to shut their eyes to the Broadway East Project and start this same destruction in the Uptown Project.

The primary purpose of Urban Renewal was to provide new and better housing for the low and middle income groups but they have failed utterly as they prefer destruction to rehabilitation. So far the city has lost hundreds of thousands of dollars in our tax base and thousands of dollars in water revenue from discontinued water meters. A better name for Urban Renewal would be URBAN REMOVAL as many home owners have lost their homes for a pittance and then because of their age and their only income being Social Security, cannot get a mortgage to cover the difference between their homes and what they must pay in today's market. IS THIS JUSTICE?

Now in order to perpetuate their jobs—for another 10 years I am told—they want to start Uptown with the same reckless destruction. However, people are beginning to rebel and in this connection I would suggest and recommend a very enlightening article in U.S. News and World Report of March 11, 1968, the title of which is "Revolt Against Tearing Up Cities." This article explains to what length Urban Renewal has done and is trying to go to carry out some of these activities. Some 70 cities have thrown Urban Renewal out bodily. Many different cities have formed groups to combat these activities. One group has adopted the slogan "Against the Abuse of Eminent Domain," the subverting of which constitutional principle is the basis on which Urban Renewal seizes anything which might suit their fancy.

Again congratulations on your editorial. Let's have more of these so that our people can be fully informed of what is going on "behind closed doors."

Very truly yours,

U.S., Soviet, Red China Must Agree to Terms

WASHINGTON — Can the Vietnam war be ended this year? The answer doesn't depend on how many more troops are sent or on what the outcome of the American election may be. It is directly related to Soviet government policy toward Vietnam, as well as the readiness of the United States government to enter into a diplomatic negotiation with Moscow about the issues.

If the President of the United States arranged to meet with the Soviet Premier somewhere in Switzerland—and the foreign secretaries of each government and a staff of advisers were to attend a conference called for the purpose of settling the Vietnam war, a movement toward a joint presentation of peace terms to the North and South Vietnamese governments could get under way in a few weeks. A settlement could be reached not long afterwards.

The key to the success of such a project does not rest altogether with the Hanoi government. An agreement is dependent primarily on the kind of plan America can present for the rehabilitation and development not only of Vietnam—but other Asian countries.

If the United States were to save at least 20 billion dollars a year by a cessation of the fighting in Vietnam, the sum of even a portion of that sum for economic and sociological purposes in Southeast Asia would be much less of a burden than the continuance of a war budget of present proportions.

What would Russia get out of such a settlement? This is the most delicate phase of all. But it is no secret that the Kremlin is anxious to improve its relations with the United States. Also the six billion dollars a year now being spent by the Soviet Union to help North Vietnam could be used for the economic improvement of its own people.

A peace conference that opened the way for a better relationship between the East and West would mean a great deal to the Soviet Union. The Soviet people are anxious to have all threats of war removed and to see their government get started on a constructive program to raise living standards.

One factor that has to be considered is the way to bring Red China into conference on Vietnam issue. Certainly the Peking regime is spending money and sending each year large shipments of war supplies to North Vietnam. This is expensive, and the people of Red China have no assurance that the expenditures will in the long run result in any lasting benefit to them.

Diplomacy has ways of taking up delicate matters of international friction and bringing them to the peace table. Certainly every indication of being prolonged for many years unless some agreement can be reached by the Soviets, the Americans and the Red Chinese.

One thing has been made plain but is essential to the initiation of a peace conference. It is that the United States is committed to an indefinite stay in Vietnam notwithstanding the voices of dissent at home which have raised false hopes of an American withdrawal either under the Johnson administration or a new president. If the Soviets became convinced that no such retreat is likely, they would probably be glad to find a method of extracting themselves from the Vietnam dilemma and building a new bridge between the United States and the Soviet Union.

The Kremlin has repeatedly proclaimed its desire to advance the cause of world peace. The Soviet government would find it difficult to turn down a bid for a joint conference dealing not just with the Vietnam problem but also with the future relations of the Soviet Union and the United States.

Peace has again been preserved through the channels of international diplomacy. This cannot, however, be accomplished by public statements. The issues must be presented privately before-hand through knowledgeable and tactful diplomats in unpublicized meetings. If this does not succeed, the United States can reveal the nature of its efforts and hope for world opinion to be mobilized behind future steps to achieve the objectives of the peace plan.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Grandma Flynn always complained about Katie. If it wasn't one thing it was another. She used to hold her thumb against the tip of her finger, and say: "There isn't a pick on that child." Katie was skinny. She could turn completely around inside a dress without ripping it. Grandma said Katie laughed too much. "Laugh before breakfast and you'll cry before dinner," Grandma said.

The Flynns peopled the tenements like everybody else. They walked the dock halls to the fifth floor and got into the flat by way of the kitchen. Nobody had any money. The old lady was on relief. She had arthritis so bad she walked like smoke coming out of a chimney. She wore a brown shawl and the face inside it looked like a busted fist.

The Goldbergs used to send a small piece of corned beef across the dark hall. That's what Grandma Flynn was rich in—the Goldbergs. The old lady and Mrs. Goldberg were cronies. They talked to each other all day across open dumbwaiters. Mrs. Goldberg had a good man. He was manager of the Silebilt Men's Wear Store. He brought home $60 every week and it went right down the drain.

Any part of it Mrs. Goldberg didn't use. She gave away. Mrs. Goldberg was a stout woman with a bosom, a real crier. She had boys. Norman was tall and he studied law. His father said he could talk like a prophet. Barry was fat and 14. After dinner, he read books and ate fruit.

The gossip on the street was fresher than the bread, but somebody goofed on Norman and Katie. He took her to the movies. She gave him a watch for his birthday. Dollar a week for two years. Suddenly, they were engaged and the whole neighborhood took sides. Some felt like Mr. Goldberg, that Norman should have picked a Jewish girl. Some felt like Grandma, that if you are carelessly exposed to love, you will fall in love. The Flynns were good Catholics. The old lady was a daily communicant. She even nabbed the pastor for a couple of bucks a week.

It was a bad situation for awhile. In Herlitz's Shamrock Inn, they had fistfights over it. Then Norman got an A-1 draft classification, and he asked Katie to wait for him. She was 18, and, except for the soup plate blue eyes, she looked 12. There still wasn't a pick on her.

Norman went off to World War II. He was one of 14,000,000. Katie stopped laughing the day he went. She ran off to church and knelt under the statue of the Sacred Heart and she made a vow: "Bring him back alive for me, and I'll say the Stations of the Cross every day for five years. Every day rain or shine. And, dear God, you know I don't like to say the Stations."

She was 22 when he came back. It was summer and old man Goldberg put on a feast in the street. They had tables and wine and the rabbi came and the Irish ate the Jewish pickles and Mrs. Goldberg was sweating and McDermott wheeled out a piano and everybody had a time. Katie kept looking at Norman as though she wanted to cry.

They set the date. Norman was killed a week later. Fell off a platform in front of a commuter train. Mrs. Goldberg could hear Mrs. Goldberg moaning and crying. Old man Goldberg said it was a curse for wanting to marry a shiksa. Grandma Flynn held Mrs. Goldberg in her arms, rocking back and forth and moaning Irish gibberish.

They said Katie never cried. She went to the services dry-eyed. Old man Goldberg began to feel sorry for her. He even put his arm around her and said: "For you, little girl, it can be a better world." But it wasn't. Katie began to go to church and she sat the Stations of the Cross. People who knew the story used to bust out laughing.

She was the only one who didn't know that God had double-crossed her. He brought her guy home, fulfilling the contract, and then snatched him away. It made no difference to Katie. Winter, summer, bitter cold nights and steamy mornings, she went to church. She even made it that day the hurricane hit town. She did the five years, and more—for Norman.

It's been a long time. I went back. The whole neighborhood is gone. The tenements have been replaced by a "development." The Flynns and the McDermotts are dead. Mrs. Goldberg died of pneumonia. Barry is married and living somewhere.

I pushed the bell marked Goldberg. The buzzer sounded. I went upstairs in the elevator and stood in front of 343. The door opened. Deep in the room, I could see old man Goldberg. He has lived in a wheelchair since the stroke. The middle-aged housekeeper had white hair. I had to smile. She still didn't have a pick on her . . .

Drew Pearson Says LBJ Seems Strangely Cool To Board's Racial Report

WASHINGTON—It's ironic that the President, who has done more for race relations than any President since Abraham Lincoln, is not enthusiastic over the penetrating report of his own commission on race relations.

Having picked a blue ribbon panel of ten dedicated men and one woman, who spent seven months studying last summer's race riots, President Johnson let a whole week go by before giving a guarded comment on their report. Meanwhile, his Vice President had differed with it, his Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, Robert Weaver, a Negro, who should have been delighted with it, said its housing goal was "highly improbable," and newsmen who take their cues from the White House were blasting it as likely to increase race riots.

Reason for this dousing of lukewarm water over the most courageous government report in the last decade was the war in Vietnam plus Congress. Money cannot go to the Vietnam war and the race war at the same time.

Chairman Wilbur Mills, the Arkansas tax czar who reigns supreme over the Ways and Means Committee, has given the President an ultimatum—in which the Dixiecrat-Republican coalition has joined like a Roman phalanx—that there will be no tax increase until domestic spending is drastically cut.

Completely ignoring this, the President was a little startled when his own carefully selected commission on racial disorder came out with a dire warning that we will have to spend about as much at home as we are in Vietnam or else experience guerrilla fighting here as well as in Saigon, and end up another South Africa, divided, separate and unequal.

Sen. Brooke—Absentee

Furthermore, the making of the commission, ranking from the Democratic governor of Illinois, Otto Kerner, to the liberal Republican mayor of New York, John Lindsay, to a Southern police chief, Herbert Jenkins of Atlanta, makes the warning impossible to ignore.

The report was unanimous. However, the three above mentioned members were among the strongest forthright no-holds-barred warning to the nation. Police Chief Jenkins of Atlanta was just as vigorous as the mayor of the nation's biggest city. So was Sen. Fred Harris, a moderate Democrat for Oklahoma, a Southwest state with a big Negro population.

Significantly, the commission members who paid least attention to the deliberations, and had an inexcusable attendance record, was the first Negro to be elected to the Senate in 100 years—Edward Brooke, the Massachusetts Republican. He concurred with the findings, but was not around to draft them.

Another who had a spotty attendance record was I. W. Abel, president of the United Steel Workers, but he was also a delegate to the United Nations in New York, and had a hard time attending both. He was somewhat conservative about the report, due no doubt to his Slav and Italian steel workers in Pittsburgh, Youngstown and Gary, who are anti-Negro. However, he went along with the report.

The only real holdout—though he also signed—was Charles B. Thornton, an old Texas friend of LBJ's. It was significant that the first cold water poured on the report came from another Texan, the President's good friend, Rep. George Mahon, of Lubbock, Tex., who also is worried about cutting domestic spending in order to meet Wilbur Mills's ultimatum and get a tax increase.

Thornton, as head of the far-flung Litton Industries, had a somewhat embarrassing conflict between money for war and money for big cities. He is chairman of an industrial complex which includes Aero Service, Airtown, Inc., Shipbuilding, Kester Solder Co., Kimball Systems, Litton Precision Products, Monroe Calculating Machine, and Profexray.

He even has a contract with the military dictatorship of Greece to bring industry to Greece on a 10 per cent commission basis.

Litton's Industrial complex drew down $180,000,000 for the taxpayers in defense contracts during fiscal 1967, plus another $18,396,000 in research grants.

Although voicing objections during the commission sessions, Thornton finally went along with its vigorous warning to the nation. Since publication, however, he's been talking to friends privately, including his friend LBJ.

The position of the President is that you can't push Congress too hard and too suddenly. He's having enough trouble with his present program.

"If you're going to drink whiskey," he says, "drink a little at a time and you can drink all night. If you drink the whole bottle right away you'll throw it up."

It's the same way with Congress, says the President, who served there a quarter of a century. "You've got to feed them legislation in easy doses."

Merry-Go-Round

It's been a case of David and Goliath in Capitol Hill's tackling of the giant drug industry. The research and digging which have gone into the Chloromycetin expose has been done by only two members of the Senate Small Business Committee—Ben Gordon and Susan Human. They have taken on the powerful Parke, Davis Drug Company, which is still selling millions of Chloromycetin pills despite deaths from mal-prescriptions.

Earl Warren Jr., a municipal court judge in Sacramento, is chairman of the National Mental Health Association. When he couldn't attend the big gala mental health dinner in Washington, his father, the Chief Justice of the United States, took his place.

Backers in South Dakota Beating Drums for Rocky

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—A group of responsible pro-Rockefeller South Dakota Republicans, including some state legislators, plans to enter a full slate of 14 Rockefeller delegates in the June 4 South Dakota primary against a blue-ribbon Nixon slate.

If the move is carried out, and South Dakota sources today say the prospect is very strong, it could be of major significance for the 1968 GOP presidential nomination struggle.

One week earlier, on May 28, pro-Rockefeller forces in Oregon presumably will have pitted the New York governor (on a write-in basis) against Richard Nixon and California Gov. Ronald Reagan in that state's important primary.

Though the indications are necessarily fuzzy at this stage, it is at least conceivable Rockefeller could win in Oregon even though he does not plan to allow his name on the ballot, and he is very far from a long shot in South Dakota.

The Oregon and South Dakota primaries represent two of the six Nixon has entered in his effort to shed his "loser" image. If he breezes through New Hampshire, Wisconsin, Indiana and Nebraska and yet falters in Oregon and South Dakota at the very end, the effect could be devastating.

In June and July, 16 GOP state conventions will meet to elect 310 of the 1,333 delegates going to Miami Beach for the 1968 Republican convention. In all but one instance (Mississippi on June 1), these gatherings will occur after the June 4 South Dakota primary.

On June 11, the 58 Illinois delegates will be chosen in a primary which is purely advisory at the presidential preference level. Seventeen days later, the chosen 58 and others will meet to consider 1968 prospects.

Under 1967 revisions, delegates running pledged to a candidate in South Dakota's primary do not need the candidate's consent. So Rockefeller cannot bar this effort if his supporters there are determined to go ahead. Gov. Nils Boe is among those who believe they will file their slate as required by April 20.

Nixon's slate, not surprisingly, will have much of the cream of the South Dakota Republican crop—including Sen. Karl Mundt and former Gov. Archie Gubbrud. Their natural advantages in any real test would seem to be immense.

But the matter may not be that simple for the Nixon forces.

In 1964, an all-out Barry Goldwater slate lost 2 to 1 to an unpledged slate favored by the party leaders (who in the end voted for Goldwater anyway). In 1952, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower lost to the late Sen. Robert A. Taft by less than 1,000 votes in a bitterly fought South Dakota primary featuring a nasty whispering campaign against the general (he was portrayed as German-Americans as the despoiler of Germany in World War II).

On Feb. 21 of this year, The Sioux Falls Argus-Leader in a statewide poll showed Rockefeller beating Lyndon Johnson 56 to 25 while Nixon edges him 51 to 34. A December poll had Rocky over LBJ 58 to 32 and Nixon leading the President 52 to 36.

These statistics obviously include Democratic voters who could not take part in South Dakota's Republican primary. But Nixon's hawkish views on Vietnam, if matched against possibly more flexible Rockefeller positions, might handicap Nixon among Republican voters.

As partial evidence, Sen. George McGovern, a Democratic "dove" often presumed to be "in trouble" on Vietnam, is shown in the Argus-Leader poll to be beating Boe 70 to 24 and Gubbrud 70 to 27 in trial heats for the 1968 U.S. Senate race. McGovern obviously is getting Republicans in droves.

Urban Renewal

Editor, The Freeman
I should like to commend you for your recent editorial of March 5, in which you set forth the facts regarding what Urban Renewal has done thus far to destroy the City of Kingston.

The Urban Renewal activity in the Broadway East is a good example of what can and will happen when you get "Destruction Without Construction" and it should be made clear that Urban Renewal cannot claim any credit for the Kingston Housing Project which is not Urban Renewal money or an Urban Renewal Project. Now it is apparent that the Agency is so appalled with the enormity of the failure and destruction they have wrought on the Downtown Area that they want to shut their eyes to the Broadway East Project and start this same destruction in the Uptown Project.

The primary purpose of Urban Renewal was to provide new and better housing for the low and middle income groups but they have failed utterly as they prefer destruction to rehabilitation. So far the city has lost hundreds of thousands of dollars in our tax base and thousands of dollars in water revenue from discontinued water meters. A better name for Urban Renewal would be URBAN REMOVAL as many home owners have lost their homes for a pittance and then because of their age and their only income being Social Security, cannot get a mortgage to cover the difference between what they received for their homes and what they

must pay in today's market. IS THIS JUSTICE?

Now in order to perpetuate their jobs—for another 10 years I am told—they want to start Uptown with the same reckless destruction. However, people are beginning to rebel and in this connection I would suggest and recommend a very enlightening article in U.S. News and World Report of March 11, 1968, the title of which is "Revolt Against Tearing Up Cities." This article explains to what length Urban Renewal has done and is trying to go to carry out some of these activities. Some 70 cities have thrown Urban Renewal out bodily. Many different cities have formed groups to combat these activities. One group has adopted the slogan "Against the Abuse of Eminent Domain," the subverting of which constitutional principle is the basis on which Urban Renewal might suit their fancy.

Again congratulations on your editorial. Let's have more of these so that our people can be fully informed of what is going on "behind closed doors."

Very truly yours,

Civil Rights Forces Get Setback In Exemptions for Home Owners

By WILLIAM J. EATON
(Chicago Daily News Service)

WASHINGTON—The Senate is going through political agony trying to write a fair housing bill that does not hit too hard at the typical American homeowner.

Both Democratic and Republican parties were split sharply in the first test of strength on what was called the "Congressman's exemption." Civil rights forces suffered a setback but it was hard to tell immediately how big a loophole has been opened in the bill.

The Senate voted 48 to 45 to exempt individuals who own up to three homes if they do not use a real estate agent to rent or sell their property. Supporters of the provision said it would exclude many Senators and Congressmen from the ban on racial discrimination in the rental or sale of homes or apartments since many lawmakers own a home in their district and another in or near Washington.

It also would exempt other two-home or three-home owners even if they were not occupying their home at the time of sale or rental. Military and foreign service officers were said to be in this category since their assignments often require them to leave the United States.

The exemption provides, however, that the homes in question must not be rented more than once in two years and a broker must not become involved.

Under the compromise arranged with the aid of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.) single-family homes would be excluded from coverage only if they are sold or rented by an owner "residing in such house at the time of such sale or rental, or who was the most recent resident" before the sale or rental.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd (D-W. Va.) proposed the exemption over the opposition of the bipartisan coalition handling the bill.

Byrd, assistant Democratic leader, was joined by the Democratic Whip, Sen. Russell B. Long (La.), in voting for the exemption. The party's Senate leader, Mike Mansfield of Montana, voted against it.

Sen. Walter F. Mondale (D-Minn.), one of the floor managers for the bill, said the original administration measure would have covered 96 per cent of all housing. The Dirksen substitute would cover about 80 per cent of homes and apartments.

"We see no reason to let anyone discriminate," Mondale said. "There will be no dire consequences if the bill is approved without further exemptions."

Sen. Spessard Holland (D-Fla.), a spokesman for the southern Democrats, who are almost solidly against the measure, said there was a "fetish" about fairness toward a minority.

"There's too much talk about race and too little about personal rights," he told the Senate. A western Republican, however, Sen. Peter H. Dominick of Colorado, countered: "The privilege of acquiring property is just as vital as the privilege of selling property."

Civil rights lobbyists are concerned that coverage of the bill will be whittled down by a series of amendments like the one offered by Byrd. Sen. Jack Miller (R-Iowa), for example, has a proposal pending to let a homeowner instruct a real estate agent to discriminate except if the buyer is in the armed forces, is a veteran or the surviving wife or parents of a serviceman killed on active duty.

Other observers believe the bill must be modified on the red-hot open housing section or its backers will not round up enough votes for a second vote to shut off debate that will be required under the Senate rules. It takes two-thirds of those present and voting to do this.

The bill's proponents include a bipartisan liberal bloc of managers, many low in Senate seniority. They are Mondale, Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich.), Sen. Charles H. Percy (R-Ill.), Sen. Edward Brooke (R-Mass.), Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.) and Sen. Howard Baker (R-Tenn.). "We would be dead without those Republicans," said one lobbyist for the measure.

Politicians Concerned Over Presidential House Election

By Willard H. Mobley
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Politicians are doing some late-at-night figuring—much of it concerning the Republican Democratic division of delegations in the House—on how to put a presidential election through that branch of Congress.

A House election would be necessary if no presidential candidate received a majority of electoral-college votes.

The extent of concern was pointed up in a little-noticed speech by House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford at a recent party luncheon.

It was a 15-minute lecture on the task of electing a president in the face of an all-out third-party threat by former Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama.

First problem: How do you get the necessary 270 electoral votes when 35 or maybe more of the total look unavailable?

Ford stayed away from naming states but other party sources listed Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina as areas where Wallace is at least a threat. Together they have 35 votes.

Besides, Wallace is on the ballot in California and is looking over numerous other states.

Ford treated the failure of either major party to gain an electoral majority as a real possibility. The burden of his talk was what happens when the job of picking a president shifts to the House.

A presidential vote there is by states, so that Nevada with just one congressman, carries the same weight as California or New York with their platoon-size delegations. It takes 26 states to win.

As things stand, Democrats would win hands down. They control 29 delegations to 18 for the Republicans.

But it's by no means that simple because congressional elections this fall could change that makeup. For example, three delegations—Illinois, Montana and Oregon—are evenly split. A one-vote shift either way would swing any one of them.

The Democrats are ahead by one in Kentucky, Pennsylvania and Tennessee and hold the single Nevada seat. Again a one-vote turnover would shift control.

But the Republicans have similar problems. They are ahead by one in Arizona and Indiana, and hold the single seats in Alaska, Delaware, Vermont and Wyoming.

States where the Democrats have a margin of two seats are Alabama, Arkansas, Colorado, Hawaii, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Rhode Island and Virginia.

The Republicans are two up in Idaho, Minnesota, New Hampshire, North Dakota, South Dakota and Utah.

The Republicans claim they see places to win 31 seats and take control of the House, but to win the White House as well presents a different problem. For instance, they wouldn't be far ahead for the presidency with pickups where they already lead.

A net of three new states theoretically could give the GOP Illinois, Montana and Indiana. Another four could bring in Kentucky, Nevada, Pennsylvania and Tennessee. With the 18 they now hold, a two-vote pickup in one of 11 other states could give them 26 and command.

Nixon Raises Specter of Open Warfare in Cities This Summer

By THOMAS B. ROSS
Chicago Sun-Times Special

WASHINGTON—Richard M. Nixon has raised the specter of open warfare in the nation's cities this summer and called for preparations to "meet force with force."

The former Vice President said there could be a "cooler summer" only if notice is clearly served that "retaliation against the perpetrators and the planners of violence will be swift and sure."

Nixon delivered what was billed the "basic speech" of his presidential campaign in a nationwide political broadcast five days prior to the New Hampshire primary.

The speech reinforced the impression that Nixon is moving toward a harder line on the racial question and a softer line on the Vietnam war.

Nixon, who argued for U. S. military intervention in Vietnam as far back as 1954, indicated he now believed there could not be "a military victory in the conventional sense."

"The administration," he said, "has failed to understand the nature of this kind of war. This is different from other wars and far more complex. It is a war for people, not for territory, and it cannot be won by military means alone."

Much of what Nixon had to say appealed to the doves. He called for greater "nonmilitary measures" by the administration, including an effort to "enlist the Soviets on the side of peace" and pressure on the South Vietnamese to bear a larger share of their own defense.

Other remarks were comforting to the hawks. "Our military power," he said, "has been frittered away in a misguided policy of gradualism; if we had used our power quickly, we could have ended it with far less than we are now using."

Nixon's remarks on the racial question were similarly balanced. "The violence being threatened this summer," he said, "is more in the nature of a war than a riot . . . on the one hand, we must take the warnings to heart and prepare to meet force with force if necessary . . ."

"But on the other hand, we must move with both compassion and conviction to bring the American dream to the ghetto."

Nixon said there can be rapid Negro progress only "when private enterprise gets into the ghetto and when the people in the ghetto get into private enterprise."

He conceded that Negroes had legitimate complaints but insisted: "These mounting threats of violence come when there has never been less cause for violence, and never less excuse for rebellion."

"Never have we been so close to the achievement of a just and abundant society in which the age-old wants of man are met and the age-old grievances of the disinherited set right."

Nixon again criticized the report of President Johnson's Commission on Civil Disorders for "its tendency to lay the blame for the riots on everyone except the rioters."

"One thing worse than not keeping a promise," Nixon said, "is making a promise that cannot be kept. The commission rightly sounded a note of urgency and it rightly pictured the task ahead in the cities as massive."

"But it would be unrealistic to raise hopes that the vast programs the commission proposed might all be done at once. And it would also be a disservice to suggest to the dwellers in those slums that they need only wait for federal housing, federal jobs and a federal guaranteed income."

Nixon warned the Negro community that a new outbreak of violence this summer "could engulf not only the cities, but all the racial progress made in these troubled years."

"Excesses on one side," he said, "bring excesses on the other; we could too readily be drawn into a spiral of violence and vengeance. We can ill afford the destruction of our cities; we could even less afford the ravaging of our society."

Sen. Peter H. Dominick of Colorado, countered: "The privilege of acquiring property is just as vital as the privilege of selling property."

Civil rights lobbyists are concerned that coverage of the bill will be whittled down by a series of amendments like the one offered by Byrd.

Sen. Jack Miller (R-Iowa), for example, has a proposal pending to let a homeowner instruct a real estate agent to discriminate except if the buyer is in the armed forces, is a veteran or the surviving wife or parents of a serviceman killed on active duty.

Other observers believe the bill must be modified on the red-hot open housing section or its backers will not round up enough votes for a second vote to shut off debate that will be required under the Senate rules. It takes two-thirds of those present and voting to do this.

The Bill's proponents include a bipartisan liberal bloc of managers, many low in Senate seniority. They are Mondale, Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich.), Sen. Charles H. Percy (R-Ill.), Sen. Edward Brooke (R-Mass.), Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.) and Sen. Howard Baker (R-Tenn.).

"We would be dead without those Republicans," said one lobbyist for the measure.

Sen. Walter F. Mondale (D-Minn.), one of the floor managers for the bill, said the original administration measure would have covered 96 per cent of all housing. The Dirksen substitute would cover about 80 per cent of homes and apartments.

"We see no reason to let anyone discriminate," Mondale said. "There will be no dire consequences if the bill is approved without further exemptions."

Sen. Spessard Holland (D-Fla.), a spokesman for the southern Democrats, who are almost solidly against the measure, said there was a "fetish" about fairness toward a minority.

"There's too much talk about race and too little about personal rights," he told the Senate. A western Republican, however, Sen. Peter H. Dominick of Colorado, countered: "The privilege of acquiring property is just as vital as the privilege of selling property."

Politicians Concerned Over Presidential House Election

By Willard H. Mobley
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Politicians are doing some late-at-night figuring—much of it concerning the Republican-Democratic division of delegations in the House—on how to put a presidential election through that branch of Congress.

A House election would be necessary if no presidential candidate received a majority of electoral-college votes.

The extent of concern was pointed up in a little-noticed speech by House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford at a recent party luncheon.

It was a 15-minute lecture on the task of electing a president in the face of an all-out third-party threat by former Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama.

First problem: How do you get the necessary 270 electoral votes when 35 or maybe more of the total look unavailable?

Ford stayed away from naming states but other party sources listed Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina as areas where Wallace is at least a threat. Together they have 35 votes.

Besides, Wallace is on the ballot in California and is looking over numerous other states.

Ford treated the failure of either major party to gain an electoral majority as a real possibility. The burden of his talk was what happens when the job of picking a president shifts to the House.

A presidential vote there is by states, so that Nevada with just one congressman, carries the same weight as California or New York with their platoon-size delegations. It takes 26 states to win.

As things stand, Democrats would win hands down. They control 29 delegations to 18 for the Republicans.

But it's by no means that simple because congressional elections this fall could change that makeup. For example, three delegations—Illinois, Montana and Oregon—are evenly split. A one-vote shift either way would swing any one of them.

The Democrats are ahead by one in Kentucky, Pennsylvania and Tennessee and hold the single Nevada seat. Again a one-vote turnover would shift control.

But the Republicans have similar problems. They are ahead by one in Arizona and Indiana, and hold the single seats in Alaska, Delaware, Vermont and Wyoming.

States where the Democrats have a margin of two seats are Alabama, Arkansas, Colorado, Hawaii, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Rhode Island and Virginia.

The Republicans claim they see places to win 31 seats and take control of the House, but to win the White House as well presents a different problem. For instance, they wouldn't be far ahead for the presidency with pickups where they already lead.

A net of three new states theoretically could give the GOP Illinois, Montana and Indiana. Another four could bring in Kentucky, Nevada, Pennsylvania and Tennessee. With the 18 they now hold, a two-vote pickup in one of 11 other states could give them 26 and command.

Mayor of Hue Fired for Fiasco

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government today fired seven of its 44 province chiefs, including its man in Hue, after a Communist offensive. It was the biggest housecleaning so far as a result of the Communist lunar new year offensive. Earlier the government replaced two of its four politically important corps commanders.

Lt. Col. Phan Van Khoa was replaced as mayor of Hue and chief of Thua Thien Province by Lt. Col. Le Van Than, who had been assigned to the joint general staff headquarters in Saigon. Khoa had been severely criticized by U.S. officials for hiding out in civilian clothes for seven days while the Communists overran Hue. One American official said Khoa did nothing about the wave of looting in the stricken city for 17 days and "by then everything had been stolen, sometimes twice."

It was more than three weeks after the capture of Hue before Khoa began to get the shaky government machinery moving at all.

New chiefs also were named for the provinces of Darlac, Binh Thuan, Vinh Long, An Giang, Ba Xuyen and Tuyen Duc.

A new chief also was named for Quang Duc Province, whose head man was killed in a helicopter crash recently.

March 11, 1958 — A straw vote that went in favor of the proposed Greater Kingston Consolidation with outlying districts, was taken at a "briefing session" in the Kingston High School library. Forty-eight people favored the measure and 11 were opposed.

Three men were injured when a tank truck of the Wittenberg Fire Company turned over on the way to a fire that burned down a two-story frame house in Zena.

Jersey Boy Escapes Death In Tow Mishap

A 7-year-old New Jersey boy narrowly escaped possible death Sunday afternoon when his scarf became entwined in the rope of a ski tow at a resort near Ellenville.

Richard Messey, son of Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Messey of Willingboro, N. J., today was undergoing treatment at the Albert Einstein Hospital in the Bronx.

According to reports, the boy was on the ski tow when his scarf caught in the rope. He was seen by others at the resort hanging by the scarf which had tightened around his throat.

Within minutes the boy was freed and mouth-to-mouth resuscitation was applied by the Ellenville First Aid and Rescue Squad. The child was rushed to Kingston Hospital where he underwent emergency treatment.

Sunday night, Doctors Ambulance was called to rush the boy to the hospital in the Bronx. On the way a physician and ambulance attendance administered oxygen and applied emergency treatment.

Gilbert Gray, owner of the ambulance service, said the boy regained consciousness about half way to the Bronx, and he recognized the doctor in the ambulance who was not identified but was said to be a close friend of the Messey family.

found new evidence that the practice continues to flourish.

In another instance, the parents of a 15-year-old boy discovered a vial of liquid amphetamine and informed state police. Described as "learned" people, their son had a high IQ and was above average for his age group. Police report that the boy had been developing a respect for his friends' "intelligence" and was influenced far more by them than by his parents.

His friends too, were found to be involved with amphetamines.

IN NEW PALTZ — A girl, who at the age of 18 started using pills, went on to marijuana, and then hopped in California was recently admitted to a mental hospital there.

According to State Police, the girl was reported to have gone "completely out of her mind." Her parents learned of her plight through a 4 a. m. telephone call from authorities on the West Coast.

California Link
California plays a part in several other drug incidences involving Ulster County youngsters.

IN NEW PALTZ — An 18-year-old high school girl began using marijuana, dropped her school and family ties and went to California. When last heard from she had been arrested for use of heroin.

Another New Palz youth, who had been a high school athlete a few years ago, was arrested for possession and sale of drugs. Still another New Palz boy, age 16, was apprehended for possession of pot which had been mailed to him from the West Coast. State Police report that several young people from New Palz are now residing in California, including the brother of the boy.

IN SAUGERTIES — An arrest of a high school boy was made in the village where a "buy" was made on the street. Also in Saugerties, three girls were expelled from school for sniffing Carbons.

IN KINGSTON — A 17-year-old boy, who had dropped out of high school in the ninth grade, was arrested for sale and possession of marijuana.

The list is endless and repetitions.

To it may be added all the incidences that do not reach the attention of school authorities, police and parents. Then too, there are the many indictments involving persons beyond high school age, on and off college campuses.

BCI men report they have made 25 drug arrests out of the Lake Katrine barracks alone during January and February.

Quiz Teenagers
As any teenager can and will tell you, marijuana can be bought easily in school or out.

In questioning dozens of Kingston High School youngsters on all levels of social and educational strata, it becomes quickly apparent that the use of drugs is becoming accepted by students, even the non-users, more so than most adults would be inclined to believe.

It is hard to make any sort of social stigma stick to users when they sometimes turn out to be the sons and daughters of some of the community's most respected people — a teacher, a professional man, a civic leader.

An Orange County survey indicates that the average family income of the parents of users is close to $15,000.

It has become an established fact that students involved with marijuana are just as likely to come from an upper middle class home as from one in the lower economic bracket.

In subsequent articles the Freeman will delve into the reasons why smoking pot is fast becoming one of youth's favorite pastimes, tell what local police, school authorities and parents can and are doing about it, attempt to answer some of the youngster's arguments for drug use.

Jersey Boy Escapes Death In Tow Mishap

A 7-year-old New Jersey boy narrowly escaped possible death Sunday afternoon when his scarf became entwined in the rope of a ski tow at a resort near Ellenville.

Richard Messey, son of Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Messey of Willingboro, N. J., today was undergoing treatment at the Albert Einstein Hospital in the Bronx.

According to reports, the boy was on the ski tow when his scarf caught in the rope. He was seen by officers at the resort hanging by the scarf which had tightened around his throat.

Within minutes the boy was freed and mouth-to-mouth resuscitation was applied by the Ellenville First Aid and Rescue Squad. The child was rushed to Kingston Hospital where he underwent emergency treatment.

Sunday night, Doctors Ambulance was called to rush the boy to the hospital in the Bronx. On the way a physician and ambulance attendance administered oxygen and applied emergency treatment.

Valley Commission OKs 17 Projects

The Hudson River Valley Commission announced approval today of 17 proposed projects along the Hudson River between Manhattan and Glens Falls.

It was the largest number of projects acted upon by the State agency in any single month since its project review authority took effect last August.

Five of the projects were approved with commendation while four others were approved with reservation or conditions.

Orange and Rockland Utilities, Inc., was commended for its cooperation with the Commission in agreeing to place a quarter-mile long section of a transmission line underground instead of overhead as originally proposed. The line, running parallel to the Hudson River in the Town of Stony Point, Rockland County, will be a link in a 138,000 KV line connecting O & R's generating plant at Tompkins Cove with Consolidated Edison's nuclear generating facility at Buchanan in Westchester.

The Beacon Housing Authority and its architects, Leonard Feldman & Associates, were commended for their proposal for a 175-unit apartment development on Wolcott Avenue in the City of Beacon, Dutchess County. The project will include 21 two-story structures, a nine-story building containing apartments for the elderly and a one-story community center. The project's architectural design and its provisions for open space and landscaping were especially noted by the Commission.

The Troy Record Co., publishers of the Troy Record and

Times-Record, was commended for a planned addition to its building at 501 Broadway in Troy, Rensselaer County. The Commission pointed out the new addition's facade will conform to that of the existing structure and preserve the building's architectural character. The project also will include a small landscaped public plaza.

A new geology building at Lamont Geological Observatory in Rockland County was approved with commendations for architectural excellence both to its sponsor, Columbia University, and its architect, Frederick Wildfoerster of Middletown, New York. The three-level brick building will be situated in the Lamont complex behind the crest of the Palisades in Orangetown.

Approved with reservations was a proposal for a 40-lot residential subdivision on an 18-acre site at Blooming Grove in the Town of New Windsor, Orange County. The Commission pointed out that some of the lots were awkwardly shaped and that there was a possibility of erosion unless houses were carefully constructed and a maximum amount of vegetation retained. The sponsor is ACMD Development Corporation.

Conditional approval was given to the proposed removal of fill from Campbell Island in the Town of Schoharie, Rensselaer County. The material, which previously had been deposited on the island in dredging operations by the Corps of Engineers, will be used by the Cooley Contracting Co. in connection with the improvement of Route 93 between Rensselaer and Castleton.

Financial and Commercial

By ED MORSE
AP Business Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced early Monday as goldmining shares backed away from recent gains. Trading was active.

Gains outnumbered losses by about 2 to 1.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 3.01 to 838.25.

As gold mine shares fell, some were delayed in opening due to pile-up orders. Benguet dropped a fraction, Dome Mines about 4 points.

Copper stocks strengthened. Anaconda gained about 1, Kennecott and Phelps Dodge fractions.

IBM picked up about 4 points. Control Data and Xerox a couple each, Occidental Petroleum, Schenley, Sperry Rand, Boeing, General Dynamics, Zenith, U.S. Smelting and United Air Lines about a point each.

The gold mining stocks backedtracked on weekend news that the international gold pool had agreed to support the price of gold at $35 an ounce.

Progress toward settlement of the 241-day copper strike accompanied strength in the copper stocks.

Carpenter Killed By Own Auto

By ED MORSE
NEW YORK (AP) — A retired, part-time carpenter was killed today when he was struck by his stolen station wagon and dragged more than 10 blocks through downtown city streets, police said.

An escaped mental patient was arrested and charged with criminal negligence-homicide, police said.

Harvey D. Slyck, 67, of Syracuse, apparently was struck at the entrance to a supermarket parking lot near his home shortly after 1 a.m. He was dragged 1.2 miles beneath the car, police said.

Three hours later, police conducting a routine traffic check in Auburn, 26 miles southwest of here, arrested Eugene W. Downey, 20, of Syracuse. Police said Downey had fled Sunday from Marcy State Hospital near Rome.

Downey and Slyck's station wagon were returned to Syracuse.

Police said Downey and Slyck were acquainted, but they would not elaborate.

Slyck's address was 321 Gifford St.

Buying and Selling Computerized Study

By ED MORSE
NEW YORK (AP) — "They've warned the stock market speculators," the broker said, "but who has warned the savers?" Then he told a Wall Street parable.

Grandpa Jones, it seems, saved $1,000 in 1933—a tough depression year—and it buys $380 worth at today's prices.

Had he put the money in a typical New York savings bank from Jan. 1, 1934 to Jan. 1, 1968 at compound interest he would have $2,481. But even this would buy only $934 compared with what $1,000 bought in 1933.

Grandpa Smith, on the other hand, put $1,000 into the stock market over the same period, buying and selling completely at random. "Careless" Smith, they called him. By Jan. 1, 1968 his money grew to $10,850—and that would buy $4,123 worth at 1933 prices.

The figures on Smith's results

Resnick Feted By APDA Group

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick was the guest of honor Sunday night at the American Parkinson Disease Association annual dinner and show in New York City.

Seven hundred persons attended that APDA event at the El Morocco nightclub and then moved to Lincoln Center Philharmonic Hall where they were treated to a variety show featuring comics, singers, and a ballet group.

Resnick was honored with a plaque for his work in behalf of the association. The plaque was presented by New York Civil Court Judge Ross di Lorenzo, the founder and national president of the Italian-American League against Defamation.

"I thank the good Lord that I am fortunate enough to help others," Resnick told the audience. "I hope you feel the same way."

buying and selling just any stocks on the New York Stock Exchange—are based on a computerized study by the University of Chicago of stock action from 1926 through 1960, updated through 1967 by Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Inc., which sponsored the study.

Growth Seems Low
The growth of $1,000 at compound interest seems low today when savings banks pay 5 per cent. Over most of the 34-year period, however interest rates were much lower, ranging upward of 1 1/2 per cent. At current 5 per cent rates it would take $1,000 only 14 years to double. But nobody knows whether 5 per cent rates will continue for 14 years. And nobody knows what $1,000 invested in stocks would be in 14 years.

"Every elevator operator in the country has the idea he can get rich in the stock market," said William McChesney Martin Jr., chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, earlier this year. He warned against "inordinate" speculation by the public, and some "go-go" mutual funds. Similar warnings were issued by several prominent men.

"Speculation is a dirty word," the broker said. "But what about investment? Have you heard a single man of Martin's prominence warn the millions of Americans planning for retirement that their nest eggs are shrinking?"

Living costs rose 3.3 per cent in 1966, 3.1 per cent in 1967 and are now rising at an annual rate of 3.8 per cent. Each jump cut savings bank now offers its patrons a package deal: one-third of the deposit in savings, one-third in insurance and one-third in mutual funds. Some big insurance companies have entered the mutual fund business. More are expected to follow.

Even so, the broker—who abides by an ethical code—advises each client that before buying stock he should have adequate cash savings for emergencies and enough insurance to protect his family.

Savings banks and insurance companies are examples of the safe, fixed-dollar investment. The erosion of the dollars purchasing power is such, however, that even these are starting to hedge against the "silent robber"—inflation. A New York savings bank now offers its patrons a package deal: one-third of the deposit in savings, one-third in insurance and one-third in mutual funds. Some big insurance companies have entered the mutual fund business. More are expected to follow.

If Slowdown Looks Temporary
Hold a Strong Growth Stock

Q—Over the last few years I have been steadily buying stocks, but have never gained nor lost because I have made some mistakes but have been fortunate in others. I own Corn Products; Sears; Roebuck; General Telephone & Electronics; AT&T; and Minnesota Mining & Mfg. My loss in Minnesota Mining is large, and my General Telephone has done nothing. Should I switch to something for growth or have more patience?—B.R.

A—I congratulate you on selecting an excellent list of stocks. I definitely believe you should retain your General Telephone, even though the price action has been rather sluggish. This stock has been moderately depressed because of lower 1967 earnings, but I believe the company can develop a very strong growth pattern. Minnesota Mining is a fine stock, but it faces Justice Department action on some of its important products and the shares have slowed down somewhat. If growth is your main objective, you might as well switch this issue to Walgreen.

Q—I have a son who has $500 from a bar mitzvah gift. Since I believe the best investment for him is long-term growth, I would like your opinion of Control Data. If not favorable, would you suggest something else?—W.Y.

A—I am very much pleased that you received so fine a gift. I like Control Data, although it must be clearly understood that the shares are pretty rich and subject to wide price variations. The company is almost the only major one in the field of electronic digital computers—except IBM—that is increasing earnings substantially. Its success is due to its great technological expertise; this has enabled it to outperform most of its competitors. If you can ignore price fluctuations, I would buy the stock for your purpose, since I foresee strong growth for this industry and for Control Data over the years ahead.

Valley Commission OKs 17 Projects

The Hudson River Valley Commission announced approval today of 17 proposed projects along the Hudson River between Manhattan and Glens Falls.

It was the largest number of projects acted upon by the State agency in any single month since its project review authority took effect last August.

Five of the projects were approved with commendation, while four others were approved with reservation or conditions. Orange and Rockland Utilities, Inc., was commended for its cooperation with the Commission in agreeing to place a quarter-mile-long section of a transmission line underground instead of overhead as originally proposed. The line, running parallel to the Hudson shore in the Town of Stony Point, Rockland County, will be a link in a 138,000 KV line connecting O & R's generating plant at Tompkins Cove with Consolidated Edison's nuclear generating facility at Buchanan in Westchester.

The Beacon Housing Authority and its architects, Leonard Feldman & Associates, were commended for their proposal for a 175-unit apartment development on Wolcott Avenue in the City of Beacon, Dutchess County. The project will include 21 two-story structures, a nine-story building containing apartments for the elderly and a one-story community center. The project's architectural design and its provisions for open space and landscaping were especially noted by the Commission.

The Troy Record Co., publishers of the Troy Record and

Times-Record, was commended for a planned addition to its building at 501 Broadway in Troy, Rensselaer County. The Commission pointed out the new addition's facade will conform to that of the existing structure and preserve the building's architectural character. The project also will include a small landscaped public plaza.

A new geology building at Lamont Geological Observatory in Rockland County was approved with commendations for architectural excellence both to its sponsor, Columbia University, and its architect, Frederick Wildfoerster of Middletown, New York. The three-level brick building will be situated in the Lamont complex behind the crest of the Palisades in Orangetown.

Approved with reservations was a proposal for a 40-lot residential subdivision on an 18-acre site at Blooming Grove Turnpike and Valley View Avenue in the Town of New Windsor, Orange County. The Commission pointed out that some of the lots were awkwardly shaped and that there was a possibility of erosion unless houses were carefully constructed and a maximum amount of vegetation retained. The sponsor is ACMD Development Corporation.

Conditional approval was given to the proposed removal of fill from Campbell Island in the Town of Schoharie, Rensselaer County. The material, which previously had been deposited on the island in dredging operations by the Corps of Engineers, will be used by the Cooley Contracting Co. in connection with the improvement of Route 91 between Rensselaer and Castleton.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced early Monday as goldmining shares backed away from recent gains. Trading was active. Gains outnumbered losses by about 2 to 1.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 3.01 to 838.25. As gold mine shares fell, some were delayed in opening due to pile-up orders. Benguet dropped a fraction, Dome Mines about 4 points.

Copper stocks strengthened. Anaconda gained about 1, Kennecott and Phelps Dodge fractions.

IBM picked up about 4 points. Control Data and Xerox a couple each. Occidental Petroleum, Schenley, Sperry Rand, Boeing, General Dynamics, Zenith, U.S. Smelting and United Air Lines about a point each.

The gold mining stocks backedtracked on weekend news that the international gold pool had agreed to support the price of gold at $35 an ounce.

Progress toward settlement of the 241-day copper strike accompanied strength in the copper stocks.

Carpenter Killed By Own Auto

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — A retired, part-time carpenter was killed today when he was struck by his stolen station wagon and dragged more than 10 blocks through downtown city streets, police said.

An escaped mental patient was arrested and charged with criminal negligence-homicide, police said.

Harvey D. Slyck, 67, of Syracuse, apparently was struck at the entrance to a supermarket parking lot near his home shortly after 1 a.m. He was dragged 1.2 miles beneath the car, police said.

Three hours later, police conducting a routine traffic check in Auburn, 26 miles southwest of here, arrested Eugene W. Downey, 20, of Syracuse. Police said Downey had fled Sunday from Marcy State Hospital near Rome.

Downey and Slyck's station wagon were returned to Syracuse. Police said Downey and Slyck were acquainted, but they would not elaborate. Slyck's address was 321 Gifford St.

Buying and Selling Computerized Study

By ED MORSE

NEW YORK (AP) — "They've warned the stock market speculators," the broker said, "but who has warned the savers?" Then he told a Wall Street parable.

Grandpa Jones, it seems, saved $1,000 in 1933—a tough depression year—and it buys $380 worth at today's prices. Had he put the money in a typical New York savings bank from Jan. 1, 1934 to Jan. 1, 1968 at compound interest he would have $2,481. But even this would buy only $934 compared with what $1,000 bought in 1933.

Grandpa Smith, on the other hand, put $1,000 into the stock market over the same period, buying and selling completely at random. "Careless" Smith, they called him. By Jan. 1, 1968 his money grew to $10,850, and that would buy $4,123 worth at 1933 prices.

The figures on Smith's results

Resnick Feted By APDA Group

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick was the guest of honor Sunday night at the American Parkinson Disease Association annual dinner and show in New York City.

Seven hundred persons attended that APDA event at the El Morocco nightclub and then moved to Lincoln Center Philharmonic Hall where they were treated to a variety show featuring comics, singers, and a ballet group.

Resnick was honored with a plaque for his work in behalf of the association. The plaque was presented by New York Civil Court Judge Ross di Lorenzo, the founder and national president of the Italian-American League against Deafness. "I thank the good Lord that I am fortunate enough to help single-covered ruins were others," Resnick told the audience. "I hope you feel the same way."

buying and selling just any stocks on the New York Stock Exchange—are based on a computerized study by the University of Chicago of stock action from 1926 through 1960, updated through 1967 by Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Inc., which sponsored the study.

Growth Seems Low

The growth of $1,000 at compound interest seems low today when savings banks pay 5 percent. Over most of the 34-year period, however, interest rates were much lower, ranging upwards of 1 1/2 per cent. At current 5 per cent rates it would take $1,000 only 14 years to double. But nobody knows whether 5 per cent rates will continue for 14 years. And nobody knows what $1,000 invested in stocks would be in 14 years.

"Every elevator operator in the country has the idea he can get rich in the stock market," said William McChesney Martin Jr., chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, earlier this year. He warned against "inordinate" speculation by the public and some "go-go" mutual funds. Similar warnings were issued by several prominent men.

"Speculation is a dirty word," the broker said. "But what about investment? Have you heard a single man of Martin's prominence warn the millions of Americans planning for retirement that their nest eggs are shrinking?"

Living costs rose 3.3 per cent in 1966, 3.1 per cent in 1967 and are now rising at an annual rate of 3.8 per cent. Each jump cut that much off the purchasing power of the dollar. And the end is not in sight, economists agree. Even so, the broker—who abides by an ethical code—advises each client that before buying stock he should have adequate cash savings for emergencies and enough insurance to protect his family.

Savings banks and insurance companies are examples of the safe, fixed-dollar investment. The erosion of the dollars purchasing power is such, however, that even these are starting to hedge against the "silent robber"—inflation. A New York savings bank now offers its patrons a package deal: one-third of the deposit in savings, one-third in insurance and one-third in mutual funds. Some big insurance companies have entered the mutual fund business. More are expected to follow.

Much Political Trouble Forecast in Britain

BY LAWRENCE MALKIN
LONDON (AP) — New political trouble over race relations lies ahead when the British government introduces a bill to bar discrimination in jobs and housing.

Officials hope the measure will demonstrate to members of the British Commonwealth, India especially, that Britain is not developing into a society in-fectured with racial discrimination.

Home Secretary James Callaghan is caught between public feeling against Britain's non-white immigrants and various community and national race relations groups rushing to their defense.

Advocates of a keep-Britain-white policy, centered mainly in the suburban middle class and among workers who feel their jobs threatened, tasted success when Britain barred admission of many Asians from Kenya who hold British passports.

Many of the labor party's intellectual supporters feel the proposed antidiscrimination bill is not strong enough, especially in provisions covering employment.

Last July Roy Jenkins, then

Home secretary, committed the government to broadening the present race relations act, largely limited to discrimination in public places. There was hardly a protest, but now Callaghan feels he may face a public outcry.

He has admitted the bill would limit the traditional freedoms of Englishmen, but argued that this was in the interest of creating an integrated society.

Under the measure anyone who could prove he couldn't buy a house because of his race would complain to the Race Relations Board. It would sue for damages. Advocates say there would be sufficient proof if a white man bought a house at less money than a Negro had already offered for it.

The government's argument is that colored immigrants must be allowed to get out of their districts in London, Birmingham and other cities before violence develops.

Mark Bonham Carter, chairman of the Race Relations Board, has protested to Callaghan about the proposed employment provisions of the bill.

Under the draft, a complaint of job discrimination would first be referred to the Ministry of Labor, then to a union-management conciliation board—if one exists—and then back to the ministry. Only if the ministry agreed would the complaint move on to the Race Relations Board for prosecution. That could take months.

BRANCH CONSTRUCTION—Signing the general contract for converting the former Bonanza Steak House building into a branch office of the Kingston Savings Bank are, (L.) George H. Swart of G. H. Swart, Inc., general contractor; Clifford A. Henze, executive vice-president and secretary of Kingston Savings Bank and Herbert P. Mayer, architect. The signing took place on the premises, located on Route 9W south of the cloverleaf interchange with Route 209-199 in the town of Ulster. Plans call for drive-in window, night depository and ample provision for customer parking. (Powell photo).

Two Youths Hurt In Greene Crash

'Disappointing,' States Liddy

G. Gordon Liddy, seeking the Republican nomination for Congress in the 28th Congressional District, termed the endorsement for Hamilton Fish Jr. by the Greene and Dutchess County executive committees "disappointing," but vowed to take his case to the people.

Joe Joins Others In Introducing Bill

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick today joined 32 other congressmen in introducing a $200,000,000 supplemental appropriation bill for the Office of Economic Opportunity.

The funds would be used to finance special OEO summer activities directed toward poverty programs. In 1967, Congress voted $75,000,000 appropriation for OEO summer programs.

"Although planning is now under way to develop projects for the coming summer, said Resnick, supplemental funds are not available at this point to finance the special activities.

of the face, was cited by Trooper LaPlante for failure to keep to the right. The summons is returnable before Cairo Town Justice Howard Miller. Donald McBride, 16, of Catskill, a passenger sustained contusions of the knees.

He said, "I would like to point out that my original strategy was to take my case to the people. They have the final say. My decision to do this has not been changed in any matter. I am confident the people will make their own determination."

The assistant district attorney told newsmen that his weekend plans included a campaign swing through Schoharie and Greene Counties. He noted, "Saturday morning and early afternoon I will be visiting several villages in Schoharie County. Later, I will be in Greene County."

Liddy, the father of five, lives in Poughkeepsie. He is seeking the 28th Congressional Republican nomination, which is composed of Dutchess, Greene, Ulster, Columbia and Schoharie Counties.

Local Mishaps Are Reported

At 10 minutes after 3 a. m. on Sunday a car driven by Charles Burgher of 43 Glen Street was traveling west on Washington Avenue when it collided with a parked car which, in turn, hit the parked car in front of it.

The first parked car was owned by Margaret Slizewski of 348 Washington Avenue, and the second one was owned by Carol McElrath of 55 Arlmont Street.

A summons was issued to Burgher for driving while intoxicated, according to police reports.

At 3:20 p. m. Saturday Vincent M. Kelder, 28, of 190 Lincoln Street, had stopped at a stop sign at the Fair Street Extension at the intersection of Plaza Road.

According to police reports, Robert P. Policano, 19, of 17 Belvedere Street apparently failed to see Kelder's car or the stop sign and smashed into the stopped vehicle.

No one was injured and there was reportedly little property damage.

Many Hearts Too Good to Die

More than 50,000 persons with "hearts too good to die"—a number believed to be far beyond the ultimate potential of heart transplants—could be saved annually if all hospitalized heart-attack victims had access to coronary care units or comparable facilities.

This is the stated belief of Dr. Jesse E. Edwards, president of the American Heart Association, who delivered his remarks recently.

Benedictine Hospital has a sophisticated coronary care unit while Kingston Hospital does not.

Opening the 1968 Heart Fund Campaign and speaking at a luncheon sponsored by the heart organization, the Chicago Heart Association, and the Illinois Heart Association, Dr. Edwards said that optimal expansion of coronary care units would "yield medical or paramedical specialists trained to cope with sudden emergencies.

Dr. Edwards pointed out that "22,000,000 Americans suffer from some sort of cardiovascular illness—responsible for more than a million deaths yearly, including 500,000 from heart attack."

The president of the American Heart Association claimed that of 1,200 hospitals with more than 200 beds for acute illnesses there are no more than 400 coronary care units. A desirable goal, he said, "would be one such facility in each of these 1,200 hospitals."

Mill Burns In Troy, Fireman Hurt

WATERVLIET, N.Y. (AP) — Fire destroyed an abandoned textile mill in this city near Troy Sunday night, heavily damaged a nearby building containing apartments and touched off short-lived fires at two houses and a Troy lumber yard, across the Hudson River, as well as two grass fires.

Battalion Chief Frank Luddy told reporters he believed the initial fire, at the former Jupiter Textile Mills in the heart of the city, may have been set.

Another department spokesman added that three false alarms were turned in during the 10 minutes following the original call. All three were widely separated parts of the city, he said.

A fireman suffered a minor injury, but no one else was reported injured.

Six families in the apartments in the second building were left homeless. An estimated 100 residents of nearby homes were evacuated as a precautionary measure. Most had returned to their dwellings by midnight.

A damage estimate was not available.

The fire at the textile mill was reported at about 8:30 p. m. All fires were extinguished or under control a few hours later.

The five-story, brick and frame mill was built in the 1870s.

It was on Broadway, a half block from the Fire Department and City Hall, neither of which were damaged.

Over Discrimination Bill

By LAWRENCE MALKIN

LONDON (AP) — New political trouble over race relations ahead when the British government introduces a bill to bar discrimination in jobs and housing.

Officials hope the measure will demonstrate to members of the British Commonwealth, India especially, that Britain is not developing into a society in-fectured with racial discrimination.

Home Secretary James Callaghan is caught between public feeling against Britain's non-white immigrants and various community and national race relations groups rushing to their defense.

Advocates of a keep-Britain-white policy, centered mainly in the suburban middle class and among workers who feel their jobs threatened, tasted success when Britain barred admission of many Asians from Kenya who hold British passports.

Many of the labor party's intellectual supporters feel the proposed antidiscrimination bill is not strong enough, especially in provisions covering employment.

Last July Roy Jenkins, then

Home secretary, committed the government to broadening the present race relations act, largely limited to discrimination in public places. There was hardly a protest, but now Callaghan feels he may face a public outcry.

He has admitted the bill would limit the traditional freedoms of Englishmen, but argued that this was in the interest of creating an integrated society.

Under the measure anyone who could prove he couldn't buy a house because of his race would complain to the Race Relations Board. It would sue for damages. Advocates say there would be sufficient proof if a white man bought a house at less money than a Negro had already offered for it.

The government's argument is that colored immigrants must be allowed to get out of their districts in London, Birmingham and other cities before violence develops.

Mark Bonham Carter, chairman of the Race Relations Board, has protested to Callaghan about the proposed employment provisions of the bill.

Under the draft, a complaint

of job discrimination would first be referred to the Ministry of Labor, then to a union-management conciliation board—if one exists—and then back to the ministry. Only if the ministry agreed would the complaint move on to the Race Relations Board for prosecution. That could take months.

BRANCH CONSTRUCTION—Signing the general contract for converting the former Bonanza Steak House building into a branch office of the Kingston Savings Bank are, (L.) George H. Swart of G. H. Swart, Inc., general contractor; Clifford A. Henze, executive vice-president and secretary of Kingston Savings Bank and Herbert P. Mayer, architect. The signing took place on the premises, located on Route 9W south of the cloverleaf interchange with Route 209-199 in the town of Ulster. Plans call for drive-in window, night depository and ample provision for customer parking. (Powell photo).

Two Youths Hurt In Greene Crash

Two youths were injured Sunday when the car in which they were riding skidded out of control on a highway near Cairo. Trooper E. E. LaPlante of Leeds reported Alfred Roth, 18, of Cairo, was driving the car at the time of the mishap. Roth, who received abrasions of the face, was cited by Trooper LaPlante for failure to keep to the right. The summons is returnable before Cairo Town Justice Howard Miller. Donald McBride, 16, of Catskill, a passenger sustained contusions of the knees.

Joe Joins Others In Introducing Bill

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick today joined 32 other congressmen in introducing a $200,000,000 supplemental appropriation bill for the Office of Economic Opportunity.

The funds would be used to finance special OEO summer activities directed toward poverty programs. In 1967, Congress voted $75,000,000 appropriation for OEO summer programs.

"Although planning is now under way to develop projects for the coming summer, said Resnick, supplemental funds are not available at this point to finance the special activities.

"As a result cutbacks are being imposed in year-round OEO community action programs in order to provide sufficient funds for the summer projects.

"In view of the disturbing report of the National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders," Resnick continued, "we cannot suspend the development of the anti-poverty program during these critical times. Summer programs should not have to operate at the expense of year-round OEO activities," the Ellenville Democrat concluded.

Slavery was abolished in New York in 1827.

'Disappointing,' States Liddy

G. Gordon Liddy, seeking the Republican nomination for Congress in the 28th Congressional District, termed the endorsement for Hamilton Fish Jr. by the Greene and Dutchess County executive committees "disappointing," but vowed to take his case to the people.

Liddy, a former FBI supervisor and assistant district attorney for Dutchess County, said, "I am naturally disappointed. However, I was never permitted to appear before either body to express my views; hence, it is understandable that they would choose my opponent."

He said, "I would like to point out that my original strategy was to take my case to the people. They have the final say. My decision to do this has not been changed in any matter. I am confident the people will make their own determination."

The assistant district attorney told newsmen that his weekend plans included a campaign swing through Schoharie and Greene Counties. He noted, "Saturday morning and early afternoon I will be visiting several villages in Schoharie County. Later, I will be in Greene County."

Liddy, the father of five, lives in Poughkeepsie. He is seeking the 28th Congressional Republican nomination, which is composed of Dutchess, Greene, Ulster, Columbia and Schoharie Counties.

Join State Bar

Two Kingston lawyers are among 16 from upstate communities who have joined the New York State Bar Association. They are J. M. Bruhn of 254 Fair Street and Richard F. Riseley Jr. of 113 Main Street. In the Ninth District, Douglas F. Wicks of 25 Market Street, Poughkeepsie is a new member of the association.

Auxiliary Police

Members of the Auxiliary Police will meet tonight, 7:30 p. m., at the Moose Lodge, 82 Prince Street.

Those attending are asked to arrive in uniform.

NEW JUDGE — President Johnson tapped retiring Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois for a federal judgeship at Chicago, clearing the way for a candidate hand-picked by state Democratic chieftains to run for Kerner's job in November. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Local Mishaps Are Reported

At 10 minutes after 3 a. m. on Sunday a car driven by Charles Burgher of 43 Glen Street was traveling west on Washington Avenue when it collided with a parked car which, in turn, hit the parked car in front of it.

The first parked car was owned by Margaret Slizewski of 348 Washington Avenue, and the second one was owned by Carol McElrath of 55 Arlmont Street. A summons was issued to Burgher for driving while intoxicated, according to police reports.

At 3:20 p. m. Saturday Vincent M. Kelder, 28, of 190 Lincoln Street, had stopped at a stop sign at the Fair Street Extension at the intersection of Plaza Road.

According to police reports, Robert F. Policano, 19, of 17 Belvedere Street apparently failed to see Kelder's car or the stop sign and smashed into the stopped vehicle.

No one was injured and there was reportedly little property damage.

Many Hearts Too Good to Die

More than 50,000 persons with "hearts too good to die"—a number believed to be far beyond the ultimate potential of heart transplants — could be saved annually if all hospitalized heart-attack victims had access to coronary care units or comparable facilities.

This is the stated belief of Dr. Jesse E. Edwards, president of the American Heart Association, who delivered his remarks recently.

Benedictine Hospital has a sophisticated coronary care unit while Kingston Hospital does not.

Opening the 1968 Heart Fund Campaign and speaking at a luncheon sponsored by the heart organization, the Chicago Heart Association, and the Illinois Heart Association, Dr. Edwards said that optimal expansion of coronary care units would yield medical or paramedical specialists trained to cope with sudden emergencies.

Dr. Edwards pointed out that "22,000,000 Americans suffer from some sort of cardiovascular illness—responsible for more than a million deaths yearly, including 500,000 from heart attack."

The president of the American Heart Association claimed that of 1,200 hospitals with more than 200 beds for acute illnesses, there are no more than 400 coronary care units. A desirable goal, he said, "would be one such facility in each of these

1,200 hospitals."

At Ulster Academy

Named to Science Position

Ulster Academy announced today the third in a series of appointments to its faculty. H. Alden (Pete) Bunker, now chairman of the Science Department at Rockland Country Day School, Congers, has been named Master of Physical Science by the Academy Headmaster Raymond A. Nelson.

Rochester Graduate
Bunker, 31, a family man with two small children, received a BA degree in General Science from the University of Rochester. He then taught two years at the Windsor Mountain School, Lenox, Mass., in science and mathematics. During this time he developed an original 8th grade geology course and an experimental introduction to chemistry and physics for the 9th grade. Following summer study at the University of Vermont under a National Science Foundation Institute grant in physics, Bunker studied at the University of Connecticut where he received a Master of Science degree in physics two years later.

While at Connecticut, Bunker was a graduate assistant for freshman and sophomore physics courses. He was then called to Rockland Country Day School where he subsequently became chairman of the four man department. While there, he instituted the new Introduction to Physical Science course which he will continue to teach at Ulster Academy. He also worked with the headmaster and other faculty in the development of a sex education and human relations program.

Ulster Duties
His new duties at Ulster Academy will be in the teaching of physical science, mathematics, in continuing curriculum development, in athletics, and in the long-range development of a manual skills program. All faculty at the new Academy have close guidance relations with the no more than 12 students for whom they are faculty advisers.

Mr. and Mrs. Bunker will move to the Kingston area in June or early July.

Drivers Hurt, Cited After Two Mishaps

Two motorists were injured and later cited by Ellenville State Police Sunday after their cars were involved in separate accidents, according to State Police Sergeant Henry S. Rhodes.

Joseph Barr, 23, of 178 Wall Street, Kingston, was driving his sport car north on the Granite Road at 1:30 a. m. when the vehicle left the highway and hit a tree after skidding. Barr was cited by Trooper W. E. Hubert on a charge of failure to keep to the right. He complained of back pains.

Stephen Telvi, 16, of Brooklyn, was injured at 10:30 a. m. Sunday when his car left Briggs Highway and hit a utility pole, according to a report of Trooper R. M. Houst. Telvi was taken to Ellenville Community Hospital after complaining about possible head and back injuries. He was summoned by Trooper Houst for driving a motor vehicle with unsafe tires, according to Sergeant Rhodes.

Youths Jailed On Ski Charge

Accused of the theft of a pair of skis at the Hunter Mt. Ski Bowl on Sunday, four New Jersey youths were in the Greene County jail today awaiting hearing on a charge of petit larceny.

Trooper J. J. Syvertsen of Leeds said the defendants are slated to appear for a hearing on March 5 at 8 p. m. before Hunter Town Justice Robert Gooley. They are held in lieu of $100 bail each.

State Trooper D. G. McPhail booked the accused youths as, George Brackett, 18, of Allendale, N. J.; Martin McCarthy, 18, James Ziegler, also 18, and Michael Murphy, 17, all of Ramsey, N. J.

OK, WE'RE BAD GUYS

Not the black hat bad guys of the white hat-black hat variety. Perish the thought.

But, you know, we promise we're open every Monday and Friday until 9. And for the last six Monday nights (our slowest season of the year) we closed quietly at 5:30.

Frankly we didn't think anyone would notice or even care. We wanted more time for the good things in life: taking out the trash cans, cleaning the windows and watching Rowan and Martin.

It's not just public demand; it's really public outrage that forces us to reopen. People have threatened to take away our title of the liveliest, friendliest, most popular store in town.

So, here we'll be. In an election year you've got to be careful.

Sues Government

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Mary Louise Neugebaur has sued the U.S. government for $200 million, contending in a U.S. District Court suit that she is entitled to the money or the return of lands that were awarded her ancestors under Spanish or Mexican land grants, and later taken.

The complaint did not say which lands are claimed by the Denver woman.

Five Injured, Two Cited

Five persons were injured and two motorists were cited by State Police as the result of traffic accidents investigated by Highland state troopers.

Cars driven by Petra Orlovsky, 20, of New Paltz, and Frank Lacava, 63, of New York City, were involved in a collision at 9:10 p. m. Saturday on Route 299 in the Town of New Paltz. Lacava was summoned by Trooper Jerry Henne for making an improper turn.

Lacava was driving west along the highway and attempted a left turn when his car was in collision with the Orlovsky vehicle traveling east. The latter car caught fire after the impact, according to Sergeant Stanley Kowalik. Petra Orlovsky sustained contusions and abrasions of the forehead. Stella Lacava, 60, received injuries of the arms and shoulders, and Joseph Romagnolo, 8 months, a passenger in the Lacava car, sustained a bump on the head. Christine Kotsi, 23, of New Paltz, a passenger in the Orlovsky vehicle, suffered lacerations of the knees and facial cuts.

County Roundup

Town of Rochester Goes for Bell

By CHARLES BERMPOHL

The political cauldron continued to boil over the weekend with another town delegation supporting H. Clark Bell for the GOP nomination for the assembly, Joseph Martorana staying out of the race and throwing his support to Peter J. Savago, and the continuing controversy in the Town of Kingston surrounding the Bell endorsement.

The town of Rochester GOP announced its support for Bell at a Republican Club installation dinner Saturday night.

Eight More Votes

Rochester will bring eight delegate votes to the March 25 convention. This marks the sixth town to endorse the 34-year-old Woodstock resident, and the delegation brings Bell's voting strength to 40.

The lineup of town delegations behind Bell include Olive Woodstock, Town of Kingston, Hardenbergh, Hurley, and now Rochester.

Chairman of the County Legislature Savago has 20 delegate votes so far. He received the support of the New Paltz and Gardiner Republican organizations.

Significant Support

Significant support came to the New Paltz insurance man today, however, when Plattkill's Martorana decided not to enter the assembly race made available through Kenneth L. Wilson's decision not to seek another term. Martorana requested those who would have given their allegiance to him to line up behind chairman Savago.

The Rochester support for Bell came after the former Constitutional Convention delegate delivered a speech at the installation dinner held at the Log Cabin Restaurant in Kerhonkson.

Bell had spoken on the challenge and opportunity for the Republican party in 1968.

He reviewed some of the key races for the U. S. Senate, the House of Representatives, governorships, state legislators and the Presidency.

Bell said the GOP was going to have a magnificent year at the ballot box if the party maintained harmony and unity.

Following Bell's speech, Rochester Town Chairman A. Richard Terwilliger announced the Bell endorsement.

Terwilliger said the Rochester committee believed Bell "by reason of his training and experience is best qualified for the office of assemblyman."

The Town of Kingston controversy began when the town's two committeemen, Joseph Carcamo and Vic Reedy, announced that their two votes at the county convention would go to Bell.

Surprising Action

The action was considered surprising in that the town's

GOP chairman is Douglas V. Quilty, insurance man from Kingston.

Ferrigan Endorsed

The two committeemen from the Town of Kingston made another endorsement on the weekend, that of Robert Ferrigan for the post of sheriff.

Ferrigan had announced his availability for the post last week. The other announced candidate for the post is Thomas Mayone, special investigator for the district attorney's office.

The Town of Kingston controversy began when the town's two committeemen, Joseph Carcamo and Vic Reedy, announced that their two votes at the county convention would go to Bell.

Surprising Action
The action was considered surprising in that the town's

GOP chairman is Douglas V. Dye, majority leader on the County Legislature and committed to Savago.

It was Supervisor Donald F. Patton who issued a statement highly critical of the endorsement, claiming that "personal feelings" dictated the Carcamo-Reedy maneuver.

The two committeemen came back, charging they were "astounded" by Patton's criticism and suggesting that political wheeling and dealing was behind the Patton release.

Today, The Freeman received a release and eight petitions signed by 121 enrolled Republicans from the township requesting "that the Republican committee hold a meeting of party members to voice their views on the many announced candidates seeking nomination for assemblyman and sheriff."

Whether the strategy of the people circulating the petition is to reverse the Bell endorsement is not known at this time, but, according to an informed source, "it can only be seen as a move to drum up support for Savago."

Signers of the petition included Supervisor Patton and minority leader Dye.

Savago and Bell are two of the announced candidates for the assembly post. The others include William D. Brinnier of Saugerties, the law partner of GOP town chairman Louis P. Francello and Lawrence A.

Quilty, insurance man from Kingston.

Other names mentioned as considering making the run are City of Kingston 12th Ward Alderman John Machione and radio station WGHQ President Harry Thayer.

The two committeemen from the Town of Kingston made another endorsement on the weekend, that of Robert Ferrigan for the post of sheriff.

Sales Tax Statistics!

Nineteen more counties and three Upstate cities including Kingston imposed sales and use taxes which became effective March 1 and as a result of these enactments 29 of the state's 57 counties outside New York City have sales and use levies.

The cities in addition to Kingston that now have sales and use taxes are Fulton and Oswego. All have imposed a 2 per cent levy.

Of the 29 counties, only six had local sales and use taxes in effect prior to 1967. They include Broome, Chemung, Erie, Genesee, Jefferson, all 2 per cent, and Monroe, 3 per cent.

Four of the 29 had enacted sales levies which became effective during 1967. They include Tompkins 3 per cent; Ontario, Franklin, and Onondaga, all 2 per cent.

Chemung and Jefferson counties recently adopted local legislation effective March 1, increasing existing 2 per cent levies to the full 3 per cent permitted by state law.

With the addition of Kingston and two other Upstate cities who have imposed sales taxes there now 9 of the states 62 cities with local sales and use taxes.

Saratoga Springs will be the tenth when it 3 per cent levy becomes effective on June 1.

Two cities have repealed or suspended their local sales and use taxes because of the imposition of county-wide taxes.

Syracuse discontinued its 1 per cent levy on Dec. 1, last when the new Onondaga County sales tax became effective.

Plattsburgh suspended its sale levy March 1 when the newly enacted Clinton County sales and use tax became effective.

Four other city sales and use taxes imposed prior to 1967 remain in effect unchanged. They include Auburn 2 per cent; New York City 3 per cent; Niagara Falls 3 per cent, and Poughkeepsie 1 per cent.

Bank Suspect Is Sought

State police are still searching for Harry W. Yates, 22, who is suspected of robbing a bank in Callicoon of $13,400 Thursday. A search is also out for an unidentified motorist who gave Yates a ride to Roscoe.

Yates, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Yates, now of Liberty but formerly of Highland, is believed to be in Philadelphia. His father is a former Highland teacher.

Michael Lisman, senior investigator for the State Police, today reconstructed the holdup and escape in a Freeman interview.

Lisman said Yates held up a cabdriver, Alfred Conklin, 62, of Liberty, near Jeffersonville. The robbery suspect then locked Conklin in the trunk of the cab and took off for Callicoon.

After the robbery in Callicoon, Yates escaped down

Fremont Center road, subsequently running off the road into a field about a half mile south of the Sky Top Airport.

He left the car with Conklin still locked in the trunk. Conklin eventually escaped by using a pair of pliers in the trunk.

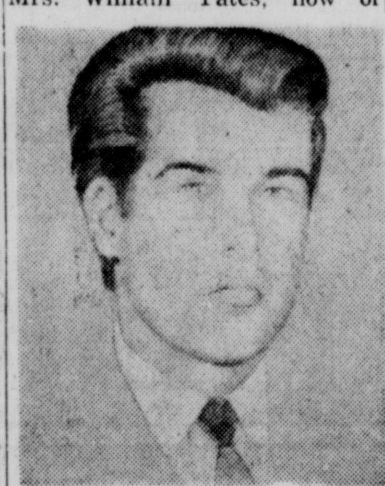

Yates, meanwhile, hitchhiked into Roscoe, took a taxi to Binghamton and flew to Philadelphia.

Police are searching for the motorist who gave Yates the lift into Roscoe. They say they're sure Yates got a ride and did not walk into Roscoe.

because there was a work crew a short distance from the field into a field about a half mile south of the Sky Top Airport. Four cars passed the work crew. Two have been identified.

Yates is described as 5-11 in height and weighing 130 pounds. He has long brown hair. He is charged with two counts of first degree armed robbery, grand larceny and kidnapping.

Supervising the investigation is State Police Captain Richard E. Boland.

Set May 18 for Inauguration Of UCCC President Dr. Erbstein

Saturday, May 18, tentatively has been set for the formal inauguration of Dr. George B. Erbstein as the second president of Ulster County Community College.

The afternoon ceremony, which is open to the public, will be conducted outdoors in the Library Plaza of the College's Stone Ridge campus.

The College Chorus plans to present an "Inaugural Concert" in recognition of the formal inauguration of Dr. Erbstein. That concert, also open to the public, will be presented on Sunday afternoon, May 19, at the J. Watson Bailey School in Kingston.

Plans for the inauguration are being made by a committee composed of college trustees, administrators, faculty members and students.

The members include John C. Quimby, Louis Berger and Mrs. George F. Bushnell, college

Micari Returns

Boilerman Third Class Vincent H. Micari, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent N. Micari of 176 Wilbur Avenue, and husband of the former Miss Nancy E. Conti of 1434 Green street, Rockford, Ill., has returned to San Diego, Calif., aboard the repair ship USS Klondike following a seven month deployment off the coast of Vietnam.

Bank Suspect Is Sought

State police are still searching for Harry W. Yates, 22, who is suspected of robbing a bank in Callicoon of $13,400 Thursday. A search is also out for an unidentified motorist who gave Yates a ride to Roscoe.

Yates, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Yates, now of Liberty but formerly of Highland, is believed to be in Philadelphia. His father is a former Highland teacher.

Michael Lisman, senior investigator for the State Police, today reconstructed the holdup and escape in a Freeman interview. Lisman said Yates held up a cabdriver, Alfred Conklin, 62, of Liberty, near Jeffersonville. The robbery suspect then locked Conklin in the trunk of the cab and took off for Callicoon.

After the robbery in Callicoon, Yates escaped down

Fremont Center road, subsequently running off the road into a field about a half mile south of the Sky Top Airport. He left the car with Conklin still locked in the trunk. Conklin eventually escaped by using a pair of pliers in the trunk.

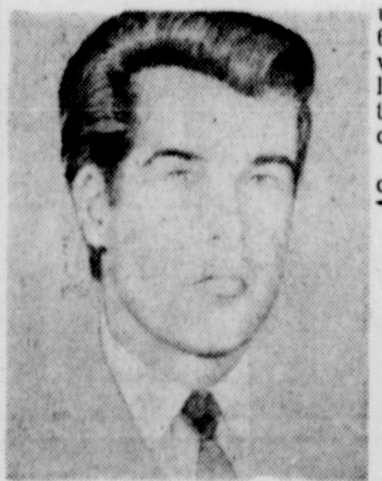

Yates, meanwhile, hitchhiked into Roscoe, took a taxi to Binghamton and flew to Philadelphia.

Police are searching for the motorist who gave Yates the lift into Roscoe. They say they're sure Yates got a ride in State Police Captain Richard E. Boland.

because there was a work crew on a short distance from the field. Yates drove into and they did not see him walking down the road. Four cars passed the identified.

Yates is described as 5-11 in height and weighing 130 pounds. He has long brown hair. He is charged with two counts of first degree armed robbery, grand larceny and kidnapping.

Supervising the investigation is State Police Captain Richard E. Boland.

GIRL SCOUT WEEK—Alderman-at-Large T. Robert Gallo, extends congratulations to Mrs. Randolph Siegel, president of the Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts, and all the scouts in the county who started 56th anniversary celebrations yesterday. A variety of events are planned for the week. Girl Scouts of America was founded March 12, 1912 and had local beginnings with the founding of the county council in 1931. The council is a member agency of the Ulster County Community Chest. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Sales Tax Statistics!

Nineteen more counties and three Upstate cities including Kingston imposed sales and use taxes which became effective March 1 and as a result of these enactments 29 of the state's 57 counties outside New York City have sales and use levies.

The cities in addition to Kingston that now have sales and use taxes are Fulton and Oswego. All have imposed a 2 per cent levy.

Of the 29 counties, only six had local sales and use taxes in effect prior to 1967. They include Broome, Chemung, Erie, Genesee, Jefferson, all 2 per cent, and Monroe, 3 per cent.

Four of the 29 had enacted sales levies which became effective during 1967. They include Tompkins 3 per cent; Onondaga, Franklin, and Onondaga, all 2 per cent.

Chemung and Jefferson counties recently adopted local legislation effective March 1, increasing existing 2 per cent levies to the full 3 per cent permitted by state law.

With the addition of Kingston and two other Upstate cities who have imposed sales taxes there now 9 of the states 62 cities with local sales and use taxes.

Saratoga Springs will be the tenth when it 3 per cent levy becomes effective on June 1.

Two cities have repealed or suspended their local sales and use taxes because of the imposition of county-wide taxes.

Syracuse discontinued its 1 per cent levy on Dec. 1, last when the new Onondaga County sales tax became effective.

Plattsburgh suspended its sale levy March 1 when the newly enacted Clinton County sales and use tax became effective.

Four other city sales and use taxes imposed prior to 1967 remain in effect unchanged. They include Auburn 2 per cent; New York City 3 per cent; Niagara Falls 3 per cent; Poughkeepsie 1 per cent.

Liberal Head In Senate Bid

The chairman of the Dutchess County Liberal Party will seek the designation of the party to run for State Senator.

The senate district, which includes Ulster and Dutchess, is the 38th.

Jay Kosseff declared, "I have officially notified Steven Korchowsky, Ulster County Liberal Chairman, of my intentions and have requested the support of the Ulster County Liberal Party."

Kosseff claimed, "Mr. Korchowsky has assured me that his organization will interview me in the near future."

Kosseff said he would "wage a vigorous campaign both for the nomination and for the office itself after nomination."

"This may require a primary fight which I am willing to wage. The people have a right to good representation. They will gain it in November," concluded Kosseff.

Kosseff is a mathematics teacher at the Rhinebeck Central School. He graduated from the New York State University at New Paltz in 1952 and received his masters degree at New York University in New York City in 1955.

A resident of Rhinebeck, he served in the U. S. Army in the Korean War.

A member of his local American Legion post and the American Civil Liberties Union, he belongs to Temple Emanuel in Kingston.

Clinic Slated

A clinic for immunizations against polio, whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus, and smallpox will be conducted by the Ulster County Health Department at the Tumor Clinic building, 400 Broadway on Friday, March 15 from 10:30 to 11:15 a. m.

Immunizations for whooping cough, diphtheria, and tetanus should be started at three months of age; smallpox vaccination should be given sometime during the first year of life and polio immunizations should be started from three to six months of age.

These clinics serve those who are referred by their physicians or those who are otherwise unable to secure these immunizations.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas—If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss . . . and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women, that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If they believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Many conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation. Adv.

Avenues of Employment, Education Are Open to Women

By DOROTHY A. NAREL

(First of Three-Part Series)

The educational needs of women, their problems and potentials were topics of discussion at the Conference on Education for Women held Friday, March 8 at Rockland Community College. And if Dr. Esther Westervelt has her way, women will poke holes in job structures throughout this country — that is if they want a better stake in the nation's work picture. That was the gist of what Dr. Westervelt told me at the conference on Friday. As director of the New York State Guidance Center for Women in Rockland County, Dr. Westervelt seems to have concluded that while the age of specialization is upon us, there is ample room for flexibility in job descriptions.

"There are many jobs that can be performed by a part-time worker, countless others that can be performed out of the office as well as in the office she said. In short, fitting jobs to the needs of women seems to be the greatest hurdle for Guidance Centers, vocational counseling centers, leadership workshops or employment opportunity programs. With women constituting almost 40 per cent of the work force, employment for women would seem to be a reasonable focal point from which to spring into the complex subject of job seeking.

And with more than 50 per cent of the female working force married, other problems must be confronted and solved.

The complex area of job employment for women was viewed from several vantage points at the Rockland County conference. Surprisingly enough — or perhaps not so surprising — the first half of the conference consisted of men trying to tell women what was best for them when in fact they were really discussing job opportunities for men. What was offered to disaffiliated members was the usual run of job training programs for clerks, typists, keypunch operators and the like. It wasn't until a panel of women discussed the issues that any realistic approach to the problem was made. Guin Hall, deputy commissioner for the Woman's Program, Department of Commerce, was panel moderator.

It was established that women can fit into the employment picture if they have, first a real desire to work, and second, if they have the courage to make sacrifices. As the panelists pointed out, a high school drop out can obtain a diploma either by attending adult education classes or by taking advantage of Urban Education Centers or established Mature Adult Programs. She can obtain a two year college education or four year college education if she is willing to take on a long range study program while maintaining a home and caring for her children. She can take advantage of off-campus courses or vocational programs. But, most important of all, if these facilities are not available to her in her community, she has to organize enough interest to see that these benefits are added to her community's way of life.

Reach Out
Dr. Sebastian V. Martorana, University Dean for Two Year Colleges, had a great deal to offer in the way of emphasizing the need for junior colleges and what they can offer a community. Dr. James Smoot, coordinator for State University Urban Centers also shed light on what model urban centers are doing for women in such parts of the state as Buffalo, Brooklyn and Albany.

An important point brought out by the speakers in behalf of Urban Centers, was if the students are not coming to the centers, the centers must go to the students. This particular method of reaching into the community in order to upgrade the educational standards of young people has met with considerable success in the Albany area. While its impact is felt by all students, enrollment figures for women are very high.

Counseling Service
But whether it be the drop out, the woman returning to the work world, a woman who wishes to study for a degree, one important ingredient must be at her fingertips — good counseling.

The Guidance Center for Women in Rockland County has met with sufficient success to make it important enough for other communities to do likewise.

To date, the Guidance Center offers individual guidance and counseling, vocational and educational testing, career information, group counseling, group guidance workshops, career information sessions, community "outreach" programs, and information dispensed through newspaper coverage and radios.

With such a service, a woman, either employed or returning to employment, can decide which avenue of effort will suit her wants, needs, problems and potentials.

Speakers Announced for Secretarial Seminar on March 18

The Colonial Valley Chapter of the National Secretaries Association (International) will sponsor a dinner-seminar on Monday, March 18, in Judie's Restaurant in Kingston. The program will be divided into four parts. Highlighting the program will be two speakers who will discuss the secretarial profession. One will cover today's secretarial assignments, and the other will discuss the positions of tomorrow. In addition, the evening program will consist of a film on basic electronic data processing and a brief review of selected secretarial subjects.

Robert Robertaccio, Assistant Superintendent of Schools of the Rondout Valley Central School District, will discuss the secretarial positions of today and their role as part of the management team in his talk, "Co-Pilot of the Business Office."

Mr. Robertaccio came to the area in July 1962 as Director of Guidance for the Rondout Valley district. In July 1964, he was appointed director of Pupil Personnel Services and in March, 1966, Assistant Superintendent for Pupil Personnel Services. Before entering the field of guidance, Mr. Robertaccio taught English in New York, Massachusetts, Tennessee, Florida and Alabama. In Alabama, he organized and administered new guidance programs and in New Rochelle, N. Y., he was a high school counselor.

Mr. Robertaccio's educational background includes a B. S. degree from Fordham University and an M. A. and Certificate of Advanced Studies from New York University. He has also done graduate work at the University of Florida and is currently enrolled in the doctoral program in educational administration at New York University.

In the summer of 1965, Mr. Robertaccio was a participant in an invitation Institute for Administrators of Pupil Personnel Services at Harvard University and in 1966 he was a participant in the Curriculum Conference for School Administrators on the Middle School at the State University in Albany. ROBERT A. ROBERTACCIO

Leland E. Heinze, Associate Professor of Journalism at the State University College of New Paltz, will discuss the subject of tomorrow's secretarial positions in his address, "Horizons Unlimited."

Mr. Heinze is also associated with the educational profession. He received his master's degree from Fort Hays Kansas State College and pursued additional journalism course work at the University of Missouri. Mr. Heinze's background is varied in both the educational and journalism fields. Subsequent to serving in the U. S. Army during World War II, Heinze was editor of the State College Leader, student newspaper of Fort Hays; correspondent for the Kansas City Star and, until 1950, correspondent for the United Press and International News Service. As an educator, Heinze taught journalism and associated subjects at Fort Hays, the University of Oregon, University of Missouri, Iowa State and Central Missouri State College. From 1955 to 1963, he served as Director of Information and Associate Professor of Journalism at the State University College of New Paltz. This position entailed the coordinating of public relations programs for the college.

Mr. Heinze is now serving as deputy mayor for the village of New Paltz. In addition, he is lay leader and vice president of the Board of Trustees of the New Paltz Methodist Church; a member of the Board of Directors of the New Paltz Student Christian Center as well as being affiliated with other civic activities. His professional organizational memberships include the Association for Education in Journalism, American College Public Relations Association, Sigma Delta Chi, Kappa Tau Alpha and the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. He has appeared in "Who's Who in American Education" since 1960 and "Who's Who in Public Relations, International" since 1962.

MR. AND MRS. MICHAEL MISASI of Glasco celebrated their 56th wedding anniversary on Sunday, Feb. 11, at the home of their nephew and his wife, Thomas and Florence Provenzano of Florida. The date also marked the 80th birthday of Mr. Misasi. The couple are the parents of 12 children and have 32 grandchildren and five great grandchildren. Born in Italy, Mr. Misasi, an adopted son, came to America in 1903 where he worked until he had saved enough money to buy a ticket that would bring a brother here. The two brothers worked and saved, and so it went "like a chain reaction" until two sisters, five brothers and his parents all had crossed the ocean to America.

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Q — I have taken calcium tablets for two years. Can one take too much calcium?

A — An adult should get about 800 milligrams of calcium a day. When much larger amounts are taken, practically all of the excess passes through the digestive tract and is not absorbed into the blood. An excess of calcium in the blood may, however, occur in such diseases as hyperthyroidism, vitamin D poisoning, multiple myeloma and sarcoidosis.

Q — My doctor, just by looking at me, said I had a lack of calcium. How could she tell without making any tests? What symptoms would it cause?

A — A lack of calcium may be diagnosed by determining the blood calcium level or by signs of decalcification of bones as seen in X-ray films. I know of no other way to tell.

Avenues of Employment, Education Are Open to Women

(First of Three-Part Series)

The educational needs of women, their problems and potentials were topics of discussion at the Conference on Education for Women held Friday, March 8 at Rockland Community College. And if Dr. Esther Westervelt has her way, women will poke holes in job structures throughout this country — that is if they want a better stake in the nation's work picture. That was the gist of what Dr. Westervelt told me at the conference on Friday. As director of the New York State Guidance Center for Women in Rockland County, Dr. Westervelt seems to have concluded that while the age of specialization is upon us, there is ample room for flexibility in job descriptions.

"There are many jobs that can be performed by a part-time worker, countless others that can be performed out of the office as well as in the office she said. In short, fitting jobs to the needs of women seems to be the greatest hurdle for Guidance Centers, vocational counseling centers, leadership workshops or employment opportunity programs. With women constituting almost 40 per cent of the work force, employment for women would seem to be a reasonable focal point from which to spring into the complex subject of job seeking.

And with more than 50 percent of the female working force married, other problems must be confronted and solved.

Guest Speakers

The complex area of job employment for women was viewed from several vantage points at the Rockland County conference. Surprisingly enough — or perhaps not so surprising — the first half of the conference consisted of men trying to tell women what was best for them when in fact they were really discussing job opportunities for men. What was offered to dislodge members was the usual run of job training programs for clerks, typists, keypunch operators and the like. It wasn't until a panel of women discussed the issues that any realistic approach to the problem was made. Guin Hall, deputy commissioner for the Woman's Program, Department of Commerce, was panel moderator.

It was established that women can fit into the employment picture if they have, first a real desire to work, and second, if they have the courage to make sacrifices. As the panelists pointed out, a high school drop out can obtain a diploma either by attending adult education classes or by taking advantage of Urban Education Centers or established Mature Adult Programs.

Owner of Grasmere--Patron of Arts

On March 2, approximately 230 patrons of the arts attended a social function in Rhinebeck which, undoubtedly, will lead all other social events this year as the grandest of grand balls.

And Louise Clews Timpson, the former Dutchess of Argyll, made it all possible by opening the doors to her palatial estate "Grasmere" for the occasion.

As owner of this historic, architectural beauty, Louise Clews Timpson gave The Playgoers, a committee working in behalf of the Hudson Valley Repertory Theatre, Inc., the proper setting for just such a formal, masked ball. Only one flaw. In a pictorial story on the ball in the March 4 issue of The Freeman, a guest had been erroneously identified by our photographer as Mrs. Timpson. But the real owner of Grasmere waved the incident aside with the grace befitting her station and background. It isn't the first nor will it be the last time that Mrs. Timpson will extend a helping hand to the arts. She has the distinction of being the force behind many such cultural ventures and her satisfaction lies in the fact that she helps make the world a better place in which to live. The arts—music, theatre, art and dance—still make the best yardstick by which to measure a country's culture and state of refinement.

The Hudson Valley Repertory Theatre is a non-profit organization governed by a board of directors. Its prime goal is to provide year-round theatre for this entire area. The idea has become reality and benefits, such as the masked ball, will aid the company in reaching a permanent status.

Mrs. David Gerbarg of Kingston, wife of a well known doctor, served as chairman of The Playgoers committee. While a report on the actual net proceeds has not been completed yet by the committee, Mrs. Gerbarg reports many in the area are already volunteering for next year's benefit. Mrs. Gerbarg would like to see this function become an annual event.

Working with Mrs. Gerbarg were Mrs. Jack Citroen and Mrs. Hal Martin on planning; Mrs. Gerard DeGree, Mrs. Morton Kamen, publicity; Mrs. Harvey Fite, Mrs. Herbert Siller, catering; Mrs. George V. Hutton Jr., Mrs. Robert Yallum, tickets and reservations; and Mrs. Max Lawrence, printing. Mrs. Gerbarg also told The Freeman that several dinner and cocktail parties were held preceding the ball both here and in the Rhinebeck-Red Hook-Annandale-on-Hudson area.

Thanks to Grasmere: The board of directors for the Repertory Company will extend its appreciation to the former Dutchess and the committee on arrangements, but how do you thank a mansion? If a structure has a personality and character, then I believe that "Grasmere" is enjoying the sunlight of self-content today knowing full well its own splendor was the plasma which gave the masked ball its life and its success.

LOUISE CLEWS TIMPSON

Duo Pianists Here on March 18th

Duo pianists VITYA VRONSKY and VICTOR BABIN are scheduled to perform with the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Orchestra on Sunday, March 17 at the Poughkeepsie High School Auditorium, and Monday, March 18, in the Kingston Community Theatre, Broadway, Kingston.

Both concerts will begin at 8:30 p. m. and will be conducted by Claude Monteux.

Vitya Vronsky and Victor Babin, although both born in Russia, did not meet until their late teens when they journeyed to Berlin to study with Arthur Schnabel. While each pursued individual study and concert activity, romance compelled them to take two decisive steps: they became Mr. and Mrs. Babin and merged their careers to create a glowing art all their own.

The artists came to the United States preceded by echoes of their fabulous successes in London. No less an artist than famed pianist Josef Hofmann wrote glowing accounts of their performances to American impresarios. The team has always collected such approbation from their colleagues. The great composer Rachmaninoff not only praised their playing but transcribed his Symphonic Dances, Opus 45 for duo-piano. While he was working on the arrangement, he invited the young pianists to his home and promised that they would play the first performance, which they did, at Carnegie Hall on December 8, 1942.

With time out for the years of World War II, when Vitya Vronsky worked with war casualties in Washington, D. C. and hospitals while Victor Babin served in the American Armed Forces, the artists can look back over more than a quarter of a century of intense musical activity. During this span, they have given over 1300 concerts in North America alone, and have appeared as soloists with virtually every major orchestra on the continent.

When they began their career in America, few works were written for duo-piano, but the team's unique artistry inspired such composers as Lo-patnikoff, Arthur Benjamin and Darius Milhaud to pen scores for them.

Today, parallel with concert activities, they are active as educators in Cleveland, Ohio, where Dr. Babin is Director of the Cleveland Institute of Music, while Miss Vronsky is artist-in-residence in the same institution.

In addition to his work as an educator and concert artist Dr. Babin is extremely prolific composer. His compositions now include numerous orchestral, instrumental, vocal and chamber music works, as well as transcriptions for two pianos and they are performed throughout the world.

The Babins share their residence between Cleveland, during the concert season, and their adobe house in Santa Fe, New Mexico, in what vacation months they permit themselves.

The coming programs will open with Monteux conducting the orchestra in Rossini's Overture to "William Tell," followed by Mozart's Concerto in F Major, for two pianos and orchestra, K.242. After a brief intermission, the program will resume with Benjamin Britten's Scottish Ballad, for two pianos and orchestra, and Moussorgsky-Ravel's "Pictures at an Exhibition." Tickets will be available at the doors in Poughkeepsie and Kingston.

Comments on UCCC Art Exhibit

Fernando Valdivia, member of the faculty at Ulster County Community College, had the following comments to make about the current art exhibit in the John Burroughs building.

"How many times when scanning the drama section of the Sunday Times have we stopped to admire with familiar appreciation that famous sketch of Jack Benny that so effortlessly evoked more laughter than any punchline ever could.

"Bouche has been called 'a master of social portraiture,' and the current exhibition of his work at Gallery Hall in the John Burroughs Science Building at Ulster County Community College certainly confirms that opinion, for of the 27 paintings and drawings on display 21 are portraits.

"Creator of the classic advertising style of Elizabeth Arden and a regular contributor to Vogue, Bouche's style is unique, with an emphasis on freedom and grace of line as evidenced in his dynamic sketch of Toscanini—beneath a cloud of white hair, little more than thick black eyebrows and a baton, and yet the resemblance is unmistakable.

"Bouche's palette was as spare and controlled as his line, but he used it to great effect—a bright red scarf adding dash to his portrait of Anita Loos; upward illumination suffusing the late Vivien Leigh with appropriate theatrical glamor; and rich reds and wines contrasting strongly with Pony Bouche's esoteric features.

caught and held for posterity the essential Benny—that eloquent pause that has for years evoked more laughter than any punchline ever could.

Marist Lists Lecture-Film Series

The Department of Modern Languages at Marist College, Poughkeepsie, New York will sponsor a series of lectures, films, and readings as part of the program of "Modern Language Week" being held in the Theater of Champaign Hall.

The week's activity will initiate on Sunday, March 10th at 8:00 p. m. with a film entitled "The Blue Angel." The dialog of the movie will be in German with subtitles in English. The following evening at 7:30 p. m. students from the college will recite poetry readings in French, German, Italian, Russian and Spanish. Copies of the readings will be provided for visitors in both the same evening the masterpiece foreign and English text. The film "Poli de Carotte," directed by Julien Duvivier, will be presented in French with English subtitles.

Tuesday, March 12th at 8:00 p. m. Professor Robert Magidoff, Chairman of the All-University Slavic Department at New York University, will deliver a lecture entitled "The case of the Permanent Thaw" which deals with the literary climate in Russia today.

Perhaps the best filmed version of Don Quixote will be presented in the Marist Theater at 8:00 p. m. on Wednesday. The two-hour, color film was directed by Grigory Kozintsev in Russia. The film is accompanied with an English dialog. The next night at 7:00 p. m. Mrs. Eva Plaut, lecturer in Art is invited to attend.

at Marist, will deliver her lecture on "European Painting." Mrs. Plaut has had her work exhibited both in Britain and the United States. The same evening at 8:30 p. m. Verdi's opera "Aida" will be presented.

The final evening of the Modern Language Week program will consist of folk singing in various modern tongues. This March 15th presentation will host the Poughkeepsie High School German Band under the direction of Mrs. Cornel Hege-

Not all of the portraits are of famous people, and it makes little difference whether one recognizes the subject or not because the paintings can be appreciated on a purely artistic level. Professor Ruth Muroff, the college's Visual Arts Coordinator, organized the exhibit.

For example, side by side are two paintings that together reflect Bouche's range of mood, characterization and composition. "The Sailors" is a perceptive study of two boozey blue-jackets and their girls, while "The Couple" is a whimsical picture of a baker and his yeasty spouse.

The show will remain until March 29th, and as a special treat, Michael Bouche, the artist's son, will deliver a lecture on March 14th at 1:30 p. m. in Room 415 at the Ulster Community College, Stone Ridge. Admission is free and the public is invited to attend.

Card Parties Clinton Chapter

A public pinocle card party will be held on Tuesday evening, Mar. 12, for the benefit of Clinton Chapter No. 445, at Masonic Temple, 31 Albany Avenue.

There will be awards and refreshments.

Take Work Out of Housework

By POLLY CRAMER

There is no more rewarding occupation than being a good homemaker no matter whether you're a working wife, a full-time mother of young children or one half of a retired couple.

But the best homemakers are not slaves to housework. You and I both know women like that but let's hope these near fanatics are few and far between.

Most of us—the wise ones, I hope—follow the middle road and have some time left over for our families, for worthwhile outside activities and, hopefully, for the things we like to do for our own selfish pleasure.

This middle-of-the-road group is always on the lookout for short cuts in doing everyday tasks. That's the reason given by many of the hundreds of thousands of readers who have allowed me to share their time and money saving tips with you in my daily column. Some of the best of those hints have been collected in POLLY'S HOME MAKING POINTERS which has just become available in a paperback edition by Berkley Publishing Co.

This article is the first of a five-part special series containing some of the most popular pointers from the book.

"To anchor your garbage can against strong winds or stray dogs, set it inside an old car tire."

"Most children's shoes make black marks here and there on the floor. By using an ordinary pencil eraser these can be taken off without hurting the wax job or scrubbing so hard."

"I use up and down strokes on the inside but go crossways on the outside. Any smears left when the job is done are easily removed as I know which side they are on. Also, crumple newspaper is wonderful for rubbing window glass to a shine."

"I have always washed the window screens with a brush in a small tub. The other day I decided to fill my wheelbarrow with hot water and some cleanser. This made the job so much easier as I could lay each screen in the wheelbarrow and use a car brush with a handle. Next I rinsed them off with the hose. The wheelbarrow had been placed near the hose to save steps."

"When tacking anything, I put the tacks in a paper cup and snap it to the belt of my dress with a spring-type clothespin."

"I always had trouble with round things like lipstick and deodorant containers rolling around in the medicine chest shelf. I took two small juice cans, covered them with attractive adhesive-backed paper (they could be painted) and then taped one of them on the underside of each end of the top shelf with the openings facing out. Now these small things are handy and take up no shelf space."

Owner of Grasmere--Patron of Arts

On March 2, approximately 230 patrons of the arts attended a social function in Rhinebeck which, undoubtedly, will lead all other social events this year as the grandest of grand balls.

And Louise Clews Timpson, the former Duchess of Argyll, made it all possible by opening the doors to her palatial estate "Grasmere" for the occasion.

As owner of this historic, architectural beauty, Louise Clews Timpson gave The Playgoers, a committee working in behalf of the Hudson Valley Repertory Theatre, Inc., the proper setting for just such a formal, masked ball. Only one flaw. In a pictorial story on the ball in the March 4 issue of The Freeman, a guest had been erroneously identified by our photographer as Mrs. Timpson. But the real owner of Grasmere waved the incident aside with the grace befitting her station and background.

It isn't the first nor will it be the last time that Mrs. Timpson will extend a helping hand to the arts. She has the distinction of being the force behind many such cultural ventures and her satisfaction lies in the fact that she helps make the world a better place in which to live. The arts—music, theatre, art and dance—still make the best yardstick by which to measure a country's culture and state of refinement.

The Hudson Valley Repertory Theatre is a non-profit organization governed by a board of directors. Its prime goal is to provide year-round theatre for this entire area. The idea has become reality and benefits, such as the masked ball, will aid the company in reaching a permanent status.

Mrs. David Gerbarg of Kingston, wife of a well known doctor, served as chairman of The Playgoers committee. While a report on the actual net proceeds has not been completed yet by the committee, Mrs. Gerbarg reports many in the area are already volunteering for next year's benefit. Mrs. Gerbarg would like to see this function become an annual event.

Working with Mrs. Gerbarg were Mrs. Jack Citroen and Mrs. Hal Martin on planning; Mrs. Gerard DeGre, Mrs. Morton Kamen, publicity; Mrs. Harvey Fite, Mrs. Herbert Siller, catering; Mrs. George V. Hutton Jr., Mrs. Robert Vallum, tickets and reservations; and Mrs. Max Lawrence, printing.

Mrs. Gerbarg also told The Freeman that several dinner and cocktail parties were held preceding the ball both here and in the Rhinebeck-Red Hook-Annandale-on-Hudson area.

Thanks to Grasmere

The board of directors for the Repertory Company will extend its appreciation to the former Duchess and the committee on arrangements, but how do you thank a mansion? If a structure has a personality and character, then I believe that "Grasmere" is enjoying the sunlight of self-content today knowing full well its own splendor was the plasma which gave the masked ball its life and its success.

LOUISE CLEWS TIMPSON

Duo Pianists Here on March 18th

Duo pianists VITYA VRONSKY and VICTOR BABIN are scheduled to perform with the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Orchestra on Sunday, March 17 at the Poughkeepsie High School Auditorium, and Monday, March 18, in the Kingston Community Theatre, Broadway, Kingston.

Both concerts will begin at 8:30 p. m. and will be conducted by Claude Montoux.

Vitya Vronsky and Victor Babin, although both born in Russia, did not meet until their late teens when they journeyed to Berlin to study with Arthur Schnabel. While each pursued individual study and concert activity, romance compelled them to take two decisive steps; they became Mr. and Mrs. Babin and merged their careers to create a glowing art all their own.

The artists came to the United States preceded by echoes of their fabulous successes in London. No less an artist than famed pianist Josef Hofmann wrote glowing accounts of their performances to American impresarios. The team has always collected such approbation from their colleagues. The great composer Rachmaninoff not only praised their playing but transcribed his Symphonic Dances, Opus 45 for duo-piano. While he was working on the arrangement, he invited the young pianists to his home and promised that they would play the first performance, which they did, at Carnegie Hall on December 8, 1942.

With time out for the years of World War II, when Vitya Vronsky worked with war casualties in Washington, D. C., and hospitals while Victor Babin served in the American Armed Forces, the artists can look back over more than a quarter of a century of intense musical activity. During this span, they have given over 1300 concerts in North America alone, and have appeared as soloists with virtually every major orchestra on the continent. When they began their career in America, few works were written for duo-piano, but the team's unique artistry inspired such composers as Lopatoff, Arthur Benjamin and Darius Milhaud to pen scores for them.

Today, parallel with concert activities, they are active as educators in Cleveland, Ohio, where Dr. Babin is Director of the Cleveland Institute of Music, while Miss Vronsky is artist-in-residence in the same institution.

In addition to his work as an educator and concert artist, Dr. Babin is extremely prolific composer. His compositions now include numerous orchestral, instrumental, vocal and chamber music works, as well as transcriptions for two pianos and they are performed throughout the world.

The Babins share their residence between Cleveland, during the concert season, and their adobe house in Santa Fe, New Mexico, in what vacation months they permit themselves.

The coming programs will open with Montoux conducting the orchestra in Rossini's Overture to "William Tell," followed by Mozart's Concerto in F Major, for two pianos and orchestra, K.242. After a brief intermission, the program will resume with Benjamin Britten's Scottish Ballad, for two pianos and orchestra, and Moussorgsky-Ravel's "Pictures at an Exhibition." Tickets will be available at the doors in Poughkeepsie and Kingston.

Comments on UCCC Art Exhibit

Fernando Valdivia, member of the faculty at Ulster County Community College, had the following comments to make about the current art exhibit in the John Burroughs building.

"How many times when scanning the drama section of the Sunday Times have we stopped to admire with familiar appreciation that famous sketch of Jack Benny that so effortlessly captured the somewhat wistful tilt of his head and the graceful drape of those expressive hands. In that beautifully stylized portrait, Rene Bouche caught and held for posterity the essential Benny—that eloquent pause that has for years evoked more laughter than any punline ever could.

"Bouche has been called 'a master of social portraiture,' and the current exhibition of his work at Gallery Hall in the John Burroughs Science Building at Ulster County Community College certainly confirms that opinion. For of the 27 paintings and drawings on display 21 are portraits.

"Creator of the classic advertising style of Elizabeth Arden and a regular contributor to Vogue, Bouche's style is unique, with an emphasis on freedom and grace of line as evidenced in his dynamic sketch of Toscanini—beneath a cloud of white hair, little more than thick black eyebrows and a baton, and yet the resemblance is unmistakable.

"Bouche's palette was as spare and controlled as his line, but he used it to great effect—a bright red scarf adding dash to his portrait of Anita Loos; upward illumination suffusing the late Vivien Leigh with appropriate theatrical glamor; and rich reds and wines contrasting strongly with Pony Bouche's escetic features.

Marist Lists Lecture-Film Series

The Department of Modern Languages at Marist College, Poughkeepsie, New York will sponsor a series of lectures, films, and readings as part of the program of "Modern Language Week" being held in the Theater of Champagnat Hall.

The week's activity will initiate on Sunday, March 10th at 8:00 p. m. with a film entitled "The Blue Angel." The dialog of the movie will be in German with subtitles in English. The following evening at 7:30 p. m. students from the college will recite poetry readings in French, German, Italian, Russian and Spanish. Copies of the readings will be provided for visitors in both the same evening the masterpiece foreign and English text. The film "Poli de Carotte," directed by Julien Duvivier, will be presented in French with English subtitles.

Tuesday, March 12th at 8:00 p. m. Professor Robert Magidoff, Chairman of the All-University Slavic Department at New York University, will deliver a lecture entitled "The case of the Permanent Thaw" which deals with the literary climate in Russia today.

Perhaps the best filmed version of Don Quixote will be presented in the Marist Theater at 8:00 p. m. on Wednesday. The two-hour, color film was directed by Grigory Kozintsev in Russia. The film is accompanied with an English dialog. The next night at 7:00 p. m. Mrs. Eva Plaut, lecturer in Art at Marist, will deliver her lecture on "European Painting," exhibited both in Britain and the United States. The same evening at 8:30 p. m. Verdi's opera "Aida" will be presented.

The final evening of the Modern Language Week program will consist of folk singing in various modern tongues. This March 15th presentation will host the Poughkeepsie High School German Band under the direction of Mrs. Cornel Hege-

Not all of the portraits are of famous people, and it makes little difference whether one recognizes the subject or not because the paintings can be appreciated on a purely artistic level. Professor Ruth Muroff, the college's Visual Arts Coordinator, organized the exhibit. For example, side by side are two paintings that together reflect Bouche's range of mood, characterization and composition. "The Sailors" is a perceptive study of two boozey blue-jackets and their girls, while "The Couple" is a whimsical flour-white and pink-faced picture of a baker, and his yeasty spouse.

The show will remain until March 29th, and as a special treat, Michael Bouche, the artist's son, will deliver a lecture on March 14th at 1:30 p. m. in Room 415 at the Ulster County College, Stone Ridge. Admission is free and the public is invited to attend.

Card Parties Clinton Chapter

A public pinocle card party will be held on Tuesday evening, Mar. 12, for the benefit of Clinton Chapter No. 445, at Masonic Temple, 31 Albany Avenue.

There will be awards and refreshments.

Extra Care Needed While Waiting

By PATRICIA KING

NEA Beauty Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — While pregnancy is the happy prelude to the biggest event in a woman's life, it can also be a dangerous careless weight-gaining nine months.

Although this period can be awkward, you needn't feel un-gainly or uncomfortable or that you're getting in your own way. This can be a healthy, happy and beautiful time for you if you make it so. However, it will take a little extra care.

In most cases, during pregnancy your body is in good condition because of the special medical care you're getting. Nature helps by pouring out a plentiful supply of beauty-giving hormones. But, in addition, you must do your part by watching your weight, giving special consideration to your complexion, hair and make-up and by getting lots of rest.

It should be obvious that at this particular time you need all the extra attention you can give yourself. Unfortunately, many women think that because they are out of shape they look unattractive anyway, so why bother? But your husband and children especially want you to look your prettiest and well-groomed while you play the waiting game.

According to the chief of obstetrics at Roosevelt Hospital in New York City, the most important thing to watch is your weight for medical as well as cosmetic reasons. Watch your intake of starches and sugar and keep your weight gain down to between 15 and 20 pounds.

Be discriminating about fattening foods but especially the first three months. That's when you gain the quickest.

That old chestnut about eating for two should no longer be taken seriously unless, of course, you desire to wind up as two of you after the birth of your baby.

Your waist will be the first of your figure to go. But don't stop exercising. Ask your doctor for a mild exercise. You've got to remain physically active and walking is a good way to do it. When you rest after a brisk walk, be sure to get your feet up to prevent unsightly varicose veins.

On the fashion side, choose dresses (the one-piece styles are the most flattering) in colors most becoming to you. Stick to styles that are simple, well-cut, have room for expansion and have a minimum of fluff and ornamentation. Don't adorn yourself with attention-getting jewelry.

By all means, don't be carried away with exotic, highly styled or Alice-in-Wonderland hair styles. Don't think you'll divert attention from your tummy by doing something wild to your look with a simple hair-do that is easy to maintain. Be sure to be faithful to your brushing and keep your locks clean and sparkling.

As for make-up, the natural, wholesome look is always the best for mothers-to-be. Heavily made-up eyes don't really deliver with message that goes with impending motherhood and since you're naturally pretty, now you can soften the cosmetic approach.

Keep busy all the time but most of all about three weeks before your due date. That ninth month can seem 27 years long.

TO STAY BEAUTIFULLY WHOLESOME while you play the lady-in-waiting game continue to eat sensibly, exercise daily and continue proper care of your skin. Fresh fruit is far less dangerous than a piece of pie or candy and with the proper style maternity clothes you can camouflage the new shape you're in. For awhile, anyway.

Sorosis Has Meeting

Sorosis of Kingston met on Monday, March 4, in the home of Mrs. Harold Schaefer of Hurley. The president, Mrs. Thomas Reynolds, presided and Mrs. James Shelhorse led devotions.

Miss Martha Freer, who traveled in Europe last summer, gave an illustrated program on the life of Michaelangelo.

A social hour was held after the meeting.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: Have you ever tried to save time by soaking yourself in the bathtub while setting your hair? Just prop your mirror on the faucets.

Most tubs have a ledge that will hold small personal things. I think this is quite relaxing and timesaving.

MR. S. J. Fantasia: Honey, chile — I just love you. I'll bet you're the first woman who ever thought of soaking her tight muscles in hot water while trying to do something else. You're the greatest.

Love, Heloise

Dear Heloise: My kitchen door was ugly looking as the paint was peeling, so here's what I did.

I bought some burlap in a color to match the rest of my kitchen and cut it the size of the door. Bound the edges of the burlap with a matching bias tape, then tacked it on the door.

I removed the doorknob and cut a small hole in the burlap for the shaft to go through, then replaced the knob.

This let the burlap lay nice and smooth. It not only looks attractive, but it makes an excellent kitchen bulletin-board.

Pat Barkley

Dear Heloise: Here's another idea to put those covers from spray cans to use.

Save them until summer for the children to use in their sandpile or play pool.

My grandchildren had a wonderful time with them last year making mudpies and building castles.

Mrs. J. L. K.

Dear Heloise: My husband came up with a good idea which others might like to use.

He keeps a small magnifying glass in the glove compartment of our car to use for reading road maps when we're traveling.

It sure has been handy for me since I'm the one who usually has to check the map.

Wife Martha

Letter of Laughter: Dear Heloise: I hope you've received all the thought waves of thanks I've sent you!

Ceebie Gee

I have you tuned in, hon, and you're indeed welcome.

Heloise

Dear Heloise: My children love "corn cakes." These are pancakes made with leftover corn (whole or cream style) stirred into the batter.

Sure is a different change.

Jane Carman

Sure was. And great, too, may I say? Thanks.

Love, Heloise

Extra Care Needed While Waiting

By PATRICIA KING
NEA Beauty Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — While pregnancy is the happy prelude to the biggest event in a woman's life, it can also be a dangerous careless weight-gaining nine months.

Although this period can be awkward, you needn't feel un-gainly or uncomfortable or that you're getting in your own way. This can be a healthy, happy and beautiful time for you if you make it so. However, it will take a little extra care.

In most cases, during pregnancy your body is in good condition because of the special medical care you're getting. Nature helps by pouring out a plentiful supply of beauty-giving hormones. But, in addition, you must do your part by watching your weight, giving special consideration to your complexion, hair and make-up and by getting lots of rest.

It should be obvious that at this particular time you need all the extra attention you can give yourself. Unfortunately, many women think that because they are out of shape they look unattractive anyway.

so why bother? But your husband and children especially want you to look your prettiest and well-groomed while you play the waiting game.

According to the chief of obstetrics at Roosevelt Hospital in New York City, the most important thing to watch is your weight for medical as well as cosmetic reasons. Watch your intake of starches and sugar and keep your weight gain down to between 15 and 20 pounds.

Be discriminating about fattening foods but especially in the first three months. That's when you gain the quickest. That old chestnut about eating for two should no longer be taken seriously unless, of course, you desire to wind up as two of you after the birth of your baby.

Your waist will be the first of your figure to go. But don't stop exercising. Ask your doctor for a mild exercise. You've got to remain physically active and walking is a good way to do it. When you rest after a brisk walk, be sure to get your feet up to prevent unsightly varicose veins.

On the fashion side, choose dresses (the one-piece styles are the most flattering) in colors most becoming to you. Stick to styles that are simple, well-cut, have room for expansion and have a minimum of fluff and ornamentation. Don't adorn yourself with attention-getting jewelry.

By all means, don't be carried away with exotic, highly styled or Alice-in-Wonderland hair styles. Don't think you'll divert attention from your tummy by doing something wild to your look with a simple hair-do that is easy to maintain. Be sure to be faithful to your brushing and keep your locks clean and sparkling.

As for make-up, the natural, wholesome look is always the best for mothers-to-be. Heavily made-up eyes don't really deliver with message that goes with impending motherhood and since you're naturally pretty, now you can soften the cosmetic approach.

Keep busy all the time but most of all about three weeks before your due date. That ninth month can seem 27 years long.

TO STAY BEAUTIFULLY WHOLESOME while you play the lady-in-waiting game continue to eat sensibly, exercise daily and continue proper care of your skin. Fresh fruit is far less dangerous than a piece of pie or candy and with the proper style maternity clothes you can camouflage the new shape you're in. For awhile, anyway.

Sorosis Has Meeting

Sorosis of Kingston met on Monday, March 4, in the home of Mrs. Harold Schaefer of Hurley. The president, Mrs. Thomas Reynolds, presided and Mrs. James Shelhorse led devotions. Miss Martha Freer, who traveled in Europe last summer, gave an illustrated program on the life of Michaelangelo. A social hour was held after the meeting.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Have you ever tried to save time by soaking yourself in the bathtub while setting your hair? Just prop your mirror on the faucets.

Most tubs have a ledge that will hold small personal things. I think this is quite relaxing and timesaving.

MR. S. J. Fantasia: Honey chile — I just love you — I'll bet you're the first woman who ever thought of soaking her tight muscles in hot water while trying to do something else. You're the greatest.

Love, Heloise

Dear Heloise:

My kitchen door was ugly looking as the paint was peeling, so here's what I did.

I bought some burlap in a color to match the rest of my kitchen and cut it the size of the door. Bound the edges of the burlap with a matching bias tape, then tacked it on the door.

I removed the doorknob and cut a small hole in the burlap for the shaft to go through, then replaced the knob.

This let the burlap lay nice and smooth.

Pat Barkley

Dear Heloise:

Here's another idea to put those covers from spray cans to use:

Save them until summer for the children to use in their sandpile or play pool.

My grandchildren had a wonderful time with them last year making mudpies and building castles.

Mrs. J. L. K.

Dear Heloise:

My husband came up with a good idea which others might like to use.

He keeps a small magnifying glass in the glove compartment of our car to use for reading road maps when we're traveling.

It sure has been handy for me since I'm the one who usually has to check the map.

Letter of Laughter

Dear Heloise:

I hope you've received all the thought waves of thanks I've sent you!

Ceebie Gee

I have you tuned in, hon, and you're indeed welcome.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

My children love "corn cakes." These are pancakes made with leftover corn (whole or cream style) stirred into the batter. Sure is a different change.

Jane Carman

Sure was. And great, too, may I say? Thanks.

Love, Heloise

Highland Falls Winner

Liberty Tops Dukers
In Section Nine 'C'...

IT WAS A HAPPY ending for Gardner Dickinson who departed from his usual unemotional expression to manage a grin after winning the $100,000 Doral Open, despite a double-bogie 6 on the 72nd hole. He finished with 13-under-par 275, earning $20,000 first prize. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Just an Old Habit

Dickinson Almost Kicked Doral Away

MAIMI (AP)—Gardner Dickinson three bogeys and a double bogey. It was the worst round of the tournament for both of them.

Dickinson wound up with a par 72 for a 13-under-par 275. Weiskopf took a 74 for 276.

Weiskopf, who missed a 10-foot putt at the 18th that would have thrown the match into a sudden-death playoff, had the satisfaction of taking over the lead in the 1968 money-winning race.

His $12,000 check ran his bankroll to $52,546 and shoved him ahead of Canadian George Knudson, who failed to survive the 36-hole cut here following consecutive victories at Phoenix and Tucson.

Surgling from three strokes behind to tie Dickinson in a dramatic stretch run, Weiskopf blew it with a closing pair of bogeys and his 40-year-old foe walked away with the $20,000 top prize.

"I hate a finish like that," said a deadpanned Dickinson, "but I've got the check in my pocket."

The dramatic last-round duel, starting with the two men in a deadlock, was so tense that Weiskopf posted five bogeys and

Marlboro Fades
In 4th Quarter

The only Ulster county team left in the Section Nine playoffs in Kingston. The last two representatives residing in the county (partially for one) were bumped off Saturday, but not without putting up a fight in Class C.

The first to get knocked off was the Iron Dukers of Marlboro. They succumbed to a Liberty team that possessed superior height. By the end of the game, the height wore down the Dukers of the UCAL and Liberty, trailing almost throughout, came on to take a 71-57 win.

The second contest at Valley Central saw the UCAL's Pine Bush (one-fourth of the students live in Ulster) shock favored Highland Falls in the first quarter. The Bushmen surprisingly took a 12-10 lead. The second quarter saw HF wake up, play fine basketball and wind up on top, 71-50.

In Class D, Tuxedo buried Jeff-Youngsville 70-43 while Chester's superior height just barely got by Delaware Valley (Callicoon), 50-44.

The Iron Dukers carried as much as a seven-point lead in the third period. Up by 52-43, Marlboro's lead was cut to two, 54-52 by the end of the quarter.

Hunt by Fools

In severe foul trouble, the Dukers couldn't keep up the stiff defense against Liberty's two 6-foot-5 inside men, Steven Osterhout and Jim Dinnerstein.

With 3:25 left in the game, Liberty knotted the score at 64-64. Tom Rapenske's field goal and a pair of buckets by Osterhout within 1:30 put Liberty out front for good.

The Dukers, caught in foul problems in the first half, had to use three starters very sparingly. Roy McAter, the only Duke who could match Liberty's duo in height, had four fouls before the end of the first half. Jeff Griener and Dan Marsh had three apiece for the Dukers, while Liberty's two big men had three each.

Pine Bush couldn't stop HF's Mike Poness, one of the OCL's top scorers. He tallied 13 in the second quarter to arouse the Fallsmen.

Four Fast Shots

Pine Bush came out for the start of the second half all fired up. Poness quickly shattered any Bushmen hopes by hitting the first four shots to make the score 40-28 in favor of Highland Falls.

With Poness scoring and Derek Hunter controlling the boards, the second half Fallsmen effort was just too much for the Bushmen.

Poness wound up with 34, just one off his season high. Tops for PB were Raphael DeJesus with 16 and Brent Youngblood, 17. For Marlboro it was Mike Pagano's 21 and Marsh and Griener's 16 each. Liberty got 19 and 17 from Osterhout and Dinnerstein respectively, plus another 19 from Ed Blume.

Beacon Holds On Takes B-C Crown

Beacon built up a gigantic 20-point, 36-16 halftime lead, then went into a terrible slump, only to hold on to win the Class B-C title of Section One Saturday, taking a narrow 50-49 victory over Alexander Hamilton.

Beacon went stone cold for five and a half minutes as Hamilton scored 16 straight points, bringing the score to 44-40 with less than six minutes left.

Both teams couldn't hit after Beacon converted a pair of fouls. 49 seconds left, Beacon carried a 50-45 lead. A Hamilton score cut that by two, and after Nate Milligan missed the front end of a one-and-one, Hamilton scored again with 18 seconds left on a drive. There was no foul and Beacon made the one-point edge stand up.

Shuster averaged 16.6 a game, netting 350 points in 21 games. Kane played the same number of games and tallied 330, most of that total coming quite late in the season.

A big drop comes between Kane and the number three scorer, Sandy Cohen. Also coming on with a late rush, Cohen totaled 134 points. Rounding out the top five were Ty Sands, 203 in eight games and Jeff Berry, 111 in 21.

76ers Roll to Third
NBA Eastern Title

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The Eastern Division title of the National Basketball Association remains in Philadelphia for the third consecutive year—but 76ers Coach Alex Hannum isn't saying whether he'll be back for another try.

The 76ers, defending NBA champions, clinched the crown Sunday afternoon with a 119-108 victory over the New York Knicks and Cincinnati knocked off second-place Boston 137-111, eliminating the Celtics. Philadelphia has a 7½ game edge, 50-26 in the 82-game schedule.

In other games, Sunday, Detroit beat St. Louis 133-121, Baltimore bombed Los Angeles 118-89 and San Francisco turned back Seattle 118-112.

In Saturday's action, St. Louis ripped Chicago 115-109, Seattle got by San Diego 115-111 and Los Angeles nipped San Francisco 137-132 in overtime.

In American Basketball Association contests Sunday, Indiana topped New Orleans 113-105, Houston walloped Oakland 122-94, Pittsburgh whipped New York 122-105 and Dallas edged Anaheim 112-110.

Unexpected Ceremony

The 76ers apparently didn't expect to clinch Sunday, as the dressing room was bare of champagne, with only soda pop in sight as a happy Hannum went around shaking hands with his players and murmuring "great, just great. We did it again."

Hannum answered reports that he would leave the 76ers after the playoffs to go to another club by saying, "I'm complimentary that my name has been mentioned for another job. I have not resigned here. My contract is up at the end of the season and I will negotiate with the 76ers or possibly somebody else. 'Right now I'm extremely happy and am thinking only of the 76ers and the playoffs. That's all that's on my mind right now. Let's just wait and see what happens.'"

Big Second Period
What happened Sunday was a big second-period for Philadelphia, triggered by Hal Green and Bill Cunningham, sending the 76ers from a 27-25 lead after one quarter to a 50-33 margin midway in the second.

Greer chipped in 13 of his 28 points and Cunningham 10 of his 18 in the sport.

The Knicks, trailing by 29 points, 98-69, entering the final period gave a sellout crowd of 19,500 an exciting finish as they got to within 113-107 with 1½ minutes left before Wilt Chamberlain scored a 17-under-par 271.

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Kenji Hosoihi of Japan held off a strong challenge by Li Liang-huan of Nationalist China Sunday and won the 1968 Malaysian Open Golf by a 17-under-par 271.

Titlist

Dave Bonner of Poughkeepsie won trophies in all three events of the finals of the Americana Indoor Tennis Tournament in Hopewell Junction outside Poughkeepsie on Sunday.

Bonner started off with a 6-2, 7-5, 6-3 victory over Pete Zeeh of Kingston. His strong backhand proved too much for Zeeh, who led only once in the match. Zeeh's lead came in the second set, when he led 5-4 with changed tactics. Bonner rallied to win the next three games and the set.

Bonner and Dr. Sam Simon teamed to take the doubles finals from the Joe Chen-Joe Mackson duo. They dropped the first set 6-4, shut out their opponents 6-0 in the second set, and Dr. Simon were ahead 3-1 in the final set when Bonner fell and injured his shoulder, forcing his withdrawal and giving the match to Bonner and Dr. Simon.

Bonner and 14-year-old Carol Gordon of Poughkeepsie downed Dr. William Klink and Roberta Mills 6-3, 6-2 for the Mixed doubles championship.

Liberty Tops Dukes In Section Nine 'C'...

IT WAS A HAPPY ending for Gardner Dickinson who departed from his usual unemotional expression to manage a grin after winning the $100,000 Doral Open, despite a double-bogie 6 on the 72nd hole. He finished with 13-under-par 275, earning $20,000 first prize. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Just an Old Habit

Dickinson Almost Kicked Doral Away

MAIMI (AP)—Gardner Dickinson says he has "kicked away about 50 tournaments" in his 17 years on the golf trail, and he almost put the boot to another one when he finished the Doral Open Sunday with a bogey and double bogey.

But young Tom Weiskopf, with a chance to capitalize on Dickinson's ragged finish, showed that he, too, can kick away the golden opportunities in the clutch.

Surgling from three strokes behind to the Dickinson in a dramatic stretch run, Weiskopf blew it with a closing pair of bogeys and his 40-year-old foe walked away with the $20,000 top prize.

"I hate a finish like that," said a deadpanned Dickinson, "but I've got the check in my pocket."

The dramatic last-round duel, starting with the two men in a deadlock, was so tense that Weiskopf posted five bogeys and

Marlboro Fades In 4th Quarter

The only Ulster county team left in the Section Nine playoffs in Kingston. The last two representatives residing in the county (partially for one) were bumped off Saturday, but not without putting up a fight in Class C.

The first to get knocked off was the Iron Dukes of Marlboro. They succumbed to a Liberty team that possessed superior height. By the end of the game, the height went down the Dukes of the UCAL and Liberty, trailing almost throughout, came on to take a 71-67 win.

The second contest at Valley Central saw the UCAL's Pine Bush (one-fourth of the students live in Ulster) shock favored Highland Falls in the first quarter. The Bushmen surprisingly took a 12-10 lead. The second quarter saw HF wake up, play fine basketball and wind up on top, 71-50.

In Class D, Tuxedo buried Jeff-Youngsville 70-43 while Chester's superior height just barely got by Delaware Valley (Callicoon), 50-44.

The Iron Dukes carried as much as a seven-point lead in the third period. Up by 52-43, Marlboro's lead was cut to two, 54-52 by the end of the quarter.

Hunt by Fools

In severe foul trouble, the Dukes couldn't keep up the stiff defense against Liberty's two 6-foot-5 inside men, Steven Osterhout and Jim Dinnerstein.

With 3:25 left in the game, Liberty knotted the score at 64-64. Tom Rapenski's field goal and a pair of buckets by Osterhout within 1:30 put Liberty out front for good.

The Dukes, caught in foul problems in the first half, had to use three starters very sparingly. Roy McAtter, the only Duke who could match Liberty's duo in height, had four fouls before the end of the first half. Jeff Griener and Dan Marsh had three apiece for the Dukes, while Liberty's two big men had three each.

Pine Bush couldn't stop HF's Mike Poness, one of the OCL's top scorers. He tallied 13 in the second quarter to arouse the Fallsmen.

Four Fast Shots

Pine Bush came out for the start of the second half all fired up. Poness quickly shattered any Bushmen hopes by hitting the first four shots to make the score 40-28 in favor of Highland Falls.

With Poness scoring and Derek Hunter controlling the boards, the second half Fallsmen effort was just too much for the Bushmen.

Poness wound up with 34, just one off his season high. Tops for PB were Raphael DeJesus with 16 and Brent Youngblood, 17. For Marlboro it was Mike Pagano's 21 and Marsh and Griener's 16 each. Liberty got 19 and 17 from Osterhout and Dinnerstein respectively, plus another 19 from Ed Blume.

Beacon Holds On Takes B-C Crown

Beacon built up a gigantic 20-point, 36-16 halftime lead, then went into a terrible slump, only to hold on to win the Class B-C title of Section One Saturday, taking a narrow 50-49 victory over Alexander Hamilton.

Beacon went stone cold for five and a half minutes as Hamilton scored 16 straight points, bringing the score to 44-40 with less than six minutes left.

Both teams couldn't hit after Beacon converted a pair of fouls. 49 seconds left, Beacon carried a 50-45 lead. A Hamilton score cut that by two, and after Nate Milligan missed the front end of a one-and-one, Hamilton scored again with 18 seconds left on a drive. There was no foul and Beacon made the one-point edge stand up.

Shuster Leads SU

Ed Shuster, building up a large margin early in the season, nosed out Pete Kane for scoring honors among New Paltz State cagers.

Shuster averaged 16.6 a game, netting 350 points in 21 games. Kane played the same number of games and tallied 330, most of that total coming quite late in the season.

A big drop comes between Kane and the number three scorer, Sandy Cohen. Also coming on with a late rush, Cohen totaled 134 points. Rounding out the top five were Ty Sands, 203 in eight games and Jeff Berry, 111 in 21.

Zeesh and Scott Indoor Losers

Kingston's Joe Scott and Pete Zeesh were soundly defeated in the semi-final round of the Americana Indoor Tennis Tournament in Poughkeepsie by the Poughkeepsie team of Joe Chen and Joe Mackson.

Chen and Mackson were seeded second in the tournament. Their superior net play and backcourt acumen made the difference in their 6-2, 6-1 victories. Chen and Mackson will play in the finals Sunday afternoon.

Pete Zeesh will meet Ken Miron in the singles semi-finals Saturday at 1 p. m., the winner to play Dave Bonner in the final Sunday. Zeesh recently won the IBM Poughkeepsie Indoor Singles title.

OCCE Matmen End Up Seventh

Orange County Community College's grapplers garnered 39 points to finish seventh out of 25 in the National Junior Collegiate Wrestling Tournament in Worthington, Minnesota, this weekend.

Phoenix, Arizona, captured the team crown with a score of 96 points. John Lightner of Garden City, Kan., was named outstanding wrestler by the coaches after scoring four straight falls to repeat as champion.

Lightner pinned Vic Ciccia of Fultonville, Montgomery County Community College in 2:57 in the 177 lb. finals.
Trinidad, Colo. was second with 81 points, and North-eastern of Colo., the defending champion, was fifth with 54 points.

76ers Roll to Third NBA Eastern Title

By TOM SALADINO

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The Eastern Division title of the National Basketball Association remains in Philadelphia for the third consecutive year—but 76er Coach Alex Hannum isn't saying whether he'll be back for another try.

The 76ers, defending NBA champions, clinched the crown Sunday afternoon with a 119-108 victory over the New York Knicks and Cincinnati knocked off second-place Boston 137-111, eliminating the Celtics. Philadelphia has a 7½ game edge, 50-26 in the 82-game schedule.

In other games, Sunday, Detroit beat St. Louis 133-121, Baltimore bombed Los Angeles 118-89 and San Francisco turned back Seattle 118-112.

In Saturday's action, St. Louis tripped Chicago 115-109, Seattle got by San Diego 115-111 and Los Angeles nipped San Francisco 137-132 in overtime.

In American Basketball Association contests Sunday, Indiana topped New Orleans 113-105, Houston walloped Oakland 122-94, Pittsburgh whipped New Jersey 122-105 and Dallas edged Anaheim 112-110.

Unexpected Ceremony

The 76ers apparently didn't expect to clinch Sunday, as the dressing room was bare of champagne, with only soda pop in sight as a happy Hannum went around shaking hands with his players and murmuring "great, just great. We did it again."

Hannum answered reports that he would leave the 76ers after the playoffs to go to another club by saying, "I'm complimentary that my name has been mentioned for another job. I have not resigned here. My contract is up at the end of the season and I will negotiate with the 76ers or possibly somebody else. "Right now I'm extremely happy and am thinking only of the 76ers and the playoffs. That's all that's on my mind right now. Let's just wait and see what happens."

Big Second Period

What happened Sunday was a big second-period for Philadelphia, triggered by Hal Green and Bill Cunningham, sending the 76ers from a 27-25 lead after one quarter to a 50-33 margin midway in the second.

Greer chipped in 13 of his 28 points and Cunningham 10 of his 18 in the spurt.

The Knicks, trailing by 29 points, 98-69, entering the final period gave a sellout crowd of 19,500 an exciting finish as they got to within 115-107 with 1½ minutes left before Wilt Cham- with a 17-under-par 271.

Fred Davi, the hardy perennial among area baseball promoters, has to make an important decision within the next couple weeks.

Since advice is one of our cheapest commodities, we're going to offer a suggestion to Fred: Forget the Interstate Baseball League and grab the chance to affiliate with the American Legion Rookie League which is based at Newburgh.

This is no knock on the Interstate, a venerable circuit that has survived for more than 35 years. But it lacks the geographical affinity, Orange County has with Ulster and judged off the 1967 reaction of local baseball fans it did little to stir interest in the game.

Davi fielded a winning combination in the 1967 Interstate, with its Dutchess County and Connecticut teams (Winsted, Torrington), but was never able to attract a paid attendance of better than 75 at Dietz Stadium last summer. There was no faulting the calibre of baseball in the Interstate. It was excellent.

LIMITED TO HIGH school and college players age 17 through 23, the Rookie League would open new vistas for local baseball, we think. It's worth trying at least one time around and we hope Fred Davi takes that step.

The Rookie League is headed by Ray Marshall as president, but the guiding genius behind the operation is Sal Ciacio, longtime Newburgh baseball figure and a man who knows how to get things done. He has fine connections with both major leagues and is widely known along the eastern seaboard.

The Rookie League offers responsible civic minded service clubs and other interested sponsors many advantages of belonging to a well organized baseball league.

Among the many services the league offers: (1) Assigns and pays for all official league umpires; (2) supplies official American League baseballs for all games; (3) official Rookie League scorebooks; (4) awards trophies at annual awards dinner at the end of the season; (5) conducts an annual all star game between the Northern and Southern divisions of the league; (6) most of its games are attended by major league scouts.

THE FULL SUMMER schedule of 28 games gives the Rookie League wide appeal in our book. It enables the local manager to maintain sizeable roster and keep his pitchers busy and happy.

One of the main drawbacks of a league like the Interstate is its limited number of games. A manager with two or three good pitchers on his roster has to walk a tightrope trying to get enough work for his hurlers. There just aren't enough games.

A season in the Rookie League would be interesting for another reason — it might prove once and for all whether or not local baseball is dead as so many have insisted for so many years.

LT. EDWARD (GUS) WILLIAMS of Rosendale, a member of the 1968 U. S. Biathlon, wasn't at all unhappy about his 268th place finish in the traditional Vassaloppet cross country race (52.8 miles) from Sala to Mora in Sweden last week.

Williams' time for the gruelling grind was 5 hours, 39 minutes, 33 seconds. The winner Janne Stefansson of Sweden was timed in 4 hours, 39 minutes, 44 seconds or almost one hour ahead of Williams. Stefansson must be something special. He has won the historic marathon six of the last seven years, placing second 12 seconds behind the winner in 1967.

When Williams left Sala to head for Oslo, many of the skiers were still coming in — twelve and a quarter hours after the start of the race!

Satellites to Play at NP High

Exhibition basketball hits its full stride of post-season tournaments and exhibition games this week.

The original Harlem Satellites, under the direction of Rookie Brown, are rated one of the finest show teams in the country. This top-notch outfit will be appearing at New Paltz Central High School, March 15 at 8 p. m.

March 13 finds the Marlboro Men's faculty playing the Arkansas Lassies, a crack girl's team featuring some of the finest female talent in America. Game time is 8 p. m.

The Satellites, now in their eighth season, have appeared in 36 states, Mexico and Canada before a total audience of 300,000 fans. Their 1,045-9 won-lost record places them among the top professional teams record-wise.

Dancing, with music provided by the Cephalic Regime, will follow until 11 p. m. The proceeds go to a Sports Award Dinner to be held in June at New Paltz Central.

Marlboro's Common Council is sponsoring the Lassies. A faculty team composed of Richard Biruk, Jack Kroh, J. DiGirolano, J. Nugent, J. Mannix, Bud Mullin, L. Cabe M. Farman, J. Connor, F. Hainley and J. Brennan will challenge the gals.

Coach Sid Abel had nothing to worry about. Everybody knows lightning never strikes twice in the same place.

Abel's Detroit Red Wings had blown a 4-0 lead and lost a shattering 7-5 National Hockey League game to Toronto Saturday night. So naturally, when they pulled a repeat performance and frittered away a 5-0 bulge against Boston Sunday, Abel still wasn't too shook up.

Not much. The Wings steadied themselves behind relief goalie Roger Crozier and used third-period goals by Jimmy Peters and Frank Mahovlich for a 7-5 victory to climax a nightmarish weekend for Abel.

In other Sunday action, Bill Flett's last-minute goal gave Los Angeles a 4-3 victory over New York. Philadelphia blanked Minnesota 2-0, Chicago shut out Toronto 4-0 and St. Louis nipped Oakland 1-0.

In Saturday's other games, New York tied Minnesota 1-1, Montreal shut out Chicago 5-0, Pittsburgh stopped Los Angeles 3-1 and St. Louis dropped Oakland 3-1.

It took the Wings just 28 minutes to rush into the 5-0 lead against Boston with Alex Delvecchio scoring twice and Gordie Howe, Pete Stelmowski and Bruce MacGregor getting one each.

Flett's second goal of the night with just 20 seconds left to play ended a 16-game Ranger Sunday unbeaten streak. The rookie outfenced New York goalie Ed Giacomin as Giacomin and hit the net as Giacomin struggled to recover.

Jean Ratelle scored twice for New York, which played without high-scoring Rod Gilbert. Gilbert had an adverse reaction to medication taken for shoulder and stomach muscle injuries.

Schwaiger Second

Pro Racers Slalom Won by Moulterer

Hunter Mountain's Mike Schwaiger knows how much 1.7 seconds means — $500. Schwaiger second Sunday afternoon to Anderl Moulterer in the seventh and final Professional Ski Racers Association (PSRA) race at Great Gorge, the difference between first and second money — $500.

Schwaiger, attacked the course in hopes of upsetting first run leader, Hias Leitner. As it turned out, Leitner fell down and did not complete his second run, but still wound up the overall prize money and point winner, taking back to Stratton Mt., Vermont, the coveted Ballantine Trophy.

Moulterer took the race and $1,500 first prize money with a combined time of 77.66 on the 1,000 foot course. Schwaiger was clocked in 77.83 for second while in third was Sandy Laman with a 79.39 charting.

Leitner Wins First
Leitner's first run time of 37.87 set the action, with all racers shooting for his mark. On the second run, Leitner lost his tracking, skidded across the course and into Gerhard Hopfensberger's tracks, knocking both down. Hopfensberger then ran the course again, but was out of it. Leitner was disqualified for his run.

Using the five best times of the seven races, Leitner picked up an additional $3,500 in prize money, giving him a total of $8,800 to finish first in money won. He tallied 86 points to top the point standings.

Schwaiger, closing with a rush at the end of the season, finished sixth in overall points with 49 and in the same position in money with 2,950. Had he taken first in the fog Sunday, the extra $500 for first would have vaulted him over Eric Sturm, the fifth-place finisher money-wise.

Ernst Hinterseer, the only serious challenger to Leitner, was disqualified. He wound up the season second to Leitner. Third was Adrian Duvillard while fourth went to Egon Zimmermann.

The race results found Duvillard in fourth at 79.45, followed closely by Eric Wanbig in 79.47. Sixth went to John Clough 80.36, seventh was Martin Berger, 80.40, Zimmermann was eighth in 80.49, ninth went to Herman Schnabl, clocked in 81.21 and last was Herman Goellner, 81.42.

Section 9 Swimmers Place Last in State
Kingston High school's swimmers did a little better than the rest of Section Nine at the State swimming meet at Genesee State College in Genesee, but it wasn't good enough to get them into the finals.

Buffalo-area competitors from Section Six took the crown of the State Intersectional Swimming championships with a 236.5 point total.

They ousted defending champs from Section Five, the Rochester area, who finished with 220. Section Eight, the Long Island area, was third with 206.5 points.

The crack Maroon 400-yard freestyle relay team of Charles Plunket, Andy Jones, Craig Murray and Gene Gruner turned in a fast (for Section Nine) clocking of 3:40.5. That time set records in Section Nine, but failed to get them into the top six in Genesee.

Brighton High of Rochester set a new state record in the 400 yard freestyle relay with a 3:26.0 time.

The Maroon relay team's 10 points for their seventh place finish were the only points racked up by Section Nine, which finished last.

Charles Plunket was given the best chance individually for KHS, but he turned in a 53.0 time in the 100 yard freestyle that missed qualifying among the top six by a full second. Plunket finished 13th.</

Fred Davi, the hardy perennial among area baseball promoters, has to make an important decision within the next couple weeks.

Since advice is one of our cheapest commodities, we're going to offer a suggestion to Fred: Forget the Interstate Baseball League and grab the chance to affiliate with the American Legion Rookie League which is based at Newburgh.

This is no knock on the Interstate, a venerable circuit that has survived for more than 35 years. But it lacks the geographical affinity, Orange County has with Ulster and judged off the 1967 reaction of local baseball fans it did little to stir interest in the game.

Davi fielded a winning combination in the 1967 Interstate, with its Dutchess County and Connecticut teams (Winsted, Torrington), but was never able to attract a paid attendance of better than 75 at Dietz Stadium last summer. There was no faulting the calibre of baseball in the Interstate. It was excellent.

LIMITED TO HIGH school and college players age 17 through 23, the Rookie League would open new vistas for local baseball, we think. It's worth trying at least one time around and we hope Fred Davi takes that step.

The Rookie League is headed by Ray Marshall as president, but the guiding genius behind the operation is Sal Ciacio, longtime Newburgh baseball figure and a man who knows how to get things done. He has fine connections with both major leagues and is widely known along the eastern seaboard.

The Rookie League offers responsible civic minded service clubs and other interested sponsors many advantages of belonging to a well organized baseball league.

Among the many services the league offers: (1) Assigns and pays for all official league umpires; (2) supplies official American League baseballs for all games; (3) official Rookie League scorebooks; (4) awards trophies at annual awards dinner at the end of the season; (5) conducts an annual all star game between the Northern and Southern divisions of the league; (6) most of its games are attended by major league scouts.

THE FULL SUMMER schedule of 28 games gives the Rookie League wide appeal in our book. It enables the local manager to maintain sizeable roster and keep his pitchers busy and happy.

One of the main drawbacks of a league like the Interstate is its limited number of games. A manager with two or three good pitchers on his roster has to walk a tightrope trying to get enough work for his hurlers. There just aren't enough games.

A season in the Rookie League would be interesting for another reason — it might prove once and for all whether or not local baseball is dead as so many have insisted for so many years.

LT. EDWARD (GUS) WILLIAMS of Rosendale, a member of the 1968 U. S. Biathlon, wasn't at all unhappy about his 268th place finish in the traditional Vasaloppet cross country race (52.8 miles) from Sala to Mora in Sweden last week.

Williams' time for the gruelling grind was 5 hours, 39 minutes, 33 seconds. The winner Janne Stefansson of Sweden was timed in 4 hours, 39 minutes, 44 seconds or almost one hour ahead of Williams. Stefansson must be something special. He has won the historic marathon six of the last seven years, placing second 12 seconds behind the winner in 1967.

Satellites to Play at NP High

Exhibition basketball hits its full stride of post-season tournaments and exhibition games this week.

The original Harlem Satellites, under the direction of Rookie Brown, are rated one of the finest show teams in the country. This top-notch outfit will be appearing at New Paltz Central High School, March 15 at 8 p. m.

March 13 finds the Marlboro Men's faculty playing the Arkansas Lassies, a crack girl's team featuring some of the finest female talent in America. Game time is 8 p. m.

The Satellites, now in their eighth season, have appeared in 36 states, Mexico and Canada before a total audience of 300,000 fans. Their 1,045-9 won-lost record places them among the top professional teams record-wise.

Dancing, with music provided by the Cephalic Regime, will follow until 11 p. m. The proceeds go to a Sports Award Dinner to be held in June at New Paltz Central.

Marlboro's Common Council is sponsoring the Lassies. A faculty team composed of Richard Biruk, Jack Kroh, J. DiGirolano, J. Nugent, J. Mannix, Bud Malin, S. Cane, M. Farman, J. Conner, F. Hainley and J. Brennan will challenge the girls.

Los Angeles Snaps Ranger Sunday Skein

Coach Sid Abel had nothing to worry about. Everybody knows lightning never strikes twice in the same place.

Abel's Detroit Red Wings had blown a 4-0 lead and lost a shattering 7-5 National Hockey League game to Toronto Saturday night. So naturally, when they pulled a repeat performance and frittered away a 5-0 bulge against Boston Sunday, Abel still wasn't too shook up.

Not much.

The Wings steadied themselves behind relief goalie Roger Crozier and used third-period goals by Jimmy Peters and Frank Mahovlich for a 7-5 victory to climax a nightmarish weekend for Abel.

In other Sunday action, Bill Flett's last-minute goal gave Los Angeles a 4-3 victory over New York, Philadelphia blanked Minnesota 2-0, Chicago shut out Toronto 4-0 and St. Louis nipped Oakland 1-0.

In Saturday's other games, New York tied Minnesota 1-1, Montreal shut out Chicago 5-0, Pittsburgh stopped Los Angeles 3-1 and St. Louis dropped Oakland 3-1.

It took the Wings just 28 minutes to rush into the 5-0 lead against Boston with Alex Delvecchio scoring twice and Gordie Howe, Pete Stenkowski and Bruce MacGregor getting one each.

Flett's second goal of the night with just 20 seconds left to play ended a 16-game Ranger Sunday unbeaten streak. The rookie outfenced New York goalie Ed Giacomin as Giacomin struggled to recover.

Jean Ratelle scored twice for New York, which played without high-scoring Rod Gilbert. Gilbert had an adverse reaction to medication taken for shoulder and stomach muscle injuries.

Two other Kingston teams were beaten badly. St. Mary's Varsity losing 74-30 to St. Anthony of Nanuet, and St. Joseph's Mets dropping 72-47 to St. Joseph's of Spring Valley.

High scorer on the Kingston side was T. Ingarras with 17 points. Other top scorers were: Rich Peruso 13, Mike Rich 10, Jim Frararo 12, Joe Riley 10, Vito Mapes 11 and Jim Lattore 11.

The Kingston winners will battle it out against their Dutchess County opponents in the CYO upstate finals this Saturday at Our Lady of Lourdes High School in Poughkeepsie, starting at 10 a. m.

Schwaiger Second

Pro Racers Slalom Won by Moulterer

Hunter Mountain's Mike Schwaiger knows how much 1.7 seconds means — $500. Schwaiger second Sunday afternoon to Anderl Moulterer in the seventh and final Professional Ski Racers Association (PSRA) race at Great Gorge, the difference between first and second money — $500.

Schwaiger, attacked the course in hopes of upsetting first run leader, Hias Leitner. As it turned out, Leitner fell down and did not complete his second run, but still wound up the overall prize money and point winner, taking back to Stratton Mt., Vermont, the coveted Ballantine Trophy.

Moulterer took the race and $1,500 first prize money with a combined time of 77.66 on the 1,000 foot course. Schwaiger was clocked in 77.83 for second while in third was Sandy Lirman with a 79.39 charting.

Leitner Wins First
Leitner's first run time of 37.87 set the action, with all racers shooting for his mark. On the second run, Leitner lost his tracking, skidded across the course and into Gerhard Hopfensberger's tracks, knocking both down. Hopfensberger then ran the course again, but was out of it. Leitner was disqualified for his run.

Using the five best times of the seven races, Leitner picked up an additional $3,500 in prize money, giving him a total of $8,800 to finish first in money won. He tallied 86 points to top the point standings.

Schwaiger, closing with a rush at the end of the season, finished sixth in overall points with 49 and in the same position in money with 2,950. Had he taken first in the fog Sunday, the extra $500 for first would have vaulted him over Eric Sturm, the fifth-place finisher money-wise.

Ernst Hinterseer, the only serious challenger to Leitner, was disqualified. He wound up the season second to Leitner. Third was Adrian Duvillard while fourth went to Egon Zimmermann.

The race results found Duvillard in fourth at 79.45, followed closely by Eric Wanbig in 79.47. Sixth went to John Clough 80.36, seventh was Martin Berger, 80.40, Zimmermann was eighth in 80.49, ninth went to Herman Schnabl, clocked in 81.21 and last was Herman Goellner, 81.42.

The finals:

Section 9 Swimmers Place Last in State
Kingston High school's swimmers did a little better than the rest of Section Nine at the State swimming meet at Geneseo State College in Geneseo, but it wasn't good enough to get them into the finals.

Buffalo - area competitors from Section Six took the crown of the State Intercollegiate Swimming championships with a 236.5 point total.

They ousted defending champs from Section Five, the Rochester area, who finished with 220. Section Eight, the Long Island area, was third with 206.5 points.

The crack Maroon 400-yard freestyle relay team of Charles Plunket, Andy Jones, Craig Murray and Gene Gruner turned in a fast (for Section Nine) clocking of 3:40.5. That time set records in Section Nine, but failed to get them into the top six in Geneseo.

Brighton High of Rochester set a new state record in the 400 yard freestyle relay with a 3:26.0 time.

The Maroon relay team's 10 points for their seventh place finish were the only points racked up by Section Nine, which finished last.

Charles Plunket was given the best chance individually for KHS, but he turned in a 53.0 time in the 100 yard freestyle that missed qualifying among the top six by a full second. Plunket finished 13th.

New Paltz Quartet to Make European Tour

Al Miller, former soccer coach at New Paltz State, remembers his friends very well. Now at Hartwick College, where he guided the Hartwick soccer team to an undefeated (in regular play) season, Miller asked four former associates at NPS to join him and his soccer team on a tour of Europe.

Hartwick's soccer prowess is known far and wide, and when the invitation came to Miller from the "People to People Sports Ambassadors" program, he invited the NPS foursome.

The four Miller chose were Robert L. Durkin, his replacement as head of the NPS booters, Lee Roberts, his frosh soccer mentor, Dr. John Demenkoff, a trainer, and Arnold Lent, an intramural director, who will coordinate trip activities—outside of soccer.

Durkin and Roberts will assist Miller with the squad on the 17-day tour of competition and clinics.

Dr. Demenkoff's duties will be strictly handling any injuries, illnesses, etc. that may befall any member of the troupe. Lent will handle the arrangements and itinerary, other than the scheduled visits for games or clinics.

The schedule, as set up by People to People calls for the entourage to perform before coaches, players and fans in England, Denmark, West Germany, West Berlin and the Netherlands. A scheduled trip to East Berlin is part of the non-playing itinerary.

Set to make the trip are 25 students (21 players and four equipment handlers) and seven adults.

In addition to Miller and the New Paltz quartet, Jim Konstanty, former major league pitcher and now Hartwick's athletic director, will be part of the entourage.

Mrs. Boughton's comparatively low total reflected the rugged scoring conditions in the tournament. She had 446 in her team event and 475 in singles. She also shared Class A doubles with Marge Delamater at 1203 gross.

Ada Dubost fired an even 1500 for Class B all events and Betty Macholdt took the Class C title with 1342.

Conigliaro Back On AL Hurlers Watch Out

By ED SCHUYLER JR.

Associated Press Sports Writer

It looks like Boston's Tony Conigliaro is seeing just one baseball again — and seeing it well — and that should give American League pitchers some unpleasant visions about the upcoming baseball season.

The slugging Red Sox outfielder was hit on the left temple by a pitch from Jack Hamilton of California last Aug. 18 and he did not return for the remainder of the season or the World Series because of double vision.

But Conigliaro showed he is regaining his batting eye by cracking a single and double and hitting the ball hard in his only other at-bat as the Red Sox trounced Oakland 14-1 in an exhibition game Sunday at Winter Haven, Fla.

The Red Sox, who banged out 20 hits, broke the game open in the first inning by scoring six runs off Bob Rodriguez. George Scott contributed two triples to the Boston attack.

The new spitball rule continued to give pitcher trouble. This time two Chicago hurlers were ejected for touching their hands to their mouths in the Cubs' 3-1 loss to California.

Starter Frank Reberger was ejected in the second inning, and reliever Dean Burn was given the thumb an inning later. Each was given one warning by umpire Emmett Ashford.

Trio Goes Overtime
There were three extra inning games Sunday. Two ended in ties, and both involved New York clubs.

The New York Mets tied St. Louis 1-1 in 14 innings, and the New York Yankees and Baltimore battled to a 7-7 standoff in 13 innings.

St. Louis scored in the sixth inning when Phil Gagliano reached third when Don Wilkerson misjudged his fly to left field and came home on Dick Simpson's single. The Mets tied it in the eighth on singles by Bud Harrelson, Ed Kranepool and Jerry Morales.

Brooks Robinson drove in five Baltimore runs with two homers and a double. Mike Hegar knocked in two Yankee runs with a pair of singles and kept Baltimore from winning in the bottom of the 10th by making a diving stop at first base of a ball hit by Dave Johnson.

In other exhibition action, Cincinnati beat the Chicago White Sox 3-1, Minnesota edged Detroit 5-4 in 10 innings, Philadelphia outslugged Pittsburgh 7-6 and Cleveland nipped San Francisco 5-4. Los Angeles blanked Atlanta 4-0. The Houston-Washington game was called off.

Pavletich Keys Win
Don Pavletich was the key to Cincinnati's victory, pounding consecutive home runs. Leo Cardenas also homered for the Reds. Outfielder Pete Rose and catcher John Bench both left the Reds for two weeks active duty with an Army Reserve unit.

Minnesota gained its victory when rookie first baseman Bill Hahn drilled a two-out single with the bases loaded in the 10th inning. Harmon Killebrew hit a solo homer for Minnesota, and

Jim Northrup clouted one for Detroit.

Tony Taylor singled home Denny Doyle, who tripled in the ninth inning for Philadelphia's victory. Pittsburgh had tied it in the top of the inning when Jose Pagan smacked his second homer of the game. Cookie Rojas, Philadelphia's jack-of-all-positions, ended his holdout by coming to terms.

Cleveland got all of its five runs in the fourth inning off Mike McCormick and then held off San Francisco which scored three times in the ninth.

Los Angeles' new shortstop, Zoilo Versalles who came from Minnesota, drove in two runs and started three double plays for the Dodgers.

Liston Ends His Long U. S. Exile

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sonny Liston, the former heavyweight champion, makes his first start in the United States in nearly three years Saturday night when he meets Bill McMurray of Sacramento, Calif., at the Centennial Coliseum in Reno, Nev.

The former slugger, who says he's only 35, has done all of his fighting in Sweden since he was knocked out in the first round by Cassius Clay at Lewiston, Me., on May 25, 1965.

Liston, now based in Las Vegas and managed by entertainer Sammy Davis Jr., scored knockouts over Gerhard Zech and Amos Johnson in 1966 and stopped Dave Bailey and Elmer Rush last year.

Zora Folley, another aging heavyweight listed as 35 although he and Liston seem to have come up in John L. Sullivan's era, will be in action Monday night at the Philadelphia Arena. Folley, a fine boxer, takes on Roger Russell of Philadelphia.

Walter Johnson holds the American League record for pitchers leading the circuit in strikeouts. He was the whiff for 12 years between 1911 and 1924.

Cuba Drops From Olympics If —
MIAMI (AP) — Cuba will not participate in the Olympics this year if South Africa is permitted to send teams, the president of the Cuban Olympic Committee says. He accused South Africa of a "brutal practice of racial discrimination."

A Havana radio broadcast Sunday quoted Manuel Gonzalez Guerra as saying: "Cuba will not participate in the Games if South Africa is not dropped."

The Olympic Games are scheduled for October in Mexico City.

Berry Tells of His Retirement

BALTIMORE (AP) — Raymond Berry, the National Football League's all-time leading pass receiver who announced his retirement from the Baltimore Colts over the weekend, was, despite his individual brilliance, known as a team player. Even his decision to retire apparently was prompted by Berry's concern that injuries, which limited his 1967 play to six games, would affect his performance in the future.

"I don't think it would be right of me to try to continue playing when I don't feel I could give the team the kind of season it has a right to expect," the 35-year-old split end said Sunday.

Berry, who overcame physical limitations through dedication and study, caught 631 passes for 9,275 yards and 68 touchdowns during his 13-year NFL career. He had but 11 receptions last year.

Duke Gets NIT Bid Despite 3rd in ACC

By MIKE RECHT

Duke, stalled for a couple days, finally completed the National Invitation Tournament field, and now that they are in, the Blue Devils hope for a fast getaway.

But the NCAA, already speeding along with one weekend of play completed, still is waiting for its last team only three days before this weekend's regionals when its tournament tempo really quickens.

Either Iowa or Ohio State will be the last team to qualify for the NCAA field when they meet Tuesday night on a neutral court at Purdue to break a tie for the Big Ten title and decide the automatic bid to the tournament.

Tournament officials took their time filling the NIT field. Not influenced by Duke's 12-10 loss to stalling North Carolina State Friday night in the Atlantic Coast Conference championship tournament, the officials waited until North Carolina bombed State 87-50 Saturday night for the title and then took the Blue Devils over runner-up State.

Duke, one of the favorites, helps open the NIT Thursday night against Oklahoma City, 20-6, a team that averages 90 points per contest.

Regardless of the outcome of the Iowa-Ohio State playoff, the Trophies were awarded by an Italian delegation headed by Dr. Salvatore Paonni, deputy mayor of Torino, and Dr. Vieri Traxler, Italian consul general in New York City.

The ski races capped a two-day program.

Conigliaro Back On AL Hurlers Watch Out

By ED SCHUYLER JR., Associated Press Sports Writer

It looks like Boston's Tony Conigliaro is seeing just one baseball again — and seeing it well — and that should give American League pitchers some unpleasant visions about the upcoming baseball season.

The slugging Red Sox outfielder was hit on the left temple by a pitch from Jack Hamilton of California last Aug. 18 and he did not return for the remainder of the season or the World Series because of double vision.

But Conigliaro showed he is regaining his batting eye by cracking a single and double and hitting the ball hard in his only other at-bat as the Red Sox trounced Oakland 14-4 in an exhibition game Sunday at Winter Haven, Fla.

The Red Sox, who banged out 20 hits, broke the game open in the first inning by scoring six runs off Bob Rodriguez. George Scott contributed two triples to the Boston attack.

The new spitball rule continued to give pitcher trouble. This time two Chicago hurlers were ejected for touching their hands to their mouths in the Cubs' 3-1 loss to California.

Starter Frank Reberger was ejected in the second inning and reliever Dean Burn was given the thumb an inning later. Each was given one warning by umpire Emmett Ashford.

Trio Goes Overtime

There were three extra inning games Sunday. Two ended in ties, and both involved New York clubs.

The New York Mets tied St. Louis 1-1 in 14 innings, and the New York Yankees and Baltimore battled to a 7-7 standoff in 13 innings.

St. Louis scored in the sixth inning when Phil Gagliano reached third when Don Wilkerson misjudged his fly to left field and came home on Dick Simpson's single. The Mets tied it in the eighth on singles by Bud Harrelson, Ed Kranepool and Jerry Morales.

Brooks Robinson drove in five Baltimore runs with two homers and a double. Mike Hegon knocked in two Yankees runs with a pair of singles and kept Baltimore from winning in the bottom of the 10th by making a diving stop at first base of a ball hit by Dave Johnson.

In other exhibition action, Cincinnati beat the Chicago White Sox 3-1. Minnesota edged Detroit 5-4 in 10 innings, Philadelphia outslugged Pittsburgh 7-6 and Cleveland nipped San Francisco 5-4. Los Angeles blanked Atlanta 4-0. The Houston-Washington game was called off.

Pavletich Keys Win

Don Pavletich was the key to Cincinnati's victory, pounding consecutive home runs. Leo Cardenas also homered for the Reds. Outfielder Pete Rose and catcher John Bench both left the Reds for two weeks active duty with an Army Reserve unit.

Minnesota gained its victory when rookie first baseman Bill Hahn drilled a two-out single with the bases loaded in the 10th inning. Harmon Killebrew hit a solo homer for Minnesota, and

Regardless of the outcome of the Iowa-Ohio State playoff, the

Jim Northrup clouted one for Detroit.

Tony Taylor singled home Denny Doyle, who tripled in the ninth inning for Philadelphia's victory. Pittsburgh had tied it in the top of the inning when Jose Pagan smacked his second homer of the game. Cookie Rojas, Philadelphia's jack-of-all-positions, ended his holdout by coming to terms.

Cleveland got all of its five runs in the fourth inning off Mike McCormick and then held off San Francisco which scored three times in the ninth.

Los Angeles' new shortstop, Zoilo Versalles who came from Minnesota, drove in two runs and started three double plays for the Dodgers.

Liston Ends His Long U. S. Exile

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sonny Liston, the former heavyweight champion, makes his first start in the United States in nearly three years Saturday night when he meets Bill McMurray of Sacramento, Calif., at the Centennial Coliseum in Reno, Nev.

The former slugger, who says he's only 35, has done all of his fighting in Sweden since he was knocked out in the first round by Cassius Clay at Lewiston, Me., on May 25, 1965.

Liston, now based in Las Vegas and managed by entertainer Sammy Davis Jr., scored knockouts over Gerhard Zech and Amos Johnson in 1966 and stopped Dave Bailey and Elmer Rush last year.

Zora Folley, another aging heavyweight listed as 35 although he and Liston seem to have come up in John L. Sullivan's era, will be in action Monday night at the Philadelphia Arena. Folley, a fine boxer, takes on Roger Russell of Philadelphia.

In Nigeria

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Nigerian authorities are closely watching the movements of foreigners in their war-torn country, including the American community of about 5,000 persons.Americans had been informally exempted from a 1963 alien registration law, but a top Lagos police officer says "that's changed."The government-controlled press and radio began criticizing the United States last year after it refused to license the export of military equipment for use in the civil war against secessionist Eastern Nigeria.According to police, a letter was sent to the American Embassy in Lagos last August advising that Americans would have to register. The law requires an alien resident to register 21 days after arrival in Nigeria, carry a passport, pre-sent the book for endorsement if he leaves the country or his province for seven days, and report to an alien control office on his return.Most aliens did not know of the existence of the law, which had not been enforced. The American Embassy did not notify American residents in Nigeria of their obligation until late February.By then, scores of Americans including some Peace Corps volunteers, had had encounter with Nigerian police. Some had been threatened with prosecution.One American, Phillip Rappa-port, head of Nigeria's National Library and holder of top civil servant rank in the federal government, was waiting for trial before the combined pressure of the permanent secretaries of the ministries of economic development and information presented the police to release him.Violators are subject to three months imprisonment or $70 fine.The U.S. government is the biggest and the greatest enterprise in the world. It lives on taxes and borrowed money. The profit motive is lacking. And that is the rub.In 1968, as in the days when I had a good job with the Treasury, it is easy to justify the existence of thousands of jobs. But when their maintenance piles deficits upon deficits and causes the federal debt to balloon, something drastic should be done.Very soon it is probable that Congress will lift the present ceiling on the federal debt. On Feb. 1, 1968, this debt was $348,907 billion, and the ceiling is $358 billion.These statistics are closely studied by bankers in Europe.
And as the dollar loses its purchasing power they ask for our gold even though it earns nothing, as I have repeatedly pointed out in this column.During 1967, gold losses to Europe totaled about $12.2 billion. And during the first week in February, 1968, they were around $100 million.Gold in America is getting scarce. But with federal deficits piling up, paper money increases in volume, and this entire situation influences the social, economic and financial life of this country.The Forum

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my mother. She is 55 years old, recently took off about 50 pounds, dyed her hair silver blonde, bought a new car, and now she thinks we are "girl friends." Abby, mother never got along with my father. They've had the same arguments for 35 years so have never had any social life together, which has made mother a bitter person. She never joined any club or organizations, and now she wants to go around with me and my crowd. She calls me all the time and is forever including herself in my plans.

The latest is she wants to join a club I belong to. Abby, there are no women HER age in it—only women MY age. I cannot stop her from joining, and my friends won't blackball her because they think I want her in. So what can I do?

STUCK WITH MOTHER
DEAR ABBY: Perhaps your mother has developed this "girl friend" attitude because you haven't discouraged her from "palling" around with you. Try to get her to act her age, and make some friends of her own. If you have to tell her in more direct language, do so. But do it with love and gentleness.

DEAR ABBY: There is a girl in one of my classes who is really groovy. But she has one bad fault that really turns me off. She uses dirty language and she swears!

She is so nice to look at, and she's a bright girl, too, but what a big fat disappointment she was when she started to talk to me. When will girls learn? Guys sometimes use rough language to each other, but no fellow likes to hear words like that coming out of a girl's mouth.

How about a few words of wisdom on the subject from you, Abby?

E.C.
DEAR E. C.: You've said, and you've said it well. A word to the wise.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from the young mother whose husband "fussed" so at their two small sons that the boys always left the dinner table in tears prompts me to write this. There is a solution to that problem, and I hope you will be fair and print it.

The father who has put in a hard day's work has a right to come home to a peaceful, quiet dinner. Young children should be fed first, and mother and father (and the adult children) should enjoy their dinner while the young ones are otherwise occupied elsewhere.

To force "togetherness" at the dinner table with young children who have not yet learned proper table manners, and who talk and scream and disrupt the meal with fights and arguments, is unfair to the adults.

While children are learning how to behave at the table, they may be rewarded occasionally by having dessert with the "grown-ups." (This can be an incentive for them to learn table manners and proper conduct.) And only when they are capable of eating a full meal with the family should they join the adults.

Mother and father and grown children should not have to put up with ill-mannered, restless, tired, and hungry children during meal time.

Bridge Takeout Bad With Balance

By Oswald and James Jacoby
Oswald: "While match point duplicate is not exactly the same game as rubber bridge, there is no question that you can learn a lot about rubber bridge by playing duplicate."
Jim: "Of course. When you make mistakes at rubber bridge, you laugh them off if you happen to be winning and complain about bad luck if you happen to be losing. In duplicate, your mistakes show up as bad scores and you try to avoid them in the future."
Oswald: "One thing any bridge player should learn is that the takeout double with a balanced hand is likely to be a losing proposition. Our recommendation for duplicate or rubber bridge is that you make a takeout double with 4-3-3 distribution only if your hand is very powerful, while you can make a takeout double with a singleton in your opponent's bid suit with as little as 10 or 11 high card points."

Jim: "At most tables in the recent Dallas Regional tournament, West was allowed to play at one spade. He always made his contract. In fact, a couple of West players managed to make an overtrick, but the top East-West scores came when North chose to double for takeout and South played in two hearts."

Oswald: "Most South players went down two tricks. One managed to go down three. West opened his singleton diamond. South played dummy's queen. East won the king and led a spade. West cashed his jack and ace of spades and gave East a ruff. East led back the jack of diamonds and West discarded a spade instead of ruffing. South had to go after the club suit eventually and misguessed the jack to wind up losing two spades, the ace of trumps, a spade ruff, two diamonds and two clubs."

Jim: "Actually, once the diamond was opened, it didn't make any real difference what South did. He would be down two or three tricks in any event."

Rocky Gets the GOP Urging Word, But Decision on Plunge Put Off

BESIEGED — Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York is besieged by newsmen outside his Manhattan apartment Sunday prior to a high-level GOP strategy meeting. About 20 GOP leaders were invited to the meeting at Rockefeller's home, in the wake of Gov. George Romney's statement Saturday that Rockefeller should get into the 1968 Presidential race. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

NEW YORK (AP) — More than 20 top Republicans, summoned to a strategy meeting with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller at his Fifth Avenue apartment, have urged him strongly to become "an announced and active candidate" for the Republican presidential nomination.

A spokesman for the group that included seven governors, three U.S. senators, five congressmen and Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York, said Rockefeller would decide about plunging into the race after consulting with other party leaders in the next few days.

No Comments

Rockefeller, who has maintained he would not be a candidate unless there was a draft, had no comment following Sunday's two-hour, closed-door strategy session.

Gov. Tom McCall of Oregon, one of those at the meeting, said he urged the New York governor to challenge former Vice President Richard M. Nixon in the May 28 Oregon primary. Rockefeller has until March 22 to declare himself out of that election.

McCall said Rockefeller's candidacy was "no longer an abstraction" following the meeting. Asked if he thought it constituted a draft, McCall replied: "Well, it's almost irresistible." Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania read a brief statement to newsmen that said there was "very strong sentiment" that Rockefeller get into the race as "an announced and active candidate." Asked if all those present had endorsed Rockefeller's candidacy, Scott said the statement spoke for itself.

A written statement was not given out. Scott read from notes, which he retained. The statement said Rockefeller "will consult other party leaders in the next few days and his decision will ultimately be made by himself."

Lindsay said he believed everyone at the meeting subscribed to the statement and that he himself approved "100 per cent." It was the first known meeting between Lindsay and Rockefeller since they clashed over ways to end New York's recent garbage collectors strike.

The meeting came only two days before voting in the New Hampshire primary where Nixon is expected to collect a victory.

Nixon Not on List

Nixon, who lives in the same building as Rockefeller, was not invited to the meeting.

Rockefeller aides said the meeting was called to discuss the state of the GOP since Gov. George Romney of Michigan, who was backed by Rockefeller, withdrew from the race, leaving Nixon the sole major contender in New Hampshire.

Romney was invited but declined to attend, saying he does not engage in politics on Sunday.

Nixon Sure Winner, But Margin Question

BY WALTER MEARS

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon staged a final sprint seeking to turn out the Republican vote, while Democrat Eugene J. McCarthy stuck to his standard low-key style in windup campaigning for Tuesday's season-opening New Hampshire presidential primary.

Nixon's final campaign stand today featured a series of brief visits to his headquarters in five cities. He set the tone at a Nashua reception Sunday night, urging Republicans to vote Tuesday, telling them:

'New Day for America'

"We're going to win. We're going to win in March and we're going to win in November. It's going to be a new day for America."

There appeared to be no way Nixon, the only major candidate among nine on the Republican ballot, could lose in New Hampshire. The real question: How big a margin can he produce over the late-starting write-in movement for New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller?

While Nixon was shaking hands and appealing for a big New Hampshire send-off, Rockefeller conferred in New York with more than 20 Republican leaders who urged him to run for president.

They said Rockefeller would consult with other Republicans within the next few days, and Oregon Gov. Tom McCall said the call for a draft to propel the New Yorker into the campaign was "almost irresistible."

Nixon said Rockefeller "may be closer" to presidential candidacy. He said he did not know much about the New York session—"I wasn't invited to that meeting and I didn't have it bugged." The former vice president said that if Rockefeller becomes an active rival for the nomination "I will pledge" to campaign on issues, not on personalities. "I will not campaign against him any more than I did against Gov. (George) Romney," Nixon said.

Michigan's Romney had been Nixon's chief opponent in New Hampshire. But Romney was out of the running, knew it, and withdrew as a presidential candidate on Feb. 28.

McCarthy, the Minnesota senator challenging President Johnson's renomination, said if he can get 25 per cent of the vote Tuesday it will be a signal of significant criticism for Vietnam and other issues.

McCarthy Hopeful

"I'm hopeful, and this is not just a vague hope, that we may very well run over 30 per cent," McCarthy said.

McCarthy planned to record an election-eve television program in Boston, then return to New Hampshire to await primary results.

He suggested that if the administration is considering sending another 200,000 men to Vietnam this should have been presented to the people of New Hampshire so they could render a judgment on it in the primary.

"If they really have this in mind," he said in an interview, "they ought to let us know so that there could be a judgment by the people up here."

Democratic Gov. John W. King, chief spokesman for the write-in campaign conducted for Johnson, said the President would win Tuesday by a three to one margin.

Both King and his co-chairman, Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, denied there was a rift between them over campaign tactics. "Gov. King says 'a significant vote for Sen. McCarthy would be greeted with cheers in Washington,'" McIntyre said.

Blasts Church

NEWTON, Mass. (AP) — Dr. Mary Daly, first woman member of the Boston College theology department, says the Catholic Church is teaching that women "are not fully human."

"There will be no genuine equality of men and women in the church as long as qualified persons are excluded from any ministry by reason of their sex alone," she said. "Men have the option of becoming priests or remaining laymen. Women have no choice."

NEGOTIATIONS — Six prisoners, acting as spokesmen for some 700 rioting state penitentiary inmates negotiated with prison officials in Salem, Ore., Sunday. The six convinced the prisoners to turn over four hostages in exchange for major concessions on prison policies they had gained from prison officials. The six are, (L-R) Lonnie Hancock; Richard Dornack; Lennie Buttram, chairman; Billy Rae Bowling; Alvin Dow; and Jimmy Ennis. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Aftermath of the Prison Rioting: Cleanup and Rebuilding Begin

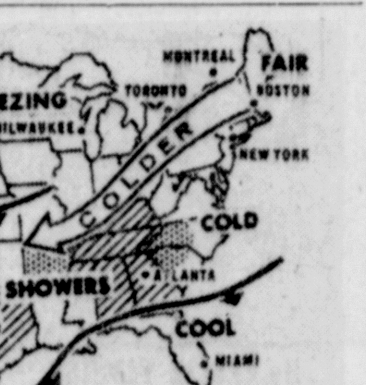

SALEM, Ore. (AP) — A cleanup and rebuilding job is under way at the Oregon State Penitentiary after rioting convicts won a change in the command of the prison by burning most of it down.

The inmates released four guards Sunday after holding them hostage in the prison yard overnight. They had won almost everything they asked, including a promise that they would not be prosecuted for their orgy of fire, window-breaking, and smashing everything in sight.

Prison officials estimated damage at $6 million. George W. Randall, state director of corrections, agreed to the demands, presented by six convicts representing the prison population of 1,156. The demands were presented shortly after midnight Sunday.

Randall walked into the prison yard with several reporters to talk the prisoners into releasing their hostages.

He told the prisoners there would be no reprisals. "I've never lied to a prisoner, and I'm too old to start lying now. We won't harm anyone," he said.

Randall agreed to fire warden C. T. Gladden, 73, who had served 15 years, Gladden, ill for six weeks, was not on duty during the riot.

The riot started, apparently with no advance planning, Saturday afternoon when a small group of convicts seized the control center, the nerve center for all operations inside the walls.

That gave them control of almost all of the prison. Most of the convicts soon joined in the riot.

By their burning, the prisoners destroyed all of the prison's rehabilitation facilities, more than half of the cells, and the means of preparing food and feeding the prisoners. All of the offices of the treatment officials, such as the chaplains, sociologist, and counselors, were destroyed.

The prison hospital was severely damaged. The industrial plants, which provide vocational training, were destroyed.

The damages touched off speculation that a special session of the Oregon legislature would be needed to finance reconstruction.

As soon as the hostages were released, prison guards and state police forced all of the convicts into the recreation yard. They stayed there Sunday night, because making the cells livable will take at least until late today.

One of the guards who was held in the yard said, "It was the longest 17 hours of my life." Someone asked the guard, William Lowery, 27, if he was frightened. "Are you kidding?" he asked.

Lowery said the riots were caused because "everyone was talking about the problems and no one was doing anything about them."
